Hi Gang! Here is some sad, sad news. D. A. and the Edsels can't make it this week. Too bad. Maybe they can make it next week. They are really fine.

All the teens are now speaking a new language. It's called Yogi Yak. Here is a sample, "Whas' wit chou, Boo-Boo". Guess where it came from? Yogi Bear Cartoons and T. V. The Yogi Yak, is surely coutagious, I caught it myself.

Remember, this week we have Canteen at the Moose hall both Friday and Saturday night. Starting this week the price for Saturday night is 25 cents per person.

Talk about a weird disc. "Midnight Stroll" is it. Jerry Wallace and his "Primrose Lane" is this weeks best bet.

Well, see you at Canteen Friday and Saturday night.

P. S. I have "Mr. Blue".
Ho Ho Ho, Yogi ! ! ! !

Council Functioning

The Student council met September 9 to discuss plans and activities for the school year. Students representing each homeroom, a delegate and alternate, attended the meeting in addition to the officers, Frandel McGraw, president; Richard McCurdy, vice-president; Bonnie Friend, secretary; and Sue Friend, treasurer.

Here are brief write-ups of your officers:

Frandel McGraw

"Doc," favorite nickname of McGraw, is a senior and candidate for the academic diploma. He takes algebra, U. S. history, English and Latin. He is 17 and although busy with student council activities still finds time for managing the football team and being active in the Letterman's club. He will play guard on the basketball team when the time comes. He won his letter in both football and basketball last year. When not occupied with school work he is employed as janitor at the Methodist church in Grantsville and participates in the MYF. He is a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Emory A. McGraw.

Richard McCurdy

Richard McCurdy, junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McCury, Grantsville. He plays quarterback on the football team and guard on the basketball team. Athletics seem to be his main interest. He is also Luther League president, and assistant secretary in Sunday school at Christ Lutheran church in Grantsville.

Bonnie Friend

Bonnie Friend, 16-year-old junior, is active in county and high school council work and is assistant superintendent of the Primary church school. She has been active in Intermediate and Senior Christian Endeavor, and has been elected to Eastern United States and Canada. Along with Frandel McGraw and Mrs. Anna Bosley, Rev. Ralph Jacks will attend the state-wide student council convention at Atlantic City. Swimming, boating and roller skating are hobbies of this eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Friend, Friendsville.

Sue Friend

Sue is the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Friend. She was elected treasurer in the spring election. She has taken part in the senior majorette organization, student council, assemblies and intramurals. She is an honor roll student and was elected 8th grade May Day attendant. She received a trophy as a member of the champion junior high basketball team.

Because it "lives" down deep in your well under water, at the end of a single pipe, Sta-Rite Submersible requires no priming and recirculating. All water pumped goes right into tank. Virtually all power is used for pumping. Result: A ½ H.P. Sta-Rite Submersible pumps more water hourly under greater pressure than a ½ H.P. jet or reciprocating pump!

Why we built two cars for 1960 . . . as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance . . . a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long . . . and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength . . . it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's . . . take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

75th ANNIVERSARY

This year marks the seventy-fifth anniversary of the A. D. Naylor and Company in Oakland.

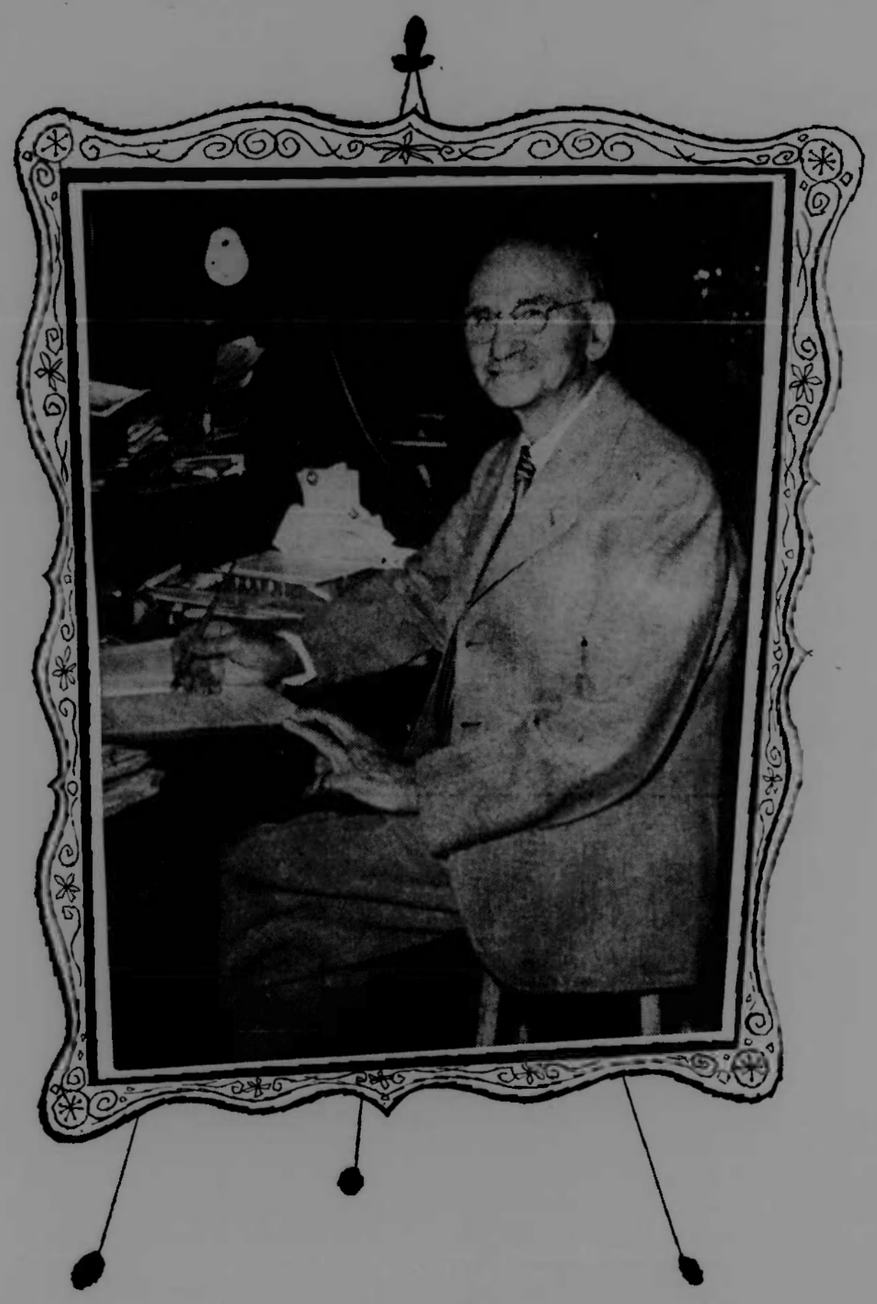
Started in 1884 as a blacksmithing business, it soon added wagons, sleds and farming implements, followed shortly afterward by the addition of a plumbing, heating and electrical business. A full line of hardware expanded the business to its present size.

During these 75 years, A. D. Naylor and Company has grown to be one of the largest businesses in Western Maryland. This growth has been due to the confidence of the people in the Mountain Top area, their patronage and good will.

Standing above all, are the friendships and associations formed during these seventy-five years which the members of the firm consider their greatest assets.

Personal service and friendships will always be our goal.

Presently, four generations of Naylors are participating in the business, eighty years separating the eldest from the youngest. They range in age from 98 to 18.



98th BIRTHDAY

Mr. A. D. Naylor will celebrate his 98th birthday this coming Sunday, September 27. He remains active in the affairs of the A. D. Naylor and Company, and in his community of Oakland. He can be seen winter and summer, walking to and from his store, and will long be remembered for his exemplary life of integrity, thrift and hard work.

Pictures Out Of The Past

This week's old photograph, featuring a general store and post office, has proved a puzzler to several old timers to whom it was shown.

Some even questioned that it was taken in Oakland or a nearby town, and there is no evidence to prove the fact one way or another.

Wilbur Davis, after examining the picture, said he thought it might have been taken at the time when the Oakland office was located near the site of the former Sturgiss Pharmacy, now the quarters of the Maryland State Employment Agency.

Perhaps one of our readers can shed more light.

This is another photograph from the collection of E. W. Adams.

Educators Unveil New School Program

Maryland educators unveiled last week the basic features of a sweeping new program aimed at giving all children equal public education opportunities throughout the State.

One feature would make the state a 50-50 partner, on the average, with local governments in footing all education costs.

It now carries only about 37 percent of the overall load, and the plan envisions a gradual step-up over a five-year period. The State's actual share of the education bill in a particular county, however, would vary under the new program, depending on the county's ability to pay.

If, under a special formula, the county is found capable of paying for example, 40 percent of the bill, the state would pay 60.

In the Garrett county school budget for the current fiscal year the amount from all sources is $1,541,000. Of this amount some $347,614 or 22½ percent comes from the county funds, and 77½ percent from the state, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

The new program was announced at a meeting of the State Board of Education. State Department of Education, parent and teacher representatives. This plan is to be aired at discussion meetings of educators and parents throughout the state and will be introduced to the Maryland legislature possibly at its session next February.

The state's current education appropriation is 75 million dollars plus 14½ million for teacher retirement.

The formula is based on two factors—property assessments and a new item called "pupil cost unit." There was no estimate of how much the proposed program would cost. The plan is designed to minimize the "disparity of the opportunity in the education" of Maryland children because of varying local education programs, it was stated.

She took a little time to CHANGE to an ELECTRIC RANGE

And now she has LOTS MORE TIME to share with her family!
It would be perfectly natural to wonder why a woman would have more time to share with her family and her friends just because she cooked electrically instead of with coal, oil or gas. There are several answers: The automatic time and temperature controls save much time. However, the perfect cleanliness of electric cooking is the great time and labor saver. First of all, cooking utensils stay spotlessly clean; secondly, the kitchen itself, including curtains and walls stay much cleaner with electricity than they do with fossil fuels such as coal, oil or gas.
With an electric range, and the FREE wiring* that goes with it, the housewife makes fuller use of other electric servants, thus making the home more enjoyable for her family—and at a bargain price.

West Virginia Deaf Trims Southern 13-6

West Virginia School for the Deaf launched its 1959 football campaign last Friday afternoon with a 13-6 victory over Southern High school in a Potomac Valley conference game at Romney.

The Deaf school has won eleven games in a row since a scoreless tie with Harper's Ferry late in the 1957 season. Larry Jones scored the Lions' initial touchdown in the opening quarter on a 47-yard run. After a 55-yard touchdown run gave the WVSD eleven a 13-0 lead the Highlanders hit paydirt before the first period ended when Keith Butler drove over from the six three plays after Bolyard intercepted a pass and returned its 42 yards to the 17.

Playing for Southern were Prince, Bergner, Terrank, Stemple, Bolyard, Ron Colaw, Haines, Stuck, Dnling, Terry Colaw and Butler. Substitutes for Southern were Gank, Duvall and Riggs.

Southern will meet Beall school of Frostburg on Friday afternoon on the home field. Beall was defeated by Keyser High school last week-end 38 to 0.

Terra Alta Gridders Score 20-0 Triumph

Terra Alta High's football team swept past Northern High by a 20-0 score last Thursday night in a game played at Kingwood. It was the second win for T. A. over Northern, having won last year 26-6.

Terra Alta held a 14-0 halftime lead on touchdowns by John Hill and Bob Schrock. Larry Bond tallied the last six-pointer in the fourth period. The third quarter was a scoreless affair. Terra Alta gained a net of 272 yards, 117 by rushing and 155 by passing. Northern gained 93 yards on the ground and 75 yards on five pass completions. In first downs the Hilltoppers had the edge with 12-6.

Playing for Northern were Patton, Walker, Hutzel, Yommer, Friend, Raley, Bucker, McCurdy, McKenzie, George and Glotfelty. Substitutes were Brant, Bittinger, Buttner, Sisler and Garlitz.

Citizens Mobilizing For Folk Festival

For the second time citizens of the Springs-Grantsville community are mobilizing to prepare for the Homecoming and Folk Festival to be held Friday and Saturday, October 2 and 3, on the Springs Fellowship Center Grounds.

Highlights of the day will include tours into the country-side, visits to the Springs museum, the Pennsylvania Dutch dinner served by the Festival Foods committee, the displays of unique crafts items in the Penn Alps Crafts store, and demonstrations of pioneer activities such as flax scutching, wool weaving, candle-making, grain flailing, rail splitting, and the hollowing out of sugar troughs.

Featured again will be the fresh apple-butter food stand, the fresh spotza stand, the fresh apple cider stand, along with a new feature, the sausage-burger stand. The Dutch meal will be served all day on both floors of the Fellowship Center.

Last year's effort was considered highly successful with 4,000 visitors on the final day, some from Honolulu, New York, New Jersey and California. More than 100 gallons of apple cider was obtained and over four gallons of apple butter vanished on slices of home-made bread sold on the festival grounds. The Dutch meal was served to more than 1,000 persons.

Dr. Alta Schrock, who heads the Springs Homecoming planners, remarked that "the greatest success of the Folk Festival is not in its number of guests but in the demonstration of community spirit, in the mobilization of creative forces, and in the hard work done by local citizens to insure success of the venture." She said some 300 persons were involved.

Secondary Education Meeting Scheduled

The first annual combined conference of the public high school principals and supervisors of the State of Maryland will be held on October 8,9 at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore. Prior to this year's conference, the principals and the supervisors had held separate meetings. This year, as part of the continuing program to improve local school administrative practice, it was decided to hold a joint meeting of the two professional groups.

The central theme adopted for the conference is "The Pupil—His Abilities, His Needs, and His Program." The conference is to explore this theme with a two-fold approach. The major addresses at the meeting will focus on broad aspects of the theme, while the small group assemblies will utilize teams of supervisors and principals to describe and analyze some of the current promising practices in the State.

At the dinner meeting on Friday evening, Sir Geoffrey Growther will speak on "Contrasts in British and American Education." Sir Geoffrey is one of the world's leading economists, a former editor of The London Economist, and is currently chairman of the Central Advisory Council for Education in England.

Firemen's Group To Map Safety Plan

The Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's association on Sunday named a fire and safety committee which later made plans to meet with commissioners of both counties to map out a program against fires and accidents.

The committee hopes to bring about a program which will prevent tragedies such as the fatal hit-and-run accident at Mt. Lake Park last Thursday. The crash was the primary subject of discussion at the meeting at Grantsville on Sunday.

The committee hopes sites of fatal or serious accidents will be identified with markers. Members of the committee include Glen O'Brien, Deer Park; and John Pritchard, Grantsville. George Comp, Deer Park, also was named on the ways and means committee to raise funds for various projects.

Why Millions Call Him "HOLY FATHER"

Catholic loyalty to the Pope is the cause of never-ending amazement to many non-Catholics.

They wonder how an exclusively spiritual leader can command the devotion of nearly four hundred millions of people. They cannot explain why this vast religious family . . . representing every race, color, language and political belief on the face of the earth . . . lives and grows through the ages, while man-made empires have their day of glory and then disappear.

What is there about this one man that causes people to speak of him in a hundred tongues as "Holy Father"?

We find the answer, of course, not necessarily in the holiness of the man himself, but in his Christ-given office. The answer is found by tracing the history of the Catholic Church . . . the history of 262 successive Popes . . . back through nearly 2,000 years to Jesus Christ Himself.

We know as a matter of historical fact that Christ did establish His Church . . . that He commissioned the Apostle Peter as its first head . . . that He sent His Apostles forth to teach men to observe all things He had commanded.

We know from the New Testament that the Church was actually organized . . . that it was governed by the Apostles under the leadership of Peter . . . that it was teaching Christ's truth far and wide, long before the last book of the New Testament was written and the books of the Bible were collected into one volume.

Christ's purpose in organizing a Church was to make certain that the good news of Redemption would be preached to all men . . . even to the end of the world. To accomplish this with fallible men, required that He establish a Church — divinely protected from error in transmitting His teaching through the centuries.

The Catholic Church traces its unbroken history back to the Apostles — back to Christ. And Catholics today call Pope Pius XII "Holy Father" because he is the lawful and historical successor to Peter, the first Pope. He is in our time . . . as Peter was in the first century . . . the Vicar of Christ on earth.

Would you like to know more about the Pope . . . why the promises made by Christ to Peter and his successors make the Pope the most important man in the world? Then write today for a pamphlet which we shall send you free, in a plain wrapper. And nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-4.

Ex Parte:
In the Matter of the Adoption of John Patrick Wilhelm, an infant

No. 10 Adoptions in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure the passage of a decree for the adoption of John Patrick Wilhelm, infant, by Elbert James Hershman and June Bernetta Hershman, his wife, and to change his name to John Patrick Hershman.

The bill states:

That the petitioners, Elbert James Hershman and June Bernetta Hershman, his wife, live at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland, and are gainfully employed; that the person to be adopted is John Patrick Wilhelm, who was born on May 21, 1944, to Leonard Marvin Wilhelm and Virginia Juanita Wilhelm, his wife, whose last known address was Mountain Lake Park, but whose present address is unknown; that the petitioners have had legal and physical care, custody and control of the said infant since he was one year and eight months of age; that the petitioners are able to properly support, educate and maintain said infant and that under the circumstances it would be for the best interest of all concerned that the adoption be granted; that the whereabouts of the natural parents has been unknown for over six years.

The petition then prays for a decree declaring John Patrick Wilhelm to be the legally adopted child of Elbert James Hershman and June Bernetta Hershman, his wife, and to change the name of the infant to John Patrick Hershman.

SHOW CAUSE ORDER

A petition for the adoption of John Patrick Wilhelm, an infant, has been filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, the said petition being titled as Number 10 Adoptions in the said Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

Upon the said petition and affidavit attached thereto, it is thereupon this 16th day of September, 1959, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that a copy of this show cause order be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 26th day of October, 1959, giving notice to Leonard Marvin Wilhelm and Virginia Juanita Wilhelm, his wife, warning them to be and appear in this Court to show cause to the contrary, if any they have, on or before the 11th day of November, 1959, why the adoption of the said John Patrick Wilhelm, infant, should not be granted as prayed in said petition.

VOLUME 83 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., OCTOBER 1, 1959 — PER COPY, 8c — NUMBER 31.

Shoddy Performance ---

The performance staged by members of the Legislative Council last Friday is one for the books. If their actions is a sample of the quality of our "statesmen" we can only hope for enlightenment of the state's citizens in two more years to clear out the entire works. As a teacher of civics remarked: "I would have loved to have had my high school civics class view these proceedings, a perfect example in reverse."

For a time things were almost normal. Senators and delegates just had to be heard and used the method of seconding a proposal sometimes as many as four or five times in order to get this accomplished. But then came the subject of liquor, presented by Dr. Baumgartner, who termed our present situation as "ridiculous." That started a round of remarks, in the midst of which one council member presented a plan. "Our local legislators should put in an emergency measure in the general assembly, setting up legalized liquor, and pass it before the people of the county get wind of what they are doing," he suggested.

It took a minute or two for the impact of that statement to sink in. But ladies and gentlemen, there it is. Recommending a form of subterfuge to get a measure through the legislature, is hardly the type of action one would expect from a person who was elected by the voters to represent them with honesty and integrity.

Another person offered to spend much time in visiting the voters and "educating" them to the amount of taxes they

71 Percent of 1959 Taxes Are Collected

Some 71 percent of the 1959 taxes have been collected, it was announced yesterday morning by Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer. The amount was $510,661.53. The total tax for 1959 was $709,446.

Breaking down the figures Mr. Welch said his office had collected 79 percent of real estate taxes, 67 percent of personal property taxes, 69 percent of ordinary business taxes, 66 percent of financial corporation taxes and 55 percent of public utilities taxes.

Welch said he had completed collection of all taxes for prior years, including 1958, except for a few properties tied up in litigation. The final sale of personal property through tax sales was completed last Friday. He said there were 12 or 14 accounts on persoual property taxes for prior years but that he was instituting proceeding to force their collection within a few days.

Seek 150 Pints Blood Next Visit

The American Red Cross will seek 150 pints of blood during the regular visit of the Johnstown bloodmobile unit to Oakland next Wednesday afternoon, October 7.

The unit will be at the Oakland fire hall from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m. The quota actually is 125 pints but Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman, said the county has not been filling its requirements and that the outgo is greater than the intake.

Mrs. Stemple revealed that during the last visit of the bloodmobile to Oakland in June the Red Cross had received 105 pints. But she also pointed out that since June the local hospital had used 148 pints.

She said that last year the Red Cross throughout the nation had received 2,349,000 pints of blood which represented 40 percent of all the blood collected throughout the United States. This was equivalent to 268 pints of blood per hour or four and one-half per minute.

The usual persons will be in charge of the various activities at the blood donor center. Mrs. Cecil Smith is in charge of the canteen, Mrs. O. T. Graser in charge of registration. Dr. Arthur Jones, in charge of physicians, and Mrs. E. I. Raumgartner, in charge of nurses.

Mr. McDaniel said that parents of the boys should also arrange to be present at this first meeting which is the date for the reorganization of the pack for the ensuing year's work. He said that there is a need for additional den mothers.

The Garrett County delegation plans to leave early Thursday morning and return on Saturday football game.

Citizens Urge Rt. 40 Improvement

Other Questions Including Legal Sale Of Liquor Brought Up

The improvement of U. S. route 40, from Hancock west to Maryland line, the question of legalized sale of liquor, improvement of the park area around the historic Casselman river bridge east of Grantsville, regulations to assure a safer Deep Creek Lake, and the possibility of a fund to aid families of children hospitalized by the recent school bus accident, were among the items presented to the Maryland Legislative council at an open meeting last Friday evening at Point View Inn. Some 25 persons from the county attended the session.

Causing the most discussion were the two concerned with improvement of U. S. route 40, and the legal sale of liquor.

After Helmuth Heise, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion council, spoke on the importance of the road improvement to make the county more readily accessible, Delegate Jerome Robinson, of Baltimore, made the motion that the Maryland State Roads commission be asked to explain in detail why the improvement work on the particular section of route 40 had not been done. Although the improvement work is part of the SRC 12-year program, Robinson said it apparently would be 18 or 19 years before the work is completed—if it is completed then.

By unanimous vote the members of the council passed a resolution that the SRC appear before it and explain why the improvement work had not been accelerated. There were several seconds to the motion.

Dr. E. I. Barmgartner, Oakland physician, brought up the subject of the liquor law and termed the existing ban in Garrett county as "ridiculous." He said if liquor was available legally vacationers in the county would not have to travel to nearby counties to "get what they want."

A bill advocating a dispensary system for the legal sale of liquor in Garrett county came before the people in the 1956 general election and was defeated by a majority of almost two to one, 2,533 to 4,281.

Some of the legislators remarked how much various counties had realized in taxes from the legalized sale. One legislator suggested a plan of action for the Garrett county delegation. He advocated that an emergency bill be placed

Pedestrian Killed When Hit By Auto

Charles Andrew Friend, 39, Dies Of Fractured Neck

Charles Andrew Friend, aged 39, who resides on U. S. route 219, north of Oakland, was killed instantly when he was struck by an automobile operated by William Ernest Shirer, 79 Third street, Oakland, Saturday night.

The accident occurred on the new Mt. Lake Park highway, about a mile east of Oakland.

Friend was walking along State route 135 near the Park when he stepped in front of Sarrer's car, according to State Trooper Robert D. Henline. The man suffered a fractured neck and was dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital.

Shirer was not held by police after the mishap. Apparently the man stumbled over a stone which threw him into the roadway just as Mr. Shirer reached him. It was the 17th fatal highway accident in the Cumberland area within two weeks.

Friend was a son of the late Edmond and Tillie Knox Friend. He is survived by two brothers Ivan, address unknown; and James, of Mt. Lake Park, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Knox, Swallow Falls; Mrs. Edna Bittinger, of Meadow Mountain.

Deceased was a member of the Glendale Pentecostal church. The body was taken to the Minnich Funeral home in Oakland. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Glendale Pentecostal church by Rev. J. C. Skipper. Burial was in Glendale cemetery.

Six-Year Old Child Has Case of Polio

The illness of Edith Dignan, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dignan, of Gorman, has been diagnosed as paralytic polio, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer.

The child became ill on September 13, and definite diagnosis was returned on the 24th. The child who has been at her home since she became ill, will be moved today to the Children's hospital school in Baltimore. Dr. Jones said the acute phase of the disease had passed before the definite diagnosis was received and that the case was now considered non infectious. He said she was showing some improvement. All of her limbs were affected, with paralysis of the right shoulder and arm.

The child started to school this year at Red House but was transferred to the Loch Lynn school.

Dr. Jones said there still had been no definite report on the illness of Donald Harvey, 11, of Kitzmiller, a son of Charles Harvey. He was admitted to Memorial hospital, Cumberland after polio was suspected.

The local health department is now advising that all individuals who have received their original three shots for prevention of polio should get their fourth booster shot. Free immunization and boosters are being offered by the health department for all those who have medical care cards and those who are referred by a physician, Dr. Jones said.

He advised any who had received no immunizations, particularly those in the age group up to 20 years should start immediately since October is considered the most dangerous of all months for polio.

He revealed that the Dignan child had had no immunizations and that the Harvey child had only one.

Four Sentences Meted Out Today

Sentences of four traversers found guilty in the Circuit Court earlier this week were pronounced this morning by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley at the opening of today's court session.

Sentences were given for Raymond E. Steyer, assault; Clarence Willard Stemple, larceny and receiving stolen goods; William Niner, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and Solomon Tasker, assault with intent to kill.

Steyer received a suspended sentence of two years in the House of Correction. Judge Fraley remarked it was not a "pretty picture for two brothers, grown men, appearing in criminal court." He said the verdict of the jury was exactly right. He was placed on probation for three years, providing he remained of good behavior and refrained from causing trouble in his family.

In the case of Stemple, Judge Fraley said he was inclined to give consideration to first offenders and would have done so had he been inclined to tell the truth. But he said the officers received no cooperation. He was sentenced to serve two years in the House of Correction.

William Niner was sentenced to the Reformatory for Males for a period not to exceed two years. It was noted Niner had been on probation for three years and that this time had expired early this year.

In the case of Tasker he was given a suspended sentence of three years in the House of Correction. It was suspended upon condition that he refrain from the use of intoxicating liquor and that he comply with regulations of the probation officer. It was brought out that the man had used a portion of a welfare check to purchase whiskey and Judge Fraley reminded the man that he certainly had no business spending welfare money for whiskey.

Harley Stemple Pleads Guilty To Burglar Counts

Given Three Year Sentence —His Brother Pleads Guilty To Larceny

Harley Webster Stemple, 25, of Fingerboard road, west of Oakland, entered pleas of guilty to three charges of breaking and entering in the Circuit court here this week and was sentenced to three years in the House of Correction on two charges, and one year in the House on the third. The sentences were to run concurrently.

At the same time his brother, Clarence W. Stemple, 20, also entered a plea of guilty to the first count of an indictment on larceny and receiving stolen goods. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley deferred sentencing pending completion of a study of the case.

A number of other cases were brought before the court this week and several cases remain to be tried.

Harley Stemple had been charged with breaking and entering two stores in the Bittinger area and a concession stand at Herrington Manor.

He was observed in the latter action by a forest guard who later discovered the stolen goods cached under some brush across the lake from the stand.

Clarence Stemple's plea concerned a robbery of a garage in the Red House area.

Both of the men had been apprehended previously in connection with the robbery of a business place in Tunnelton, W. Va., but the West Virginia authorities decided not to apply for extradition papers.

In other cases tried this week there was one hung jury trial in connection with Jack Hardesty, who had appealed an assault and battery conviction in the office of the trial magistrate. He was charged with assaulting Harold G. Friend. Hardesty pleaded not guilty.

After the jury reported it was unable to reach a verdict he was released on bond for his appearance at the March term.

Playford Freeman Eckenrode pleaded guilty to a charge of bas-

Businessmen Pleased With Vacation Trade

A week-end at Deep Creek Lake by members of the Maryland Legislative council found marked enthusiasm all along the way. All marked enthusiasm has marked most of the reactions of business men in the area this year.

The weather has been considered ideal for vacationists and the season has been considered one of the best in years, financially and number wise.

There have been a few squawkers, but those who have made their places presentable found no cause for discontent.

Oakland merchants and business men also have voiced their opinions that the summer season was one of the best on record. Banks particularly reported more than the usual activity in currency exchange.

It seemed to be the opinion of many that the successful summer depends largely upon weather conditions, rather than the presence or lack of any particular commodity. Many place on the lake had as much as they could handle.

At least one additional month was added to the summer season this year because of the favorable weather and there were prospects for fairly good business for the balance of the fall months.

Hurricane Remnants End Drought Season

The remnants of hurricane Gracie brought an end to the prolonged drought in the area, but the predicted drenching did not come to pass.

There were announcements yesterday for Western Maryland to be on the lookout for eight to ten inches of rainfall but "Gracie" became erratic and changed course and the mountains ended up with a rainfall of 1.58 inches during the two day spell.

Preparations against a possible flood were made by some of the stores in the business area of Oakland. At the F. A. Smouse grocery some of the heavy produce was placed above the flood water mark, while at the H-P Store all of the merchandise was piled on tables. At one time last evening there was a feeling of concern as the creek began to rise, but the downpour lasted only minutes. This morning the creek was just a little more than the way it had been for the past month or more.

Ralph Weber, veteran weather man for the government, just south of town, said the barometer was rising and that the rain probably would cease sometime today.

Days of the week until Tuesday had been clear and hot. Tuesday became cloudy and some rain fell Tuesday night. More rain fell Wednesday and continued throughout most of the night but it was done most gently.

Nineteen hundred U. S. Missiles have been fired without a fatal accident.

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY Monthly News

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Oct. 4th to 10th is National Pharmacy Week. It is our yearly reminder that the practice of pharmacy is important to the health of the public. Each year during National Pharmacy Week, we rededicate ourselves once again to the Code of Ethics of Pharmacy, which directs us to remember that, "The Pharmacist Holds The Health And Safety Of His Patrons To Be Of First Consideration."

Every Pharmacy Is A Health Station. In our prescription department are thousands of different medicines. Each one is classified so that it can be located in seconds. All of them are properly stored and dated so that we can be certain they are potent when dispensed.

When Sickness Threatens, Pharmacists Help. Unlike the ancient days when the physician had to choose a medicine from the few he carried in his bag or office, modern doctors now can write for the one specific medicine they believe will help their patients most.

Please Inspect Our Prescription Department. During National Pharmacy Week we would be delighted to have you visit it and see how many different medicines we carry. You can observe how prescriptions are compounded, checked for accuracy and permanently filed for future reference.

Citizens Urge

in the general assembly and passed before the people of the county knew what was being done. "Once it's on the books they will like it," he remarked. (see editorial comment.)

Former Delegate Harry C. Edwards, Grantsville, urged a continuing interest in the State Park located at the historic Casselman river bridge, erected in 1813. Legislation was passed a few years ago allotting $5,000 for restoration of the bridge and beautification of the park area. It was suggested the county legislators work through the State Department of Forests and Parks.

In other matters discussed the council voted to ask the Board of Public Works to investigate circumstances of families of children who were hospitalized in the tragic school bus-train accident September 10 at Mt. Lake Park crossing when seven youngsters were killed.

The council wanted the board to determine if families have sufficient money to carry on. If they haven't sufficient money, an appropriation would be requested.

R. R. Keener, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners association, asked consideration of legislation that would regulate safety on the lake in regard to motor boats. Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner asked continuing interest in mental health hospitals.

Senator Bernard I. Gonder, host to the meeting, thanked the state for its $15,000 share in the Kitzmiller flood control project.

Members of the legislative council spent Saturday at the various state parks and recreational areas and returned to their homes Saturday evening.

Joan Perando, William Hawk Wed

Miss Joan Louise Perando, daughter of Mrs. Harold Stark, Mt. Lake Park, became the bride of William Edwin Hawk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hawk, Maysville, W. Va., Saturday September 5th. The double ring ceremony was performed at the Bethel Methodist Church, Mt. Lake Park, with the Rev. Randall D. Prince officiating.

The church was decorated with white lilies, mums, pine and lanrel. Mrs. Gilbert Filsinger played the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Harold Stark, the bride wore a floor length scalloped gown of white chantilly lace, fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a scalloped neckline, accented with small clusters of seed pearls and sequins. With basque bodice the gown was completed with a full front and the back of the skirt with scalloped lace and tulle ruffles. Her finger tip veil of bridal illusion fell from a crown of white seed pearls. Her only pewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade of Stephanotis sprays and pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Lee Anna Melonie, matron of honor, wore a sea blue silk organza dress with matching crown and veil and carried a nosegay of sea blue feathered carnations with white net and streamers.

Mrs. Jan Miller, Miss Betty McRobie, and Miss Nancy Barrick, bridesmaids, all wore identical silk organza dresses of lavender, pink, and green with matching crowns and veils. All three carried matching identical nosegays of feathered carnations and ribbons.

Miss Eva Mae Perando, sister of the bride was flower girl. She wore a floor length white organdy dress with bordered eyelet embroidery overskirt and a yellow rose head band and yellow ribbon sash. her basket was yellow all net with red petals.

Allen Hawk, brother of the groom served as best man. Ronald and Wendel Hawk, brothers of the groom and Jim Parrish, were ushers.

Andy Damon was ring bearer.

The groom's mother wore a medium blue Chantilly lace dress with black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. The table was centered with a five tiered cake and topped with a miniature bridal couple figurine Candles and bouquets of white roses also decorated the table, two wedding bell cakes at each side. All were baked and served by Mrs. Evelyn Pernado, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Helena Thrasher, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. A buffet luncheon was served with Mrs. Betty Burnsworth, aunt of the bride, and Miss Carolyn Hawk, sister of the groom, presiding at the punch bowls.

Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip through Virginia and the Carolinas, Georgia and visited several points in Florida. For travel the bride chose a sea blue sheath dress with matching accesories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The bride is a graduate of Elk Garden High School class of 1957. She has been employed as circulation supervisor for the American Auction publications, Washington, D. C., until a week prior to her marriage.

The groom is a graduate of Petersburg High School class of 1951. He is a veteran of 4 years in the Navy and is now employed at the Agriculture experimental center at Beltsville.

Nearly 100 relatives and friends attended the ceremony and reception.

They are now residing at Hyattsville.

Named To Board

A former Methodist minister, Shaw now operates a dairy farm.

Shoddy Performance . . .

would receive if there was legalized sale of liquor. Their entire thought was on revenue—that golden calf. There was no thought of ultimate results increasing costs in welfare, increased drunken driving, increased crime of many kinds, no thought of any moral responsibility. If these things made any difference to these legislators, they did not admit it.

What a revealing performance! If we were charitable we might believe that all this was in a spirit of entire abandonment of principle just because they were on a junket—a vacation trip—at state expense, you can be sure—and that once they got down to business in the legislature they would become high principled again. But how can we be sure?

To the credit of Senator Gonder, he remarked this week that he was embarrassed by the actions displayed and declared he had no intimation that such a question would be brought up. After all the people of the county rejected legal liquor by an almost two to one vote just two years ago.

Since last Friday, however, we have heard it said that just such action had already been contemplated by other members of the legislature. They have the power to do just that, if they have no scruples, and no feeling of responsibility to the people who elected them. If they have such thoughts they ought to be removed before the legislature goes into session early next year.

All in all the exhibit last Friday evening was a shoddy performance, and unworthy of our elected representatives.

Dry Woodland Poses Forest Fire Threat

The prolonged drought in Western Maryland has left forests in a "very dry" condition, and forestry personnel have had their fingers crossed, hoping for much needed rain to alleviate the fire danger. This was realized to some extent Tuesday night and Wednesday, but woodlands are still very dry.

About two acres of woodland were burned last Saturday near Steyer. Personnel from the forestry department were called Saturday evening also when a barn on the farm of Nelson Alexander, in the Accident-McHenry area was destroyed. They kept the fire from spreading into the woods.

Volunteer firemen from Accident fought the blaze. Mr. Alexander and his wife were in Oakland at the time which was reported about 6 p. m., by a neighbor.

Firemen said the barn owner surmised someone may have set the small barn afire as there is no electricity in the building and there was no storm in the area.

In the fire near Steyer forestry personnel used a crawler tractor equipped with a special plow to trench the blaze.

The last real rainfall prior to Tuesday and Wednesday was during the latter part of August when .78 of an inch fell. During September there was a total of .23 inches which fell on three separate occasions.

Administration asked all government agencies to reduce their civilian payrolls 2 percent below authorized levels.

Uninsured Maryland drivers will have to pay $8 extra next year again for their license plates.

Church Plans Visitation

The Lutheran church at Red House is making plans for the annual every member visitation. About 200 members will be visited during a two week period, October 18 throught October 30.

Visiting teams will be commissioned during the regular morning service Sunday, October 18 Following the service a covered dish dinner is planned for the congregation in the church social room. Visiting teams will then be instructed before proceeding on their mission.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams, of Third street, Oakland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dortha, to John Haines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Haines, Deer Park.

Miss Williams was graduated from Southern High school and attended Morgantown Business college. She is now employed as senior stenographer for the State garage in Oakland. Mr. Haines was graduated from Southern High and is now employed by Aec Radio and Electric service in Oakland.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Reminds Lake Property Owners To Mark Articles

Property owners at Deep Creek Lake are reminded to mark articles left in their summer cottages, in an attempt to identify them should they be stolen during the time the property is vacant during the fall and winter months.

The Property Owners association of the lake has been trying to alert cottage owners to the importance of marking all their belongings. Members have "reward" cards also to display which have a place for the owner's name, address and telephone number on it, to discourage would-be thieves. The association has offered a reward of $50 for information leading to arrest and conviction of persons responsible for breaking and entering property of members.

Last winter owners reported the loss of radio and television sets, clocks and other items. Some signs also were destroyed.

"PLEASE, OPERATOR, WHAT TIME IS IT?"

Every five minutes the little boy would call and ask the same question . . . "Please, Operator, what time is it?"

But something about the little boy's voice told Operator Lola Caldwell that this was no childish prank. Finally, she asked him to call his mother to the phone.

"She can't come to the telephone," he said. "My little sister swallowed a button this morning, and my mother had to take her to the hospital. And she told me not to dare leave the house till twenty after eight. I looked and looked, and honest, Operator, I don't see any twenty on that clock. And I'm afraid I'll miss my school bus."

"Don't worry, young man," said Mrs. Caldwell. "I'll call you when it's time to leave." At 8:20 she rang and sent the little boy off to meet his bus.

To Lola Caldwell, this was all part of a day's work. Another example of the personal interest telephone people take in their customers. This instinctive desire to help is one of the things that make your telephone service so valuable.

MUSCLE MEN
● Fungus Infection
● Goiter

Q. How is it possible for professional weight-lifters to raise tremendous loads without injuring the back?

A. General muscular development and "know-how" are obviously needed to lift heavy weights. English doctors made a study of weight-lifting and determined that the theoretical maximum lift is something like 500 pounds. This is, in practice, about tops for professionals. Much of the lifted weight is suspended by the spinal column. The rubbery pads (intervertebral discs) which fit between each bone of the spine withstand pressures up to 1000 pounds. So the professional weight-lifter comes nowhere near lifting enough to crush the spine.

Q. I have been told that I have an incurable fungus infection of the fingernails. Isn't there a cure?

A. Infections of this sort are very difficult to clear up because the infecting organism works its way into the hard-to-reach layers of the skin. Medicines applied to the skin often fail to penetrate deep enough to kill the fungus. This situation may change very soon. A new anti-fungal antibiotic has been developed that can be taken by mouth. Excellent results have been obtained in a limited number of patients with skin and nail infections. This will be encouraging news to many people.

Q. Is there a way to prevent goiter?

A. If you mean so-called diffuse nontoxic goiter that occurs in certain geographical areas, the answer is: yes, by providing the body with the correct amount of iodine. Prevention of goiter was put on a sound basis with the introduction of iodized salt. Almost a half-century ago, the doctors who originated the idea of using iodized salt said, "Simple goiter is the easiest of all known diseases to prevent. It may be excluded from the list of human diseases as soon as society determines to make the effort."

Pictures Out Of The Past

Post Office Picture Not Yet Identified

The old photograph last week, showing an unidentified post office, has still not been definitely identified.

However, Mrs. Thekla Fundenberg Weeks, a former resident now living in Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am interested in the photograph of the post office. As I recall, the post office was in the (First National) bank building and Mrs. George Miller was a clerk there. She had an apartment upstairs. Mrs. Miller was a sister-in-law of Mr. (Frederick) Thayer.

"Is there a record of postmasters in Oakland? That is something for the Historical society to work on."

Mrs. Weeks is author of the book, "The Centennial History of Oakland," published by The Republican in 1949.

The post office, prior to and after 1900, was located on Alder street in at least two locations, one of them the First National Bank, and another on Second street, also in the bank building.

However, Bernard Nally, who also has a copy of the orginal photograph, said his information indicates the post office was located in Terra Alta. He estimated the date as late in the 1800's or early in this century.

No one has attempted to identify any of the individuals in last week's picture.

The Picture Today

This week's photograph, from the files of The Republican, shows what is apparently the completion of a building familiar to many readers, especially those in the northern end of the county.

While no date or identification is given, the photo has been tentatively identified as that of the First National Bank of Friendsville.

Judging from the amount of building material and lumber lying around, construction had just ended. Perhaps this was the occasion of the formal dedication.

Hike In Gas Tax Effective Thursday

The increase in federal tax from three cents to four cents a gallon on gasoline, diesel fuel and special motor fuels becomes effective today, October 1.

The new rate is scheduled to be in effect until July 1, 1961, and the increased revenue will be used for supplemental financing of the federal highway program.

The increase of one cent a gallon also applies to gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes. However, a farmer may continue to claim a refund of the full amount of federal tax paid on any gasoline purchased and used on a farm for farming purposes by filing on Form 2210.

Dealers and users of diesel fuel and special motor fuels (benzol, benzene, naphtha and liquefied petroleum gas) will incur liability at the rate of four cents a gallon on the sale or use of these fuels after October 1.

With respect to diesel fuel, the one-cent increase in tax will apply when the fuel is sold for use as a fuel in a diesel-powered highway vehicle which is registered or required to be registered for highway use.

On special motor fuels, the one-cent increase will apply on such fuels sold for use or used for the propulsion of a highway vehicle which is registered or required to be registered for highway use.

Outdoor Activities Are Held By Girl Scouts

Two outdoor activities were held recently by members of Girl Scout troop No. 3, an outdoor treasure hunt on September 12, and a cook-out on September 26. Divided into two teams the first team laid a trail using compass degree readings. Cities for the second team to follow were hidden along the way. The destination, unknown to the girls, was the home of their leader, Mrs. Robert B. Wooters, in Mt. Lake Park. "Bags of Gold" found on the property proved to be bags of popcorn which the girls popped over an open fire after lunch. There were games, songs and the making of leaf prints.

The cook-out was held at Swallow Falls. Firebuilders were Sharon Flinn and Sandy Whitacre. Main dish a one-pot meal called Pocket Stew. Each girl brought a potato and carrot and after peeling and dicing were added to the pot containing other ingredients. While the food cooked troop member made "dunkin' bags" that were used by each girl to sterilize her own eating utensils.

The clean-up session was followed by a period of instruction in uses of a triangular bandage for scouts working on second class rank. Girls working on first class discussed use and care of a pickknife and decided to make letter openers. Patty Sacher and Carol Wooters, senior scouts, served a program aide. Adults assisting were Mrs. Richard Travis, Mrs. R. B. Sacher, Mrs. Jerry Walsh, Mrs. John Furman and Robert B. Wooters.

Officers elected included Donna Crone, Elaine Laskey, Joy Glotfelty and Cora Unger, patrol leaders; Carol Unger, Barbara Furman, Linda Pike and Shelby Ashby, assistants; Carol Lawton, treasurer, Wendy Wooters, scribe.

The troop is sponsored by the Junior Woman's Civic club. Leaders are Mrs. Robert Wooters, Mrs. Benson W. Unger, Mrs. William R. Glotfelty and Mrs. Kenneth H. Martin. Serving on the troop committee are Mrs. Joseph Ashby, Mrs. Harland Beckman, Mrs. Theodore Laskey, Mrs. Richard Travis, Mrs. Earl Zepp, Miss Betty Kidow, sponsoring organization, the latter contact chairman with coming event. Visitors are welcome.

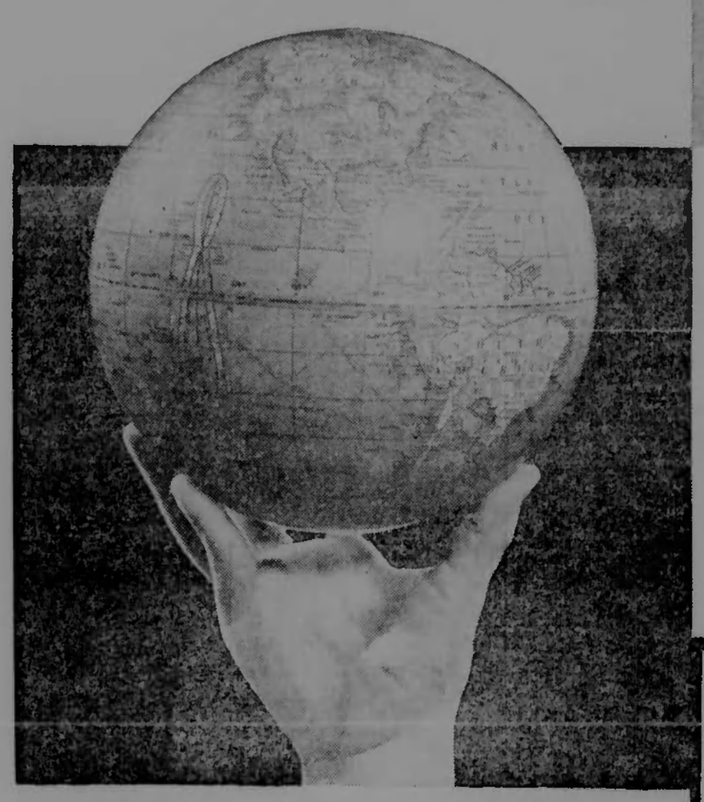
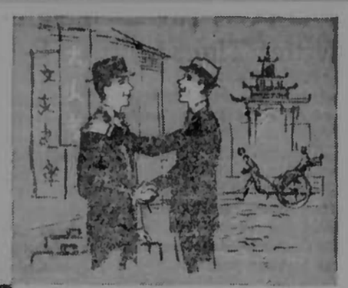
IT'S A SMALL WORLD





Ever run into a friend in Tokyo, or meet one of your neighbors in Amsterdam? Maybe not—but such things are happening every day!

It makes you stop and think—the way this world is shrinking. It makes you wish that the men and women who live on opposite sides of the globe had more things in common.

There can be no more unifying force in the world than a common belief in God. And toward that ideal we are rapidly progressing. Christians the world over are feeling and expressing their unity of faith and purpose.

Sunday is World-Wide Communion Sunday. On that day, within the space of a few short hours, Christians in every land will reverently participate in the Lord's Supper which has been a mark of Christian faith for almost two thousand years.

Worship with the World in the Church of your choice!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Testimony

Lesson for October 4, 1959

FOR SIX MONTHS now the Bible study shared by the more than 80 Christian Churches that use the "Uniform Bible Lessons" is going to be the book of Acts, in the New Testament. It is one of the easiest books in entire Bible to read; it is interesting enough to read clear through in one evening, important enough to re-read many times. It is the story—the only connected story—of how the Christian Church got started and how it spread. The reader should see the book of Acts in a modern English translation, in order to understand more quickly. All that can be done in this column week by week will be to point up some particular truth or truths of practical importance for life today.

Dr. Foreman

"My Witnesses"

The story of the Christian Church begins with Jesus. He gave the marching orders. The church is a true church when it carries out his directives. It fades away into a no-church when it forgets the Master. Now the question Americans always ask about anything—a club, a gadget, a machine, even a hole in the ground—is: What is it for? What's it supposed to do, and will it work?

What is the Church supposed to do? What is it for? That is a fair question. The New Testament presents the Church under various names, and gives various (though not contradictory) answers to that first question. One of the plainest of these answers is in the words of Jesus which shine like a beacon-light in the very first lines of this book of Acts—a light which gives direction and meaning to the whole story, and indeed gives direction and meaning for the Church of today.

YOU SHALL BE MY WITNESSES, Jesus said to his friends and followers. The first and main business of Christians is not argument, it is testimony. It is not conveying ideas, it is telling a story. It is not hearsay stories, it is personal experience. The business of a witness in court or anywhere else is to state the facts as he sees them. The Church has many tasks and responsibilities; but if we forget this central responsibility we are not much good otherwise.

Testimony for Christ—witnessing on his side—is more than talk. When you order seeds or seedlings in the spring, you can read what the catalogue says and get quite excited over the prospect. Every advertisement in the seed catalogue, every picture in it, is testimony—in talk. A much more convincing testimony is what you or your neighbor actually raised. You are not going to believe in tomatoes any better than the real tomatoes you have seen and eaten, no matter what the catalogue says. But if you have admired the tomatoes from a certain kind of seed, you can let the catalogue go.

The Bible has a great deal to say about Christ, and so does the Church. But it's with the Church as with the seed catalogue—what really convinces people is some actual samples. The best witness to Christ that can possibly be, is a good Christian.

Into All the World

The tragedy of the church is something that would be very funny if it were not so tragically wrong. Every Sunday morning in almost any church, there will be people who are making two mistakes at once. One is about what "witnessing" means. They think it means words, or words-and-music. They take part in the service, they sing with loud voices, they say the nicest things about Jesus or shout "Amen!" when the preacher says them . . . and they call that "witnessing for Jesus." True testimony is not just sweet-talk set to music; it is, as St. John put it, walking as He walked, living as He lived. Furthermore, an exclusively stay-at-home witness is not what Jesus intended. He distinctly said, "to the end of the earth." How far away, in how many lands and languages, with how many missionaries, is your church testifying for Jesus? A church talking only to itself about Christ has forgotten the Directive.

Letter to the Editor

It seems the controversy between the Mayor and Town Council of Mt Lake Park still doesn't end and in the Public Forum last week one of the Mayor's aids stated their case. The Republican feels they should take a new look at the over all picture before we make a decision next week's Republican

At the council meeting last Tuesday night the citizens voted their confidence in the Mayor and Council that have confidence between the two offices. The Council will send the town Clerk to Towson to get the exact figures and to study the Mayor's certain point

Most everyone has now received his or her Town Tax bill and with this bill was included a financial statement for the year ending June 30th 1959 This statement shows bills owed as follows Vetter [illegible] $834.29 County Commissioners $2,021.85 Miscellaneous $809.04. These bills totaled $6375.67 which is a debt owed by the Town The new Council did not officially take office until July 16th, at which time they found the debt has increased to Vetters $3,363.95, County Commissioners $5,627.96 which means a final total of $7,061.91 that the Town was actually in debt when the present council took over Everyone knows old bills have to be paid and the aim of the new council was to keep expenditures to a minimum for the next year at least until some of this old debt had been cancelled Mr Mason stated he was in favor of paying any bills this present council would make and letting the old debt ride till we can get to it

At a regular meeting Mr Mason was authorized to level off the Garbage Dump road, level dirt on "X" St finish opening Allegheny Drive Crystal Spring road and the approach on Pittsburgh Ave [illegible] but nothing more. He then took it upon himself to work on other streets This [illegible] resulted in dust several inches deep at places and very disagreeable for those who live nearby The [illegible] amounted to $65.86 for the month of August The council did not question the actual charges per hour for dozer work but they did question the amount of money being spent at just one point when the town had [illegible] other dollar jobs to do over there this extra cost the Mayor authorized the dozer to do could have been ordered another time until some of the old debt [illegible] can be [illegible] the [illegible] do [illegible] debt already had

Egg Producers Seek To Increase Demand

Egg producers across the nation are launching a full-scale, month-long October publicity and merchandising drive in October to step up consumer demand for eggs when high quality eggs, especially the smaller sized eggs are in abundant supply, according to William G. Lamaston, Agricultural Economist of the University of Maryland.

The Maryland egg industry and the Maryland Poultry Council will cooperate with the Poultry and Egg National Board consumer education and information agency for the entire egg industry in publicizing the health values of eggs throughout October.

"In addition to containing vitamins and minerals essential to health, eggs are one of the most versatile and complete foods known," Lamaston declared.

By means of the printed and spoken word, and through retail cooperation the egg industry will strive to influence America's more than 50 million homemakers to step up the use of eggs in the home for breakfast, luncheon, dinner, and in-between snacks.

He added that restaurant and hotels of this area have been contacted to assist in the EGGtober promotion by featuring eggs on their menus in October.

He urged the cooperation of retail stores in calling consumers' attention to the abundance of high quality eggs, especially the smaller sized eggs, that are available.

Lamston added that Maryland's 24 million layers returned some $14 million to producers of the State. Maryland will continue to produce an abundance of high quality, local eggs for our growing population.

There's nothing like a new car—and no compact car like this de luxe Corvair 700.

Here's the car created to conquer a new field—Chevrolet's low-priced compact Corvair.

The product of nine years of research and development, it's America's first truly compact car that retains the ride and 6-passenger comfort you're used to in a big one.

The key to this small miracle: America's only rear-mounted aluminum engine—a lightweight 6 that's so revolutionary it can be packaged with the transmission and drive gears as one compact unit.

With the engine in the rear, the Corvair's floor is virtually flat, front and rear, so there's plenty of foot room for everybody. Combined with Corvair's unique body-frame construction by Fisher, this provides interior spaciousness comparable to many postwar conventional-sized cars.

Shifting engine weight to the rear also makes for easier compact car handling and gives glued-to-the-road traction on ice, mud or snow. And with independent suspension at all 4 wheels—an advance comparable to the independent suspension of front wheels years ago—you get a poised, unruffled ride that rivals even the costliest cars.

These are all things no front-engine compact car can give you. And with them you get outstanding economy and practicality that would never have been possible if Chevrolet engineers had been content to make the Corvair merely a sawed-off version of a big car. Corvair's size—some 5 inches lower, 2½ feet shorter and 1,300 pounds lighter than conventional sedans—makes it a joy to jockey through busy streets, a pleasure to park (no need for power assists). Its revolutionary Turbo-Air 6 gets up to 30% more miles on a gallon of regular. And, because the engine's air cooled, you never have to fuss with antifreeze, you get quicker warmup (even heat for passengers comes—almost instantly—from an airplane-type heater*). Wonderfully practical, yes. But you'll find the most practical thing of all about Corvair is its remarkably low price. Your dealer's the man to see for all the short, sweet details.

America's only car with independent suspension at all 4 wheels!
America's only car with an air-cooled aluminum engine!

The engine's in the rear where it belongs in a compact car!

1 REVOLUTIONARY TURBO-AIR 6
Gets up to 30% more miles on a gallon, needs no antifreeze, provides quicker warmup with less wear on parts. It's the world's first production 6 with the ultra-smooth, space-saving power of horizontally opposed (not vertical or V-stroke) pistons.

2 ONE-PACKAGE POWER TEAM
Wraps rear engine, transmission and differential into one compact unit. Takes less room, leaves you more.

3 STYLING—PURE AND SIMPLE
Clean, uncluttered lines shape both 4-door models—the de luxe Corvair 700 and the standard Corvair. Each has its own distinctive trim, and you get more visibility area than in many full-sized cars.

4 FOLD-DOWN REAR SEAT*
Works instantly, adding to Corvair's versatility by enlarging rear seat cargo space to 17.6 cu. ft.

5 FLAT FLOOR
Corvair is America's only compact car with a practically flat floor, the only one with the kind of relaxing room that U.S. motorists are used to.

6 UNISTRUT BODY BY FISHER
Does away with conventional frame, incorporating all structure into a rigid body-frame unit that gives you more inside room with less weight.

7 UNDER-HOOD LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT
Trunk's up front (like an elephant's) where it's convenient for groceries, shopping bags, luggage.

5 4-WHEEL INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION
There's no conventional axle—front or rear. Wheels, cushioned by coil springs, take bumps independently of each other, for smooth, road-hugging ride.

*Optional at extra cost.

Plan For Program To Train Drivers

Plans for an in-service training program for all Garrett County bus drivers were outlined at a meeting held at the Accident Elementary School this past week.

Robert Martin, transportation supervisor, presided at the meeting which was attended by the Executive Board of the Bus Drivers' association and several principals.

Charles Bender, president of the Garrett County Bus Drivers' Association, emphasized that this was not a "crash program" and was not induced as a result of the tragic train-bus collision early in September. Plans for the training program were first discussed last summer following the publication of a training guide for bus drivers formulated by a group of school superintendents and transportation officials from all parts of Maryland.

Mr. Martin indicated that five or six geographical centers to accommodate the ninety-four bus drivers would be set up in the county for the training sessions. Each driver will be required to attend three sessions. The programs which will include such matters as driver qualifications, responsibilities, school regulations, bus maintenance, discipline and several other topics will be lead by Mr. Bender and Mr. Martin. Guest speakers, films, and panel discussions will be utilized to make the meetings interesting as well as informative. First sessions will be held sometime during October.

Principals attending the meeting were Paul Muha, Northern High School; Harold Garrett Accident; Robert Rodeheaver, Center Street; Ralph Buckel North Glade, Kenneth Johns, Southern High School. Members of the Garrett County Bus Association present were Rodger Bond, treasurer; Ace Nethken, secretary; Audley Riley, vice-president, and Harry Robeson. Also present from the Board of Education offices was John Eitzwater, pupil personnel supervisor.

THE AMERICAN WAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

"We sometimes wonder why some politicians seem to lack the comprehension of many of their constituents."

We understand that it is perfectly human for the politician to advocate and support measures he considers will enhance his popularity with the majority of the voters in his constituency, thereby insuring his being retained in office when next he is up for re-election.

And understanding the politicians' eagerness to garner votes is what makes us wonder about certain of their actions.

For instance: It is one of the paradoxes in the business of government subsidized production of electricity, that some politicians fool themselves into believing that in advocating same, they are making themselves considerable votes. The fact is that in doing so they alienate the union man who works in the utility business as well as his worker friends in other industries, because that utility worker wants no part of public power projects.

The reason for the utility worker's dislike of government-in-the-power business is fairly obvious. The union man loses all his benefits on government power projects. He no longer, for instance, enjoys the right to strike when government is his employer.

Let's for a moment consider the case of the proposed Trinity River Project in California. A private, investor-owned company (Pacific Gas and Electric Company) has offered to build the utility installation, at no cost to the taxpayers. Sounds like a reasonable fair proposition, doesn't it? But many politicians insist that the federal Government should build the project with taxpayers' money.

Ronald T. Weakley, business manager of Local 1245 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has declared himself on this issue in no mistakeable language. Testifying recently concerning this Trinity River project, at a hearing of a Senate Subcommittee, Mr. Weakley had this to say:

"To consider the issue in its simplest terms, federal subsidized power is a great hoon to the minority who are receiving it, because the great majority are paying for it through their taxes, but the members of the paying majority are going to have to get along with less food, less comfort, less entertainment, less savings, less schooling for our children, a lower standard of living and increased taxes so that preference customers can get cheaper power than we receive."

Mr. Weakley leaves no doubt as to how he stands regarding government production of electricity—he doesn't "cotton" to it.

In these times of inflation when the government is looking for places to save money, or should be bending its every energy toward that goal, it seems strange that a government power project should even be proposed, let alone given support, when an investor-owned company, thoroughly qualified by long experience and efficient management to do the job, has offered to do it with private funds—at no expense to the taxpayers.

But let us listen again to Mr. Weakley, the union business manager, on this score. Said he as he continued his testimony before the Senate Subcommittee:

"Underwriting tax-free public power agency bonds as against private tax-paying investment, is we believe, a bad bargain for all of us. After these agencies (governmental) are set up, we find that instead of federal power being used to pay for water development, these agencies get power at below cost to the extent that all of the taxpayers are paying subsidies to a few favored customers."

That brings us back to what we said in the opening paragraph of this column. "We sometimes wonder why some politicians seem to lack the comprehension of many of their constituents."

Union workers have learned by bitter experience that government-in-business is bad business—something, unfortunately, that many of our politicians have yet to learn.

Will Be Vacancies In Service Schools

There will be vacancies at the U. S. Naval Academy, West Point and the U. S. air force academy, it was announced by Congressman John R. Foley.

Foley will nominate candidates for one vacancy at these places under a competitive system which will include a competitive civil service commission examination.

Candidates must notify him by October 16 if they desire to compete. The competitive method of nomination is calculated to remove all partisan politics from the appointments. The congressman is allowed to nominate ten candidates with other Congressional and Senatorial nominees for Maryland's allotment of five vacancies at the Merchant Marine academy also.

Lions Club Gets First Hand Report On 86th Congress

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall Gives Review Of Actions

Members of the Oakland-Mc Lake Lions club got a first hand report of the activities of the first session of the 86th Congress of the United States at their regular meeting Monday evening at the William-James hotel.

The account was given by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, who declared in his opening remarks that he considered the bi-partisan action, involving as much cooperation as competition as the most distinctive thing about the session. The coalition which was revived by southern conservatives and Republicans kept the threatened "spending spree" from getting very far.

The Senator said he felt people were beginning to realize "that when they get something from the federal government they are simply getting back some of their own money. They know that when more 'benefits' are voted it means more taxes or deficit spending."

He termed the greatest achievements of the session as the voting of statehood for Hawaii and the passage of a good labor reform bill. He said the labor bill was an "earnest endeavor to turn out legislation which would get crooks, not unions, and make it possible for honest union labor to clean house."

He listed the following actions taken by Congress: kept budget pretty close to balance, admitted Hawaii to statehood, curbed labor abuses, increased gasoline taxes to pay for highways, expanded medical research, increased veterans' pensions, liberalized the filibuster rule, extended corporate income and excise taxes, extended the draft for four years, set up new inter-American bank for Latin America, continued mutual aid programs, extended the life of the Civil Rights commission, authorized a big military construction program, continued and slightly expanded the housing program, authorizing 100 million for direct housing loans to veterans.

What Congress didn't do—attack the agriculture surplus problem, lift interest rate ceiling on long term bonds, confirm Lewis Strauss for secretary of Commerce, create urgently needed federal judgeships, end the filibuster maneuver, enlarge airport construction program, although it extended the present program, and boost postal rates as requested by the President.

He declared Congress should have two black marks—the decision to withhold authority for higher interest rate ceiling on long term marketable government bonds, and explained that the additional cost to the treasurer for higher interest rate would have been more than offset by savings on prevented inflation; and the failure of Congress to confirm Admiral Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

On military construction Senator Beall revealed that projects in Maryland amounted to $34,879,000 and that only one other state, California, was receiving more.

He gave credit to the majority leadership in Congress for working out reasonable compromises with the President and complimented the President for standing firm against the "spending spree" which the extremists had seemed set on launching early in the session.

He explained in some detail the gasoline tax increase, the housing bill which finally passed after two vetoes by the president, and the public works bill, finally passed over the president's veto which contained 67 projects not included in the original budget which contained a "morsel" for everybody. It was the proverbial "pork barrel" bill.

He termed statehood for Hawaii as a major and imaginative step. He said, "After Hawaiian citizens voted to accept statehood, they elected a Republican with a Chinese name and a Democrat with an English name to the U. S. Senate, a Democrat with a Japanese name to House of Representatives, and a Republican with an Irish name to the governorship—jumbled results which are comforting and which seem to me to be truly American. The manifest independent thinking of the Hawaiian citizens gives us all the more reason to welcome the Hawaiians as Americans through and through."

The party division in Congress at present, Senator Beall pointed out, is 65 Democrats and 35 Republicans in the Senate, 283 Democrats and 153 Republicans and one vacancy in the House.

Huskies Lose 19-13 To Keyser Jayvees

Northern High's Huskies dropped their third football game in as many starts on Saturday when the Keyser "B" eleven scored a 19-13 victory on the gridiron at Cove.

The Huskies tallied early in the second quarter when Joe Friend went 53 yards on a fumble recovery. Jim McKenzie's pass to Patton was good for the extra point. The other Northern six-pointer came in the final quarter after the Little Tornado had taken a 19-17 lead, when Dick McCurdy went over from the one-yard line after a bad pass from center on an attempted punt by Keyser had gone haywire.

Keyser took the lead in the opening quarter after a 60-yard drive for one score and following another long drive for the second. McCurdy's punt was blocked by Thorn and Roberts scooped up the stray leather and scampered 42 yards for Keyser's final tally.

Playing for Northern were Patton, Raley, Hutzel, Yommer, Friend, Walker, Buckel, McKenzie, Georg, McCurdy and Garlitz. Substitutes included Glotfelty, Umbel, Bittinger, Smith, Bittner, Caruthers, Jenkins, Sisler, Brant, Finzel, Faith.

The Congressional Record of this Congress—In this our last weekly letter of the 1st session of the 86th Congress, I will review briefly—and without getting technical—the work of this session. I do not go along with those who have rubbed the 86th as a "Do-Nothing Congress." The first session of the 86th Congress produced some substantial legislation shaped largely by the Administration. The Majority in Congress yielded to President Eisenhower on a broad range of economic and social issues. The President was challenged on a few elected issues, but his firm position, strongly backed by public opinion, forced frequent Majority retreats and some surrenders.

As the 86th Congress opened last January, the "Spenders" offered a threat to the Budget and to our national economy. Some members seemed set on launching all kinds of spending programs. However, the voice of the people was heard. The Majority leadership, holding a finger to the wind of public opinion, ordered the sails trimmed. Retrenchment, compromise and accommodation became the rule. Legislation objectionable to the Administration was quietly modified.

Let us look at the pros and cons. Outstanding developments of the First Session included the following:

Hawaii Statehood—The bill making Hawaii the Nation's 50th State sailed through early in the session by heavy majorities. After Hawaiian citizens voted to accept Statehood, they elected a Republican with a Chinese name and a Democrat with an English name to the United States Senate and a Democrat with a Japanese name to the U. S. House of Representatives and a Republican with an Irish name to the Governorship—jumbled results which seem to me to be truly American. The new members in Congress raised the roster in the Senate to 100 and in the House to 437, temporarily. The Party division became 65 Democrats and 35 Republicans in the Senate and 283 Democrats, 153 Republicans and one vacancy in the House.

Labor Reform—With the impact of union scandals spotlighted over a two-year period by the special Senate Rackets Committee, Congress wrote a strong law to deal with violence, corruption and abuse of power. In addition, provisions were written placing new curbs on "blackmail" picketing and on secondary boycotts, which have seriously injured businesses having no dispute with labor unions. The new law, which follows closely the Landrum-Griffin Bill, supported by President Eisenhower, is designed to protect the general public, as well as employers and employees. In the House, the vote for the final bill was 352 to 52; in the Senate, 95 to 2.

Government Bonds—Despite urgent Administration pleas, the Majority leadership decided, after the collapse of two compromise efforts, to withhold authority for higher interest rates on long-term marketable Government bonds. However, a related bill was approved substantially as proposed by the President. It raised the interest ceiling on savings bonds, Series E and H, to 4 and ¼ per cent.

Housing—The 86th Congress wrote a bill designed to permit the uninterrupted operation of Housing program business. The final bill extends FHA insurance on improvement loans, extends the voluntary home mortgages credit program, and adjusts the statutory interest rate ceilings governing mortgages insured under FHA programs. There was eliminated a provision for direct loans to colleges for classrooms, and there was removed the previously stipulated October 1, 1960 cut-off date for 8 billion dollars in new FHA mortgage guarantee authorizations. The new bill spreads the 650-million-dollar urban renewal program over a 2-year period.

Highway Financing—In order to keep the interstate highway construction program going, President Eisenhower had proposed a 1-and-½-cent-per-gallon increase in the gasoline tax. After stalling for some time, the House came up with a 1-cent increase. The President said that this would suffice for a slowed-down program, and the Senate immediately passed it. The increase went into the highway trust fund.

Public Works—The Omnibus Public Works Bill, as finally passed, contained 67 projects not included in the President's budget. It contained funds for rivers, harbors, flood control, and numerous other public works in every State of the Union. It was called "pork barrel" legislation because, like the barrel of pork that stood in the old country store, there was a morsel in it for everybody. The President vetoed the measure, and his veto was sustained in the House by a one-vote margin. Then Congress sent the President an identical bill, except for an across-the-board cut in funds for all projects. Again, a veto. This time the veto was overridden by the required two-thirds in both Houses.

Agriculture—For several years, Congress and the Administration have been in a stalemate over farm policy. The President and his Secretary of Agriculture have favored a lightening of controls over farmers and a gradual abandonment of subsidies, while the Majority in Congress have favored more subsidies and more controls. There was no change this year as Congress passed, and the President vetoed, two bills for upward revision of price supports and production controls. One dealt with wheat, the other with tobacco. No attempt was made to override the vetoes.

Civil Rights—Proponents and opponents of new legislation to preserve the constitutional rights of Negroes and other minorities produced much oratory and little action. Delaying tactics kept all civil rights legislation bottled up in committee. Leaders finally agreed on a 2-year extension of the life of the Civil Rights Commission, and this provision was tacked on to the Foreign Aid Bill.

Foreign Aid—The bipartisan spirit in which Congress long has handled questions of foreign policy underwent severe strain. The President's $3,9995,000,000 request for continuation of the Mutual Security program ignored Congressional demands for a shift of emphasis away from military aid grants and toward more loans for economic development. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee rewrote the Administration's program. It provided for a Development Loan Fund to be financed by Treasury advances of $1,000,000,000 a year for five years. The new financing device was removed on the Senate floor by a close 18-42 vote. The President's opposition, based on his stand against "back-door spending," was apparently the deciding factor. When the bill for Mutual Security appropriations reached the Senate floor in the closing hours of the session, it carried $3,225,000,000, and this was passed.

Military—Early-session demands in Congress for strengthening the country's striking and defense power over and above the President's recommendations subsided when the potential of our preparedness position became known. Instead, Congress appropriated slightly less than the President's request for a total of $39,248,000,000. Congress's military construction appropriations followed rather closely the recommendations of the Pentagon. Although no funds were provided in the bill specifically for MACE guided missile facilities overseas, the Secretary of Defense is authorized to use available funds for the construction of such facilities as he may deem necessary after a "determination" is made. The bill contains $34,879,000 for projects in Maryland alone. One State, California, received more. Maryland is doing all right.

Is Your Name RICE!

Rice, an odd and honored surname . . . principally of Welsh origin OF relatively simple derivation, it is obtained from the ancient personal name "Rhys" meaning "strong man or hero". Rhys was a widespread name in ancient times, and from it there are obtained other surnames such as Rees and Rhees. It is interesting to note that the Welsh prefixes "ap" and "ab" denote "son of", and thus from ap Rhys and ab Rhee come the present day popular names of Price and Rice.

It is known that a branch of the Rice family was living in Germany during the early part of the 18th century, for Zachariah Rice (1721-1811) who was born in Germany served as a private in the Chester County, Pennsylvania militia during the Revolutionary War. His wife Abigail Hartman Rice (1732-1789), also a native of Germany, died of typhus. Ever interested in the needs of mercy, carrying food and delicacies to invalid soldiers.

The first census of the United States taken in 1790, has twenty three references to persons by the name of Rice who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

Rice County, Minnesota was named for U. S. senator Henry M. Rice (1817-1894), who was born in Vermont and moved to Minnesota in 1839.

Rice Institute, a coeducational institution for higher education, was established in 1912 at Houston, Texas by means of a fund bequeathed by William Marsh Rice (1816-1900) who gained a fortune in the cotton business in Texas.

John T. Rice (1811-1926) was governor of Michigan.

Edwin William Rice (1862-1935) was president, General Electric Company.

Herbert Leigh Rice (1876-1942) was justice, Supreme Court of Delaware.

John Winter Rice is professor and chairman of the department of biology, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

Neil W. Rice is chairman of the board of directors, United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company, with offices in Boston.

Lester Kaine Rice is rear admiral, U. S. Navy.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

A Human Alarm Clock

Down in Baxter, Tenn. there is a bachelor who has been blowing reveille at five o'clock every morning for over 30 years. Each morning he climbs a 20 foot pole and blows a bugle to awaken the neighbors. Whether the neighbors appreciate his actions was not included in the article. It seems that few ever appreciate the awakening to the personal, visible return of Jesus Christ to this earth. It is apparent that the Age of Grace will not last much longer. There are of Prophetic Scripture are rapidly being fulfilled. Of the day and hour no man knows, but if one has any spiritual discernment he knows that the season of Grace is drawing to a close. It shall mean the opportunity of eternal salvation for every person who has heard the Gospel will be over. Their doom will automatically be sealed even though they may live to the close of the Great Tribulation. If you have any intentions of becoming a Christian you should do so now—tomorrow may be too late. The Bible says plainly, "Now is the accepted time, today is the day of salvation." Why risk an eternity when there is no good reason for doing so?

A Wonderful New World of Fords for 1960

A new world of style! A new world of savings!
A new world of performance! A new world of built-for-people comfort!
A new world of station wagon living!

On October 8, for the first time, there will be not one, not two, but three completely new kinds of Ford cars designed and priced for nine out of ten Americans:

The 1960 Fords—The Finest Fords of a Lifetime, beautiful from any Point of View, worth more from every Point of Value!

The 1960 Falcon—The New-size Ford, the world's most experienced new car, and the easiest car in the world to own!

The 1960 Thunderbird—The World's Most Wanted Car!

FORD—The Finest Fords of a Lifetime

Here are 15 new models! Economy-minded Fairlanes. Big-value Fairlane 500's. Elegant Galaxies. Five beautifully husky new station wagons. A sleek new Sunliner convertible and a brand-new hardtop model, the Starliner.

A wonderful new world of style. Ford's beautiful new proportions flow smoothly through an elegant Thunderbird-inspired roof to swift rear-quarter lines.

A wonderful new world of performance. For action, there are new Thunderbird V-8's that blend blazing power and acceleration with kid-glove smoothness.

A wonderful new world of ride. With Ford's new Wide-Tread Design, wheels are spread farther apart for a full 5-foot tread. It handles and rides like the Thunderbird!

A wonderful new world of economy. Ford's Mileage Maker Six and Thunderbird 292 V-8 and 352 V-8 all travel beautifully on regular gas at savings up to a dollar a tankful. And go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

A wonderful new world of built-for-people comfort. Six big people—including the man-in-the-middle—ride in greater comfort than ever. The new Fords give you as much as 4 inches more shoulder room, more knee room, more hip room. You relax on chair-high seats.

A wonderful new world of safety. Ford's big safety news for 1960 includes new Truck-Size Brakes with brake linings 25% bigger. Ford's new Safety-Girder Frame is 25% stronger than ever before. Better visibility, too.

FALCON—The New-Size Ford

Here is the welcome news Americans have been waiting for . . . the Falcon, a product of Dearborn, Michigan, automotive capital of the world, was expressly designed for American needs on the American road. It's the one economy car without the economy-car look.

Averages up to 30 miles per gallon. Experience Run, U.S.A., proved it! Oil savings? Ford's standard Full-Flow Oil Filter stretched oil changes 4,000 miles apart.

The engine's up front for greater safety and stability. Built brand-new for the Falcon, the short-stroke Falcon Six was developed, and mounted up front, according to long-proved, thoroughly accepted engineering principles.

1960 Falcon seats six with ease. Six fit comfortably into the Falcon—and it swallows luggage for six in the big rear trunk that holds 23 cu. ft. Compare this with others!

Easiest car in the world to own. A Falcon is so easy on the wallet that it's easier than ever to be a 2-Ford family!

THUNDERBIRD—The World's Most Wanted Car

For 1960, the Ford Thunderbird is distinctively new—without basically disturbing the famous profile that has made it America's new fine-car favorite. It's the most wanted car of all!

No matter who you are . . . or what your tastes and needs . . . there's an exciting 1960 Ford styled, sized and priced for you. See your Ford Dealer October 8!

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi Again! Another week gone, pushing September out with it. This is sure fine with me the faster time goes the better. That is, until graduation.

I was right disappointed Saturday night, a boy had to be asked to leave "Canteen." This was the first incident of its kind since "canteen" started the last of May. Still, I think, this is a fine showing. You teenagers, my friends, are a group of the finest teens I know. I have worked with many groups other than ours and I know. Our teenagers have given, directly and indirectly, about two hundred dollars to the disaster fund. Everyone in our community, schools, and county should be proud to the point of "bursting." (I certainly am.)

Anyone who comes to Canteen knows my favorite song, it's by the Coasters of "Charlie Brown" and "Along Came Jones" fame, it's called "Poison Ivy." I hear that and I could rock all night.

Any of you guys who are thinking of entering the Army on the "Buddy System" ask Bob Jones, Don Mason and Dick Swartzentruber about it.

Say, things are going to rock tomorrow night! The Jivin' Five will be there to play for a hit. Yes, people, Jim Callis will be there. You know, if we try real hard we might persuade Bob Damon to sing a little bit. We'll give it a try. The special admission will be thirty-five cents.

I have the top records now, all but "Mack the Knife," by Bobby Darin. If some one has this one bring it in. I'll take real good care and return it at eleven.

This Friday night I want to see some parents at "Canteen". I am not going to call any certain persons to come. I just would like to see where the interest lies and with whom. If no one comes don't worry, we have plenty of chaperones who are members of the Moose club, Mrs. McClung and Mrs. Mosser always volunteer. This is the spirit which shows that the parents are interested in their children. By now someone is surely thinking that this is pointed directly "If the shoe fits, wear it."

See you tomorrow night ! ! ! I hope.

St. Paul's Methodist

CAN YE FORGIVE?

Luke 6:37 "Forgive, and you will be forgiven"

"Can you ever forgive me" is the question that truly tests one's Christian temper. To recognize our need for forgiveness is painful. However, to forgive, one must take the pain of the wrongdoing upon himself and restore the estranged relationship.

Being willing to forgive tests our unselfishness. The scriptures ask the question, "If ye do good to them that do good to you, what reward have ye?" It is easy to love the lovable, those who love you in return but we are commanded to love the unlovable. Jesus directed us to be neighbor to him who is ungrateful and despitefully uses us. We are to shower kindness upon the poor and rich alike without any thought of return. This is a hard saying and is possible only as we recognize the unbounded goodness of God poured into our lives despite our unworthiness.

Although difficult, forgiveness becomes a necessity for family and community life. The created capacity of men to live in fellowship brings them close enough together to hurt one another also. Family and community life is destroyed by foolish dissensions unless forgiveness is a fact. Futhermore, all of us need forgiveness. To be forgiven, we must forgive others.

Further there is to be no limit to one's forgiveness. Seventy times seven was Jesus' way of saying one never gets through forgiving just as one never gets beyond the need of being forgiven.

God pointed the way to group relationships by giving of himself redemptively throught the life and death of his son. Jesus emphasized forgiveness because he saw it in God's dealings with men. Hence, he could say "Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you." Because God is good and because he has loved us without limit we are empowered to forgive another without demanding retaliation.

Can ye forgive is a question that will be asked of you daily. Your answer will determine your effectiveness and maturity as a person. Your answer will determine whether or not you find your proper relationship to God and your fellow men.

Silent Generation - - -

There is much talk these days about "The Silent Generation," that growing contingent of young adults living in suburbs and busily conforming to corporation, community and church patterns as aids to climbing the economic ladder.

In "Pause for Reflection," written by Edward W. Greenfield, he has the following to say about this group.

"To explain their 'silence,' suggestions vary: they are too satisfied with things as they are to complain; they are too concerned to 'get along' with both their ambitions and other people to become controversial; or they are silent about deeper issues because they have nothing to say.

"Whatever the explanation, the picture is of complacent, cowering people huddled together for mutual justification, reluctant to take the risks of independent decision and action, and avoiding pursuits more significant than canasta and barbecue parties.

"I can't vouch for the accuracy of the picture, but I know people who are like that, and the generation they belong to has little to do with it. It's anyone who shudders at certain words: 'dedication,' 'positive conviction,' not being afraid to 'stand for something,' and having the courage to 'speak out and stick your neck out.'

"If these make you cringe, you belong to 'The Silent Generation.' You have joined the deadly count-down from what was once 'the land of the free and the home of the brave!' "

Carl Harvey Must Move Hen House

Judge Fraley Gives Opinion Favoring Point View Inn Owners

In an opinion filed Tuesday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, Carl Harvey and Naomi Harvey, star route, Oakland, were ordered to move a chicken house from its present location, just across the highway from Point View Inn and motel, and advised them not to maintain a chicken house or raise chickens within 300 feet of the Point View property.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey also were enjoined from placing bells on cattle and sheep grazing within the same distance from the complainants' property.

Owners of the Point View Inn and Motel last June asked the Circuit court for an injunction to prevent the Harveys from maintaining a chicken house and coop, manure and trash pile, across from their property which they claimed were injuring their business.

The complainants said the chicken house and runway were placed directly opposite and across the highway from their establishment after construction was begun on an 18-unit motel adjacent to the inn in 1957 and that various complaints about the situation had been ignored.

The civil case was heard September 9. Witnesses, including a number of motel guests, testified on behalf of the plaintiffs, Attorneys S. F. Hamill, Jr., and Fred A. Thayer III contended that the chickens had lowered the value of the Vannucci property and declared that the chickens kept the tenants awake.

In the answer filed by Horace Whitworth, attorney for the defendants, he contended that tourists staying at the motel disturbed the chickens and as a result they had stopped laying or had reduced the number of eggs. He also contended the chickens were there first.

The American Red Cross bloodmobile unit obtained 107 pints of blood from area residents yesterday and added two more names to the two-gallon club and seven more names to the gallon club. Council Awaits Further Word On Bridge Project

Interim Water Rate Increase To Become Effective January 1

What to do about the condemned bridge across the Little Youghiogheny was under discussion at the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland on Monday night but action was withheld, pending the results of a recommendation by the State Roads engineer.

John B. Funk, chairman of the State Roads commission, sent a state engineer here last week for an inspection trip, and his letter recommending what action to take is to be sent to the County Commissioners. The Commissioners are cooperating with the city council in replacing the bridge, if that is necessary.

Advance Water Rates

The council advanced water rates for consumers, effective January 1, 1960, making the minimum per quarter $6.75 for persons inside the corporation and $10.50 per quarter minimum for persons outside the corporation.

The new set-up is as follows: Inside corporatin, $2.25 for first thousand gallons, 75 cents for each additional thousand, minimum $2.25 per month or $6.75 per quarter. Outside corporation, $3.50 for first thousand gallons, $1.25 per each additional thousand gallons, minimum $3.50 per month or $10.50 per quarter.

Rates in effect at present; within corporation, $1.50 for first thousand gallons, 50 cents for each additional thousand, minimum $1.50 per month or $4.50 per quarter; Outside corporation, 75 cents per thousand gallons, after first thousand minimum $2 per month or $6 per quarter.

The council said rates would be considered as temporary rates to take care of such exigencies as may arise until such time as water treatment plant is completed and permanent rates established. The

Guilty of Larceny

Delbert Campbell, Cumberland, was found guilty of three criminal charges by a jury in the Garrett County Circuit court last Thursday.

Campbell was arrested in Cumberland June 26 as a suspect in a series of thefts in the tri-state area. State Police later charged Campbell with receiving stolen tires and tubes valued at $40 on June 17 and with breaking and entering of a service station in the Grantsville area.

Campbell also was found guilty of two counts of larceny. Sentencing in the case was withheld by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley. Cumberland police detective Lt. James E. Van and Troopers first class Milton G. Hart and Glenn D. Folk testified at the trial.

Several appeal cases were delayed due to the death of Trooper Robert Henline's father. Trooper Henline was scheduled to testify in a number of them. These are being scheduled for a later date.

George "Bud" Fazenbaker, of the Westernport area, who had been fined $500 in trial magistrate court on a moonshining charge, had appealed his case but when his time to appear in circuit court arrived he pleaded guilty and paid the fine.

Held on Assault

In an assault and battery case before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on October 2 Kenneth Crowe, of Bear Hill section, pleaded guilty to the charge against his wife and was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail. He appeared before Magistrate Maroney on September 18, on a similar charge and was released under bond for his appearance when called.

The other one was confirmed last week in the case of Edith Dignan, aged 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dignan, of Gorman.

The Dignan girl is a patient in Children's Hospital school in Baltimore while Harvey is a patient in Memorial hospital in Cumberland.

Study Committee Makes Report On Youth Problems

Makes Suggestions And Recommendations Following Meeting

A resume of the findings of the county committee set up to study the problems of youth, has been compiled. It includes a number of recommendations and suggestions.

Listed under what could be done to meet the problems of the community were the following: encourage Industrial development for a more stable economic base; create new opportunities for recreation, especially that which is wholesome and teaches a child to be creative; more and better organized community planning for children's needs and interests; encourage parent understanding of youth problems, enlarging school facilities to have trade and technical school training for slow learners; keep children in school until they graduate, even if work is poor; have counseling for children in trouble or about to get into trouble; develop the home as centers of understanding, love and guidance; support, cherish and strengthen our churches as places of worship and spiritual growth for all of the people.

Those attending the meeting felt as a group that the economic problem was a grave one, directly affecting personality and thinking of the children. They felt the basic wage scale needed to be raised and that minimum wage scale for every working person should be a part of the county's legislation.

However, the group felt that people here should face, meet and overcome their own problems without rushing to the government for help.

Most Serious Problems

The six most serious problems affecting the lives of children were listed: low income of many parents, often inadequate to cover necessities; lack of adult leadership for worthwhile programs; poor over-all community planning for young people's needs; no special training in many areas to deal with problems of unusual children, influence of young adults lost on children and youth because they must leave county after graduation to seek employment elsewhere; poor recreational facilities, with organized leadership.

The group reported it felt consolidation of schools had brought better educational opportunities to

Lake at 4-H Center To Undergo Repairs

The lake at the Western Maryland 4-H Center will be drained October 15 for the purpose of improvement and repairs, it was announced by James McHenry, County Agent. The major repair will be to the water level control valve. McHenry explained that this valve had developed a slow leak and must be repaired in order to regulate the water levels and facilitate future repairs without draining the entire lake. The docks, bathing areas, and beaches will also be improved and repaired, he said.

All precautions are being taken to conserve the fish and put them back into the lake, he added. The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission is cooperating with the University of Maryland officials in trapping the fish. All desirable fish will be counted and replaced to the lake immediately.

The water level in the lake will be held down for the minimum amount of time required to repair the valve. Upon completion of the valve repairs, the lake will be refilled. The water level can then be regulated to allow for the additional repairs to docks and beaches. There will be sufficient area for the existing fish population to remain in the lake unharmed, Mr. McHenry concluded.

State Owns 77,056 Acres In County

A survey of state owned land in Maryland has shown that there are 77,056 acres in this county under that category. Most of this land is in state forests. Throughout the state there are 187,131 acres, 292.4 square miles, representing 2.9 percent of the land area of Maryland. The percentage of state owned land in this county is over four percent.

Allegany county has less than 2 percent of its land state owned, while other counties have much less.

The aggregate of land owned by the state represents a varied and diversified picture. Ranging from parcels of one acre or less in Baltimore to the 52,708 acre Savage River state forest these areas are neither uniform in size nor centralized in location. Every county in the state shares in the distribution from a mere 5 acres in Calvert county to the total in this county.

Land owned by the State Roads commission has not been included in this inventory at the present time.

The Department of Forests and Parks has 135,419 acres to manage, while the Game and Inland Fish Commission has 35,336.

Rainfall Exceeds 2 inches

The rainfall of the past week reached over two inches before the clear and warm weather returned to give the Mt. Top another period of almost ideal autumn conditions.

Last week's rain continued through most of Thursday, but the remaining days continued clear and warm. A light rain fell on Wednesday and another light rain this morning. There has been no frost of any consequence since the killing frost of September 18.

The Rotary club is sponsor of troop 93, which was organized in December of 1958.

830 Excursionists To Invade County For Autumn Glory

Itinerary Of State Parks And Other Places Of Interest Planned For Sunday

Some 830 excursionists are set to "invade" Oakland and Garrett county on Sunday, October 11, in the Autumn Glory tour scheduled for this year by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The event is sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council and the Garrett County Turkey Growers. The schedule will run similar to previous years.

Excursionists will arrive at the railroad station about 12 o'clock noon where they will be met by the Southern High school band. They will then board some twenty-five school buses for a tour of Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake, the Deep Creek State Park area and for a visit to a turkey farm.

One half of the buses will lead off for Swallow Falls while the other half will head for the Deep Creek Lake State Park area.

At the Falls and at the State Park will be booths of the Turkey Growers, the Chamber of Commerce and the Promotion Council. Four-H club members also plan to sell cider. Soft drinks, coffee, candy and other packaged food will be available.

Five turkeys are to be given away, two furnished by the Promotion Council, two by the Chamber of Commerce and one by the Turkey Growers.

Usually the Governor has proclaimed the week as Autumn Glory time when the foliage is in its most beautiful stage.

Chamber of Commerce officials were notified that the railroad company stopped selling tickets on Tuesday when the 830 figure had been reached. In former years there have been two excursion trains on succeeding Sundays, but railroad officials said when this occurred excursionists had the tendency to by-pass the first one, causing loss in revenue, most of them waiting for the second and final week when the train would be overcrowded.

Tickets will be distributed on the train so that passengers will know which bus to board as soon as they get off the train. The excursion is scheduled to return to Baltimore and Washington sometime after four o'clock.

Kitzmiller Lions To Hear Gov. Tawes

MemLers of the Kitzmillter Lions club will hear Governor J. Millard Tawes at a special meeting on Monday, October 26, at 6:30.

L. C. Hutson, publicity committee chairman, said that the Governor and Louis Goldstein, comptroller would be present for the session and that both would speak. Thomas B. Finan, secretary of state, will be master of ceremonies.

The dinner will be held in the Kitzmiller school building. There will be entertainment by sixteen members of the Allegheny Folk Dance group, who would present a number of Scotch folk dances in costume. Male guests would be eligible to attend upon invitation of club members.

Hunters Take to Woods

Hundreds of hunters took to the woods on Monday, first day of the hunting season, and have continued through the week, in search of wild turkeys and squirrels.

Pre-season predictions indicated plentiful game but just how much success the hunters were having up to this time, was not yet known.

The open season will continue until October 31.

Gordon House, 16, student at Southern High school, accidentally shot himself in the left hip with a 20-gauge shotgun while hunting in the woods on Tuesday. He was given emergency treatment in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland and released.

Unseasonable cold plagued Denver, Col. There was over 31 inches of snow.

BESSIE WARD HINEBAUGH has moved her studio from the Episcopal Parish house on Center street to her apartment at 115 Second street, phone DE 4-4706.

From 1937 to 1944, Miss Hinebaugh was on the faculty at the Fillion Studios, Pittsburgh. Mr. Fillion wrote of her, "Bessie Hinebaugh is an excellent teacher for young students because her work has the thoroughness of the good musician."

Born in Oakland, Md., she first studied piano with Lottie M. Loar, then organ with Ingram Lord in Cumberland, Md. Later she went to Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, where she also studied singing. After coming to Pittsburgh she continued her piano, and vocal studies, adding the flute under Alois Hrabak and Victor Sandek, and composition under Rinehart Mayer and Oscar Demmler. Also organ with Rinehart Mayer. She has displayed considerable talent for composition.

In 1937 the Tuesday Musical Club awarded her the composition prize in its song contest, and on numerous other programs has included her works. For many years she was flutist and soprano soloist with the Pittsburgh Ladies' orchestra. Albert D. Liefelt, conductor, and traveled extensively on the Chautauqua circuit.

Miss Hinebaugh has the faculty of stimulating the musical interest of the student, as well as giving a solid technical foundation. Her students, whether small child or adult, invariably make good progress.

In the Pittsburgh Press, Ralph Lewando, former music critic, in his "Who's Who," music circles wrote "Bessie Ward Hinebaugh in addition to being a successful piano instructor, is an imaginative composer. Her abandoned creative study was furthered by counterpoint lessons with Marianne Genet, and composition with Harvey B. Gaul, and later with J. Julius Baird. Her anthem for mixed voices, published by Hall-McCreary, Chicago, and "Chime Prelude" for organ, published by Lorenz Publishing Co., Chicago, are widely used. Also performed are her works for string orcrestra and wood winds. She has written numerous works for smaller combinations, also piano, violin, cello and flute solos.

Her latest works for string and woodwinds are "Egyptian Suite" in three parts, and "Swallow Falls Suite" in five parts, with both piano and harp accompaniment. Miss Hinebaugh is a member of the Tuesday Musical club, Pittsburgh, and Piano Teachers association. —Adv. 32-1t

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Well howdy! How are you all after a very weak week. By weak I mean as far as weather goes. Hot, then cold, wet, then dry. Ahh! Why can't weather be stationary, just staying till in one position or the other.

Teen club opens tomorrow night at the armory. I hope this year will be as successful as this summer. The Moose, who gave us their hall during the summer were wonderful to us. However, our crowd has grown much too large for that hall.

Here is a flash—Either the Tempos of Climax Records, who had the hit recording, "See You In September," or as an alternate, The Donnybrooks, from Pittsburgh will appear October 23. This will start our new policy of a star a month at Teen Club.

I heard an adult remark that Teen Club should not be necessary, teenagers should be able to find their own entertainment and not need to be entertained. I ask, where? In a beer joint or a parked car? Think about this and if you have any ideas on this send them in. They will be printed and answered.

See you tomorrow night with "live" entertainment by Bob Oliverio. This is the armory, me lads.

Carl Harvey Must

Judge Fraley declared from his own personal view of the premises and the photographs offered in evidence that it was not difficult to conclude that the unsightly chicken house and its location constituted a private nuisance to the complainants.

Mr. Harvey had testified that his tract of land extended back from the road a distance of nearly one half mile and that the chicken house had been erected at a cost of $50. He also testified that he was engaged in the chicken business at one time but that he discontinued it five or six years ago and had not raised any chickens until after the Vannuccis' started construction of the motel.

It was brought out at the hearing that some personal feeling had developed between the complainants and Mr. Harvey because both parties had sought to lease certain property owned by the Pennsylvania Electric company bordering on the lake and that the company had decided to lease the property to Mr. and Mrs. Vannucci rather than to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey.

Judge Fraley, in making his decision said that such an event could become a private nuisance when constructed and maintained in such a way as to interfere with neighboring properties and such a business enterprise as the complainants owned and operated. He declared that the testimony of the witnesses "convinces me that this chicken coop and the keeping of chickens in this particular location was intended to annoy the plaintiffs and their patrons in the conduct of their business and that the said complainants are entitled to relief." He added that it was clear that Mr. and Mrs. Harvey had ample ground and space on their property to raise chickens without interfering with the complainants' use of their property.

Judge Fraley said he would sign a decree when presented, "directing the respondents to remove forthwith the chicken house from its present location and restraining them from maintaining a chicken house or the raising of chickens within 300 feet of the complainants' property." He also concluded "they will also be enjoined from placing bells on cattle and sheep grazing within the same distance from the complainants' property."

Number Of Anglers Are Still Angling

Although a majority of the boats have been removed from Deep Creek Lake, in anticipation of colder weather, a great many anglers are taking advantage of the unusually warm clear weather to get in some additional fishing according to Cecil C. Edwards, fish culturist assistant. Mr. Edwards has furnished weekly reports on fishing conditions at the lake.

He continues his report with an account of Andy Newman who got his nicest fish of the year, a 20-inch smallmouth bass 4½ pounds, caught on a minnow in the vicinity of Deep Creek Bridge. Another catch was by Mrs. Clifford Phillips, Oakland near the breast of the dam, reporting three chain pickerel measuring 22, 17 and 15½ inches. The big one weighed three pounds and had been tagged with a metal jaw tag when released at Deep Creek bridge early this spring.

Other fish caught during the past few days included: a 24½ inch pickerel, near McHenry, by Charles Paugh, a 20-inch smallmouth bass of 4½ pounds by C. D. Wenzel, Oakland; a 19-inch bass of 3¾ pounds, by Frank Schell, Oakland; a large chain pickerel and large walleye by Charles Shilke, of Bedford, Pa.

We Are Convinced

We are convinced, more than ever, that a large majority of citizens of this county DO NOT want the legal sale of liquor. Since our editorial comment last week we have had many telephone calls and personal contacts with a number of people who agreed heartily with what had been said.

Typical of the remarks was one made this morning by telephone. A lady said she wondered why people come to this dry county from Baltimore and Washington, Pennsylvania and West Virginia to relax along the shores of Deep Creek Lake when they could get what they want at all these other places. Evidently they don't come here for that reason.

She referred to a remark by Dr. Baumgartner, made at the open meeting at Point View Inn September 25. He had said if liquor was available legally vacationers in the county would not have to travel to nearby counties to 'get what they want'."

Another one had suggested that if the need was so pressing, "they can move to Terra Alta."

All in all, it was a revealing week. People who don't want legal sale of liquor outnumber those who do by more than two to one. So why can't these "die-hards" apply their energies to boosting our climate and other advantages just as they actually are. Nobody kicked about business conditions this year. Business men were well pleased with the results.

Letter to the Editor

Editor, The Republican,

I would like to comment more on the letter by Mr. Beachy, on Daylight Saving Time. I appreciate his courage to open the subject we parents in Garrett County have objected to. True we voted against it by a majority, yet a few saw fit to do just the opposite. What is the use of voting as we see fit—a priceless heritage—if some can change after a majority votes for a law?

In reference to the recent bus tragedy. Before another similar one can happen, let us parents make ourselves heard, not to court hardships on parents, but to give our children a break. Ask any bus driver who goes into remote communities what condition a first grader is in at 6 o'clock in the morning. No matter if we set up or back, or stop the clocks altogether, there will always be the same hours in a day, one thing man will never be able to change.

Let's do something about it. If the majority favors our schools on Eastern Standard Time. They should be. The responsibility is ours. Daylight Saving Time should have been done away with before this awful bus accident. Think of our precious children, our citizens of tomorrow. Eastern Standard Time would be a benefit and safety too. Don't sit back with folded hands, but all work to see that the foolishness of Daylight Saving Time is not in our schools. Mr. Beachy is right, let's give it serious thought.

Named Honor Unit

The senior High school chapter Future Homemakers of America of Northern High school was named as one of four chapters in the region as an honor chapter. The award was made for reaching all goals set out by the state organization. The Northern High junior F. H. A. missed a similar award by a narrow margin, it was noted.

The two units and the senior high unit from Southern attended the regional meeting at Flintstone last Saturday along with instructors, Mrs. George Hanst, Mrs. Percy Lawton and Mrs. Glenn Randol.

Judy Minick represented the senior high F. H. A. at Northern, while Sharon Kisner and Judy Reichenbecher represented the junior high group.

The national theme of F. H. A. is "A Blueprint for Action," and the next three years will emphasize the teen-ager as a consumer.

Those attending the meeting from Washington, Allegany and Garrett county chapters heard reports, participated in an installation service and had a panel discussion on topics of interest to the teen-ager with audience participation. A skit was presented on consumer education.

children, that more adequate health facilities had helped with health problems, and that the public library, bookmobile and branch library had brought good reading to the children; that better roads had made possible travel to larger centers of recreation.

Services for youth listed included teen age center, boy scout groups, 4-H clubs, church sponsored activities, school projects in the recreational field; the health department with services for clinics of various kinds, and protective services for children in health fields, in the medical field; foster care for children, adoption placement, financial aid to needy families, and other services in the area of social welfare.

Needed services suggested included trade school development, preparatory school or junior college; more planning for over-all county needs of children; adult education for parents toward better understanding of their children; adequate counseling service for children and youth; strengthening of schools, churches, homes, making them centers of guidance for children.

The group felt the need of adults giving aim, direction and training to children for purposeful living, giving opportunties to develop skills, hobbies that are creative, instill in children respect for authority and for other people's rights.

Compiling these reports were Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, Bittinger, chairman; Associate Judge Nell Fraley, The Rev. John Kline, Mrs. Charles Strauss, Mrs. Earlene Evans, John Forman, Paul Muha, Carlton Knox, Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Robert W. Stemple, Mrs. Robert T. Hoffman, Miss Earlene Wise, Ralph Buckel, Jr., James E. Frantz, and Mrs. Lois Mosser.

These reports were presented to the Maryland Commission for the prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency and precedes a meeting of the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth, set for October 19 and 20, in Baltimore. A report on Maryland will be sent to the National White House conference committee.

A statistical report was presented to those attending the meeting by James E. Frantz, sheriff, in regard to juveniles detained in the county jail in the past two years: 1958, 7; 1959, 4; ages ranging from 13 to 15. Seven were committed to training schools, 3 were released and one remains in jail.

They were commited for non-attendance in school, larceny, and being incorrigible. Frantz reported most of the juveniles come from the poorer type homes, some split by separation. He felt parents were to blame for a large percentage of delinquency and he listed these as the reasons: parents leaving to roam the streets and to stay out for a good time, leaving children until all hours of the night; drinking to excess, not showing enough interested in their children's activities in school, boy and girl scouting, church and other areas.

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE BIBLE AND YOU

By GEORGE PECK

(Editor's Note: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

The theme for this year's National Bible Week, to be observed October 19-25, is "The Bible and You." This is the event which has been sponsored each year since 1941 by the Laymen's National Committee, an inter-faith, non-political, non-profit organization dedicated to the proposition that America was founded on man's consciousness of God, man's daily labor and the fruits therefrom.

The theme, "The Bible and You," is a most apt and fortunate choice at this particular time. Never in history has man stood in such need of the comfort and solace which lie between the covers of God's Holy Book—The Bible. The world sits on the brink of what can develop into a war that would utterly destroy it. These are most trying times. We are living in a haze of constant tension, in a world where the dark thunder-clouds of war hang over the horizon and seemingly refuse to move on. There is an ever-present threat of disaster that could result in the complete destruction of the civilization laboriously built up over an era of many centuries.

Serving as National Chairman for 1959 National Bible Week is H. E. Humphreys, Jr., Chairman of the Board, the United States Rubber Company. In accepting this important assignment, Mr. Humphreys had this to say:

"We need spiritual and moral guidance today more than ever before.

"Our day-to-day problems sometimes seem to overwhelm us. The space age poses questions we do not fully understand. And all around us we see evidence of moral irresponsibility, tempting us to ignore the religious principles we were taught to follow.

"There is no better guide, no better set of principles or source of inner strength than the Holy Bible. It is the answer for us as individuals, as a society, and as a world searching for the truth."

At about the time Mr. Humphreys agreed to act as National Chairman of 1959 National Bible Week, he received another invitation. This came from his friend, Donald I. Rogers, whose column, "Wall Street, U. S. A." appears regularly in the New York Herald Tribune—to do a guest column while he, Rogers, was on vacation.

Mr. Humphreys accepted this further assignment because it afforded him an excellent opportunity to publicize National Bible Week in one of America's greatest newspapers. In this guest column he stated that he'd been in a quandry about accepting the National Bible Week Chairmanship, because he frankly admitted he is no expert on the Bible. He did accept because he believes, like many of his fellow business executives, that an application of religious principles is necessary to the successful conduct of business. In part here is what Mr. Humphreys had to say in this guest column:

"Today its (The Bible's) teachings carry more weight than ever before. The space age poses questions we do not fully understand. The nuclear race has us sitting at the edge of potential extinction. And the propaganda mills of communism blast our ears with that most tiresome statement: "Religion is the opiate of the people."

"We hasten to remind the Soviet rulers of a quotation from an early Tribune editor, Horace Greeley: "It is impossible to mentally or socially enslave a Bible-reading people. The principles of the Bible are the groundwork of human freedom."

" . . . Within ourselves we fight a constant battle against moral irresponsibility, the temptation to cheat just a little and the ever-eroding philosophy of trying to get something for nothing.

"We search for the simple, multi-purpose pill, one that will solve all the problems that sometimes seem to overwhelm us. We finally conclude that there is no such miracle drug.

"We are drawn again to the Holy Bible for spiritual and moral guidance, inner strength and the best set of principles the business man, or any man, will ever find."

Well said, Mr. Humphreys! The Laymen's National Committee joins with you in urging all within our fifty states and in the ten provinces of our sister Dominion of Canada—if they are not already doing so—to put the Bible to work. A most opportune time to start such a wise and helpful procedure will be during 1959 National Bible Week, October 19-25.

Verily, "The Bible and You" makes an unbeatable combination!

Nowadays physicians have the power to perform seeming miracles. They prescribe medicines that can be depended upon to accomplish a definite result. This ability to cure has been gained by years of studying to learn the knowledge required to properly diagnose and treat sickness.
Yet some door-to-door peddlers often presume to tell people the food supplements they sell will cure. Without medical knowledge such advice is worthless and even harmful. Don't be misled. Depend on your physician's advice and the really potent vitamins and medicines he will prescribe.

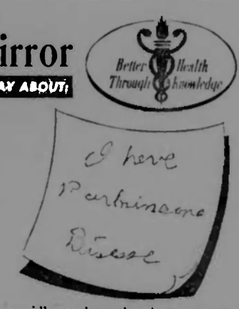
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Encouragement for Victims of Parkinson's Disease

- Stress and Breakdowns
- Tic Douloureux



Q. Would you please discuss the latest treatment for Parkinson's disease? Can a person use home treatment such as eating certain foods?—S.

A. Treatment of Parkinson's disease (paralysis agitans or shaking palsy) is based primarily on the use of drugs to help overcome the symptoms. Unfortunately, no drug—let alone diet—has yet been developed that will permanently halt the disease. Within the last 20 years or so doctors have been cautiously exploring the use of certain surgical procedures to modify the disabling symptoms of Parkinson's disease. Some good results have been obtained but surgical treatment is regarded as more or less experimental by many physicians. This is not to say that nothing can be done for people with paralysis agitans. Even though drug treatment isn't perfect, most patients can be helped.

Q. Do doctors know why some men break down mentally under stress conditions and others don't? Are there two kinds of males — "weaklings" and "men?"

A. Results of studies conducted during World War II show that certain groups are more likely to break down under stress than others. For example, National Guard troops broke down most rapidly, and regular Army troops least rapidly. This may have been a matter of training. Men who had previously experienced emotional or mental trouble broke down more rapidly than those who had not experienced psychiatric disturbances before entering the Army. Men who had gone A.W.O.L. broke down more readily than those with good Army records. The doctors pointed out, however, that everyone has a breaking point. It is a myth that only weaklings break down psychologically, and that men with the will to do so can keep going indefinitely.

Q. What is the cause of tic douloureux and what is the treatment?

A. The cause of tic douloureux (trigeminal neuralgia) is unknown. The facial pain is very severe. Treatment consists of surgery or alcohol injections to "kill" the involved nerve. Doctors have recently reported success in treating tic douloureux with a drug primarily used in the management of epilepsy. Why the anti-epileptic agent is helpful in tic douloureux isn't yet known.

Capital Comment

By JOHN R. FOLEY
Congressman, 6th District

Many different standards can be applied to measure the First Session of the 86th Congress. There's the time standard—141 days in Session for the House, with 527 hours and 8 minutes on the Floor of the House of Representatives. There's the legislative standard—10,676 measures introduced in the House, including 9,299 bills, 1,090 measures reported by the Committees, with 1,142 passed by the House, including Senate Bills.

But after the legislative mill has ground the grist, the new product, laws on the statute books, adds to 289 public bills and 185 private bills.

Finally, there's the true test—whether essential remedies have been enacted in response to the demonstated economic, social and political needs of our 1959 conditions. This test you apply as a judge in the court of public opinion. Keep in mind that progress has been made, but much work remains to be done.

All measures not finally acted upon during this First Session are automatically carried over the next year for action in the Second Session. This means that the C & O Bill, now before the Rules Committee, will be reached early—in January or February. Also, the Antietam Bill will move fast—with final action to be taken in the early months of the next session. upon during this First Session are early months of the next session. I confidently expect passage of both bills.

From a legislative standpoint, 55 public bills, 14 private bills and 5 resolutions were introduced by me. Of these, six public and one private bill became law. Certain provisions of three public bills were enacted as parts of other bills. In addition, hearings were held on seven public bills with the C & O Bill reported to the Rules Committee. In connection with "attention to business", of the 176 recorded votes and roll calls in the House, you will find me recorded in 170—a 96.5% attendance record.

Previously my votes on the important labor legislation were set forth and explained. As a follow up report, you know by now the Joint Senate-House Conferees after the third longest conference in history agreed on a bill. This passed the Senate on September 3, by a vote of 95-2. It passed the House, September 4, by a 352-52 vote. I voted for the conference report, thereby carrying out my public pledge of 1958 to support internal union reform legislation. The President recently signed the bill into law. However, you can expect that there will be early efforts made to correct certain defects that already have been brought to light. Over the long run, there are certain to be amendments as experience discloses such needed changes.

Work of Congress Continues

The work of the Congress does not come to a complete halt between sessions. A number of vitally important hearings are scheduled to take place during the adjournment period. Two of significant interest to all will be held by Senate sub-committees; the other by the House Ways and Means Committee. The problems of the aged in all facets will be examined by Senator McNamara in hearings throughout the country. Senator Kefauver is to conduct an investigation into the pricing system prevailing in the drug industry. The Social Security system will be under the scrutiny of the Ways and Means Committee.

Helicopter Bought By Coal Company

The Moran Coal Company of Westernport has purchased a helicopter which will be used in conjunction with the firm's strip mining operations in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Donald Moran, one of the partners, is learning to operate the aircraft which was bought from a firm in Oklahama. The hangar at present is located at the Moran Trucking company garage between Westernport and McCoole.

The company has strip mine operations in the vicinity of Westernport and Barton and in the Deep Creek Lake area in this county.

Moran said the helicopter would facilitate traveling from one strip mine operation to another and would be useful in getting machinery parts in Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

Hear Mrs. Scheinhart At Democratic Dinner

Some forty people were on hand to hear Mrs. Margaret Schweinhart address a dinner meeting of Democratic Women Monday night at the Mt. Lake hotel. Mrs. Schweinhart, member of the House of Delegates from Montgomery county, spoke on "How to use our influence effectively in having legislation passed."

She touched upon problems of the Inland Game and Fish commission and the state planning commission. She also touched on problems of the aging with regard to the mental health problems. She said too many old people were being committed to state mental hospital who were just senile. She said these people could be taken care of in nursing homes.

She declared a need for more forestry camps such as had been established in this county.

Accompanying Mrs. Schweinhart to the county was Mrs. Alice Hostetler, member of the State Central committee from Montgomery county. Among others attending were Sen. Senator Bernard L. Gonder, Elbert Buckel, House of Delegates; Etra Garletts, County Commissioner; Lewis Hutsom, chairman of the Democratic State Central committee, and Harry Seggie, newly appointed member to the hospital board.

Top DHIA Cows Are Artifically Bred

Forty-two of the DHIA tested cows in the county were recently checked to determine the percentage of those artificially sired and according to the tabulation 25 of the 42, or 59 percent, are the result of artificial breeding. Ten of the cows, or 24 percent, were sired by farm bulls. Seven cows, or 17 percent, had no record of sires.

Of the 25 artificial insemination daughters in the survey, 19 were sired by bulls of the Maryland Artificial Breeding cooperative, with 14 different bulls being used.

Thirteen different herds were represented and they were from the farms of Simon Tice, Robert Buckel, Raymond Schrock, Clark Yoder, Oren Bender, Crist Yoder, John Wilson, Ross Crowe, C. W. Wagner, Jr., Highland Park Dairy, Sanders Brothers, Gerald Glotfelty and Claude Wagner, Sr.

The study was conducted by Barry Carr, assistant county agent.

Sandy now holds the county production record for a four-year old cow with 15,570 lbs. of milk and 773 pounds of fat in 305 days of milking. She also holds a record for 365 days milking with 14,130 pounds of milk and 816 pounds of fat.

Mr. Tice reported that Sandy just completed her third successive lactation in which she has produced over 800 pounds of fat in less than 365 days. Her latest 305-day record totaled 15,570 pounds of milk and 934 pounds of fat.

Sandy was shired by the G-28 Guernsey bull of the Maryland Artificial Breeding cooperative.

A number of readers have verified last week's old photo as that of the First National Bank of Friendsville, immediately after its construction. However, inquiry among several longtime residents of the area has failed to establish the exact date. The building was remodeled several years ago, apparently for the first time since its construction.

This week's picture, again from the collection of E. W. Adams, is interesting. While no date is indicated, it is obvious that the occasion was a Fourth of July parade on Second street. A number of the buildings are familiar, some still standing.

The long, one story building in the center of the picture can be identified, on the orginal photograph, as a bowling alley—probably the first in Oakland. Also visible is the old wooden walkway along Wilson creek and in the background is a boardwalk paralleling the railroad tracks.

In later years, it is thought the bowling alley was moved back from the location shown in the picture, and was operated by Calvin Meahorn.

In the last glow of the sunset, this sailboat seems to be alone in the vastness of the sea. And yet it isn't. Were this boat suddenly to get into trouble, helping hands would swiftly come to the rescue.

So it is with life. At times you may feel very much alone—yet in reality you are not. For if you didn't have a single friend in the world, you would have the Church.

The Church welcomes everyone—and that's a pretty big thing when you stop to think about it. It means that always there is a door open to you. You have but to turn the knob.

Chart a new course for yourself. Start going to church. When you do, you'll find that your voyage through life has acquired fresh purpose.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

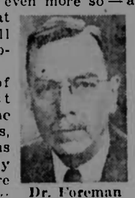
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Acts 2.
Devotional Reading: Acts 2:16-21.

God's Power

Lesson for October 11, 1959

IS GOD only an "oblong blur"? Somebody is said to have reported that every time he tried to think of God, all he could get before his mind's eye was a kind of oblong blur. If God is as dim and shadowy as that, then the Holy Spirit must be even more so — a blur so dim that one cannot tell whether is is oblong or not.



Dr. Foreman

The story of the earliest Christians, in the book of Acts, does not tell us all about the Holy Spirit that there is for us to know; it does not by any means clear up all the mysteries. But it does help us to understand a few important truths about the Holy Spirit.

The Spirit of God

It makes no real difference whether we speak of the Holy Spirit or the Spirit of God. The Holy Spirit is God's Spirit, and only the Spirit of God is the completely Holy Spirit. A simple definition of the Holy Spirit is this: God at work in the life of man. The Spirit is not a messenger from God, and not an "influence" — as when we say that a young man has the "spirit" of his father, or that the "spirit" of a school is to be seen in all the students. The Spirit of God is God, God here-and-now, God-in-us. The first Christians did not understand this till after the Spirit came on the day of Pentecost (one of the great Jewish festivals). They had been brought up as Jews, and Jews of that time never supposed that God's Spirit was for every one, but only for a very few exceptional persons. It was at Pentecost that they learned that the Spirit is to be "poured out on ALL flesh," that is to say all sorts and conditions of men. They recognized the coming of the Spirit as the coming of God in a new and mighty way. No one is ever nearer to God than he is to the Holy Spirit.

What the Holy Spirit Is Not

When an African chief is converted, it takes some persuading to induce him to give up all his magic gadgets. Even the humblest and poorest African savage has a few such gadgets, but a big chief will have them all. He has a variety of charms—it may be a thing to hang around his neck, or in his belt, or on his wrist, or otherwise — one to ward off lightning, and another to protect him from his enemies, and another to make him live a long time, and one to bring him many boy children. Now the Holy Spirit is not that kind of thing at all.

The Holy Spirit (as the New Testament shows) does not guarantee freedom from suffering. We know Christ had the Holy Spirit always in him, but yet he suffered terribly. All the Apostles felt the presence of the Spirit, yet all of them, tradition tells us, died martyrs' deaths. The Holy Spirit does not guarantee that the spiritual person will never make mistakes. There are many mistakes recorded in the New Testament committed by persons who had surely received the Spirit. More than this, the Holy Spirit is not a kind of magic charm to keep the wearer from sin. We know that Simon Peter received the Holy Spirit. But wo also know that he was not always free from sin after that. (See Galatians 2:11-14.)

Power—For What?

The Holy Spirit, in the Bible, is always associated with power. Jesus himself had said to his disciples, "you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you." Now the Christians in Jerusalem had some kinds of power at Pentecost which most of them never seem to have had again: it came like a blazing wind and did not come again. Speaking with "tongues," for instance. But there was another and more lasting power, the power to "witness" to Christ. This always includes three things: the power to grow more like Christ; the power to go on his business, in his name; and the power to show by testimony and by living, what it means to be a people called by Christ's name. If a "Christian" is not growing nor going nor showing, one wonders if he has ever known the Spirit's power.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear son, Alvy Deems, of Kingwood, W. Va., who passed away two years ago today, October 14, 1959.

Life is a stairsteps of memories
When evening shadows are falling
And I am sitting all alone
In my heart comes a longing if you were only here.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hill too hard to climb.
So he gently closed your eyes and whispered
Peace be thine.
Your mother,

Safety In The Home Is Homemaker Topic

"Safety in the Home," was the topic discussed by A. G. Gortner, president of the Oakland Fire Department at the annual Achievement Day program of County Homemakers clubs held last Thursday at Accident. Some one hundred thirty-five persons attended.

Mr. Gortner told the group it was especially important to have well constructed chimneys that have places to remove soot. He advised people to plan to clean their chimneys if they burn much wood.

He brought out that curious onlookers at a fire prevent firemen from doing their work efficiently and sometimes keep fire fighters from reaching the scene of the fire because of parked automobiles on the highways. Mr. Gortner stressed that the men who are volunteer firemen are really dedicated to helping others. They are called upon at all hours of the day and night and serve without pay. Many questions were asked about the work of firemen, Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent, stated.

Another speaker at the meeting was Mrs. Earl Boakner director of district 1, State Council of Homemakers. She explained the purpose of her office and the state organization. Miss Evelyn Scott, assistant state leader for the north and western counties, spoke on the Educational programs of the homemaker clubs. She pointed out that projects should be studied in relation to families, not as separate units. She said the work of the standing committees was a means of reaching into community life and understanding the life of other countries.

Two officers were elected who will take office the first of the year. They were Mrs. Jonas Beachy, vice-president; Mrs. Martin Tressler, secretary. Members of Casselman Valley club of Grantsville will be hostesses for Achievement Day next year.

Cited To Appear

Six persons were cited to appear before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on October 12, for failing to secure licenses for their dogs.

They were listed by the County Commissioners' office as Bernadine Kitzmiller, route 2, Oakland; Simon Swartzentruber, Emanuel Miller, J. D. Snyder, E. G. Kight, Ray Beeghley, all of Oakland.

Southern Shuts Out St. Francis 20-0

Southern High Highlanders scored their first victory of the season last Friday afternoon on the local gridiron by turning back St. Francis High of Morgantown, W. Va., 20 to 0.

Southern tallied twice in the second period and again in the third quarter to rack up the victory. Quarterback Dick Stuck passed 10 yards to end John Prince for the first touchdown and then struck again through the air on a 38-yard scoring aerial to Jim Haines for the second six-pointer. Bill Duling added the point on a plunge after the score and Terry Colaw scored the first extra point on a run.

In the third period Keith Butler smacked over from the three-yard line to climax a 50-yard Southern drive.

Southern thus gained revenge for the 6-0 setback from St. Francis last year. St. Francis put together only one real threat to dent the end zone, but played most of the game in Southern's territory.

Playing for Southern were Haines, Bolyard, Terrant, Cerne, Prince, Bergner, R. Colaw, Stuck, Duling, T. Colaw and Butler, and a number of substitutes.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

EDWARD G. [illegible] of Oak Park Church of the Brethren DO THIS IN REMEMBRANCE OF ME

[illegible] Sunday

Some churches of the Body of Christ entered into a more elaborate celebration of the Lord's Supper than did others. They sought to reproduce all the places of the Lord's Supper as enacted in that Upper Room when Jesus had the Last Fellowship meal with his disciples for they consider the whole event the ceremony included in the command.

But one thing all these communicants had in common, namely the ceremony of the communion or eucharist. The fact that among some Christians the eucharist is held as the climaxing part of a larger service does not detract from its significance but rather adds to its solemnity.

In partaking of these sacred emblems we again commemorated the death of our Lord. "For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord's death till he come." I Corinthians 11:26. It is also a recollection of the redemption which we have received. The great burden of drawing guilt has been removed because our sins are now forgiven. The communion symbolized this central fact of the gospel.

It is, moreover, a partaking now of the life which Christ gives to those who belong to him. It is an appropriation of his energy and influence. Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his blood ye have not life in you. He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood hath eternal life and I will raise him up at the last day." John 6:53-56.

The hope of communicants all over celebrate the Lord's death and passion left with us as a last service to our fellowmen. A new command Love one another, and Jesus said that men would know that we have one another because we have loved one another. By this shall men know that we are my disciples if we have love one to another." John 13:35.

This is of course the essence of the value of a worldwide communion. not that we have communion worldwide brothers during the service only but that we have them always, that we will exhange

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, William Emerson Thomas, Jr., whom God called home twelve years ago, October 6, 1947.
You left behind some broken hearts
That loved you so sincere
That never did and never will Forget you, Emerson dear.
Looking back with memories
Along the road we trod
We bless the years we had with him
And leave the rest to God.
Dear God please take this message
To our loved one in Heaven above.
Tell him that we miss him

Two Counties Face Worst Road Record

Allegany and Garrett counties, usually an area most free from automobile accidents, this year is faced with the worst accident record in history.

Records compiled at the LaVale police barracks show that in the first nine months of 1959 a total of 26 persons have met death on highways in the two counties. Of the total, one-half or 13, occurred during September.

Although the figure may be alarming, a look at the statistics reveals seven of the deaths involved only one accident—the school bus-train accident September 10, at Mt. Lake Park. Eight other fatilities occurred in this county for a total of fifteen for the year.

The city of Cumberland has had three persons killed in motor vehicle accidents. Eleven of the fatal accidents were attributed to "cause unknown" by the state police. This cause is listed by troopers when there is no motor vehicle violation apparent and the cause of the crash is not known.

Four met death because they were in cars which were exceeding 70 miles per hour. Drunken drivers claimed the lives of two men. Other causes listed were improper passing, reckless driving, failing to keep right of the center of the highway and failing to give the right of way.

Killed in the bus-train crash were Lee Carl Hoffman, 11; Nancy Lee Harvey, 12; Merle Brown Harvey, Jr., 10; Shirley Ann Lee, 12; Richard Hinkle, 11; Nancy Naoml Deems, 14; and Janet Marlene Deems, 12.

Harry Paul Smith, Cumberland, died in Garrett County Memorial hospital following a one-car crash on the Turkey Neck road September 15.

The other fatal accident for this county in September was that of Charles Andrew Friend, 39, of star route, Oakland, who died instantly when struck by a car near Mt. Lake Park.

Killed last January 28 was Mona Grace Brown, 53, of Oak street, Oakland, killed instantly when struck by a car in Oakland. During the month of February Richard S. Browning, 74, of Deer Park, on St. Valentine's Day, was killed one mile west of Deer Park.

Killed on April 6 was James McKenzie, 86, Frostburg, who was struck by a car, wto miles west of Frostburg, on U. S. route 40. Three days later Gerald Eugene Gank, 43, Crellin, died of injuries sustained when he wrecked his auto three miles west of Oakland. On June 27 Ira Everett Paugh, 28, of Vindex, died after the car in which he was riding crashed near Kitzmiller on June 27.

In July Dianne Elaine Durst, 3, of Grantsville, was killed when struck by a farm tractor on the farm of Edward L. Durst, in this county.

God's Wonderful Gift - - -

Nine people out of ten, if asked to name the nation's two greatest presidents, would reply: "George Washington and Abraham Lincoln."

Because of the high regard and affection in which these two great presidents are held, anything they said during their lifetimes is of paramount importance. As National Bible Week is to be observed October 19 to 25, we looked up what they had to say about the Bible. Here is what the Father of our Country said:

"Above all, the Bible's pure and benign light of Revelation has had a meliorating influence on mankind, and increased the blessings of society."

"In regard to the Great Book," said the Great Emancipator, "I have only this to say. It is the best gift which God has given to man.....But for this Book we could not know right from wrong. All those things desirable to man are contained in it."

A further search revealed that virtually every one of our presidents up to and including President Eisenhower has been warm in his praise of the Bible and has recommended a regular reading of it.

The Laymen's National Committee, the all-faiths organization that sponsors National Bible Week each year, urges all to heed the admonitions of our presidents by making a special effort during the week October 19-25 to awaken, reawaken, or intensify their interest in God's Holy Book—the Bible.

Our country was founded upon the precepts of God and Jesus Christ. What an error in judgment for learned judges to declare it unconstitutional in a number of instances to read the Bible in our schools, to prevent any mention of God or religion in public institutions. Surely the people who founded this government giving freedom of expression, did not have this in mind when they formed our constitution. If it keeps on some of these days some atheistic minded organization will try to have removed from our coins, "In God We Trust." That would indeed be a sad day.

Ron Colaw tallied the first three six-pointers for the Highlanders on runs of five yards and two from a yard out, in the first quarter. Terry Colaw went 35 yards on a pass from Dick Stuck for the fourth counter.

The Highlanders, who held a 26-0 lead at intermission, got their final pair of TDs in the last quarter with Butler bulling over from seven yards out and Prince going 27 yards on the second scoring pass from Stuck.

The Huskies, who have lost five straight games this year, got their pair of touchdowns in the third and fourth periods, both on passes by quarterback Jim McKenzie to Bill Georg. He tossed a ten-yarder to Georg with the Northern halfback scampering 69 yards for the first score. On the same type pass he tossed him another when Southern's second team was in the game, and ran 60 yards to score.

Simmons Boy Struck By Car; Both Legs Broken Above Knees

A three-year-old boy was seriously injured last Saturday morning when he was struck by an automobile on Fourth street in Oakland.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital was Bryan R. Simmons, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Simmons and grandson of Julius B. Littman. He suffered fractures of both legs above the knees and was bruised about his entire body. His condition was reported as much improved Wednesday morning, but the child remains in traction.

Tfc. Robert D. Henline, of the Maryland State Police, investigated. The child was struck by an automobile being driven by Georgia Ann Glotfelty, 17, north of Oakland. The vehicle was owned by Mrs. Britten Martin, Mt. Lake Park. Trooper Henline said the child was walking south on the street when he suddenly started to cross the highway and stepped into the path of the car.

The child's mother is the former Donna Littman. The Simmons family had returned this summer from a two-year stay in Ethiopia and were arranging for a return trip to that country in November. Mr. Simmons, who is a ground water geologist for the U. S. Operation Mission under the International Conperation association, is now endeavoring to get an extension of his vacation time.

Hillis Sisler, 24, driver of the automobile, received a cut above the eye and was hospitalized for a short time but released. They are sons of Jasper Sisler and Mrs. Oscar Upnold.

A fourth grade student in the Friendsville school, Constance Sines, turned in an account of a rocket firing episode at the school on Monday, October 5. The story is word for word, as follows:

"Mr. Winston Teats, father of Gary Teats, room 5, grade 4, shot a toy rocket off at school today. The rocket went about fifty feet high. It was a two-stage rocket and it looked like a real one in the air. Mr. Teats used water force to start the rocket off.

"Our principal let the whole school out to watch.

"We enjoyed the demonstration very much as we are studying about rockets and outer space in science."

Red Cross Seeks Annual Fund Quota

The annual American Red Cross campaign for funds is under way this month with the anticipation that $3,000 will be raised to carry on the work of the organization locally and nationally.

Fifty cents of each dollar goes to National headquarters and fifty cents is retained by the local chapter.

Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, county chairman, pointed out that the Red Cross is always on hand when disaster occurrs and recalled a few years ago when the tornado went through Oakland that Red Cross workers came immediately. She said they had also come when there was a fire on the corner of Alder and Second street and at other times.

She also pointed out the work that the bloodmobile unit does in the county, and the fact that such a service costs money to operate. The Garrett county chapter pays approximately $700 a year for this service, in addition to the volunteer work of Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman, the doctors, nurses, the donors, volunteer workers and many others. She said "we just can't let them down."

Other services offered are help to the boys in the service and the World War veterans.

Must Scale Down Cost Of Addition At Bloomington

Figures On 3-Room Addition Must Be Studied

With the cost estimate for the Bloomington School project above the $70,000 figure recommended by the Board of Education, steps are being taken to bring the two figures in accord, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, following a regular meeting of the Board.

Mr. Hawkins said the preliminary drawings were complete. A meeting has been arranged for a meeting with the architect on Monday, October 19, to study ways by which the proposed building cost could be kept within the limits of the money to be appropriated. The board is planning a three classroom addition with an all-purpose basement.

Other business was conducted by the Board members at the Tuesday session:

Approved purchase of new 42-passenger buses by Ernest Durst and Aaron Bittinger, to replace old ones now in use, increasing pupil capacity.

The board named Troy Gnegy to succeed Leroy Campbell as bus driver for Boiling Spring-Deer Park run. There were twelve applicants.

Mr. Hawkins told the board that nearly all of the major fire hazards in school buildings as reported by the state fire marshal a year ago had been corrected. Items not yet corrected were of a minor nature, he said, and reported that work was being done to correct all of them as quickly as possible.

Mr. Hawkins told the board that to the best of his knowledge the Nationwide Insurance company was making plans for a speedy adjustment on all insurance claims growing out of the school bus-train accident.

Mr. Hawkins also reported on a visit of Dr. Willard S. Elbree, educator from Columbia university and state department instructional supervisors for two days last week. The visit was a follow-up of the survey report given by the same people one year ago. Dr. Elsbree, chairman, reported numerous improvements in the educational program. A complete written report with recommendations will be given later.

Barn Is Destroyed By Fire; Mail Boxes Mutiliated Near Road

A large barn was destroyed by fire and at least ten rural mail boxes were destroyed in an apparent series of incidents by vandals in the Red Oak section Saturday night, it was reported by one of the residents.

The man said the barn must have been set on fire maliciously as there was no electricity in the barn. It occurred as many of the persons residing in the vicinity were at a church service. In their journey to route 50, the vandal or vandals then proceeded to destroy an entire row of mail boxes, tearing some down, completely demolishing others and carrying some away. The boxes are along a Germania postoffice rural route.

The barn was on a farm recently purchased by Troy Friend, of Friendsville, and was known as the Henry Nine farm. The barn was filled with hay which belonged to Mr. Nine.

Eight hundred four people from the Baltimore and Washington areas arrived in Oakland Sunday around noon for the annual Autumn Glory tour. Some 830 tickets had been sold.

The excursionists were greeted by the Southern High school band upon their arrival. Rain was falling at the time and it appeared that they were in for a gloomy afternoon. However, by the time the buses were well on the road the skies cleared and the sun appeared.

Foods stands sponsored by the Garrett County Turkey Growers, the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion council, were sold out and many gallons of cider were sold by the 4-H booth. Five turkeys were given away, two furnished by the Promotion Council, two by the Chamber of Commerce and one by the Turkey Growers.

The excursionists appeared well pleased with their trip to Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls and the new state park along Deep Creek Lake.

The special train began its return journey shortly after four o'clock.

The program, which has become a favorite with parents, has been worked out with the principal, W. Kenneth Johns.

Following a short business meeting in the gymnasium at 7:30 p. m., parents will follow a typical schedule. "The primary purpose of the program is to help parents and patrons gain a better understanding of the educational opportunities in which Garrett County boys and girls participate during the school year. The program also offers opportunities to raise questions which may be of concern to parents as well as an opportunity to get acquainted with teachers," Mr. Johns stated.

Classes will be about ten minutes in length. Student ushers and receptionists from the Future Teachers of America organization will be on hand to assist visitors in finding classrooms and teachers.

The program is not limited to parents. A special schedule will be arranged for interested persons.

River Bridge Is Closed To Traffic

Barricade Erected Yesterday On Structure—Part Of Town Isolated

With the report of a State Roads engineer that the bridge across the Little Youghiogheny river would not even be recommended for foot traffic, steps were taken yesterday afternoon to barricade the bridge and close it to traffic until some repairs can be made. Just how long this would be was not stated.

The closing of the bridge has cut off all traffic from the Underwood section and isolates a portion of the corporate limits of the town and the Monte Vista road and Cherry creek sections. Many of the heads of families in this area are employed in Oakland.

CLOSED 3 TO 5 DAYS

The three county commissioners and their attorney, Mayor Russell L. Smith of Oakland and the town's attorney met at six o'clock last night and decided to repair the Little Youghiogheny bridge temporarily to where it would support safely a three-ton load and agreed that the county and the town would furnish the necessary labor and that the cost of materials would be equally divided.

It was stated that repairs would be started this morning and that they would take from three to five days to complete. In the meantime the bridge remains closed.

A complete report of the condition of the bridge was sent to the County Roads department yesterday by Albert L. Grubb, chief of the bureau of bridges, State Roads Commission, and in addition to condemning the bridge over the Little Youghiogheny he declared that the overhead bridge over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, on Third street, was inadequate.

The bridge situation all over the county is not good, according to Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor. Paul DeWitt, his roads assistant, said the bridge on the highway from Crellin to Turner-Douglas was not too safe. Likewise the Merrill bridge in the Savage river area was declared unsafe for heavy traffic. The two bridges on the Underwood road are also rather precarious, he said, and several other bridges throughout the county need repairs. Some of these bridges were placed in the early 1900's, he said, and really are not equipped to handle the heavy traffic load of today.

In sending his report to the Roads department, Mr. Grubb stated that the "necessity for immediate action cannot be over-emphasized."

It was determined several weeks ago that the bridge was a responsibility of the town, but the County Commissioners agreed to assume some of the responsibility since much county traffic traveled over it. At some meetings of both the

Car Thieves Caught Near Red House

Three youths who went to Elkins, W. Va., to appear in the Forest Festival parade with the drum and bugle corps from the Boys Industrial school at Pruntytown, attempted to escape but found their flight short-lived.

The trio fled from Elkins to Red House where they were apprehended within 99 minutes after the escape.

The teenagers fled Elkins in a stolen car owned by Roy Weese. In reporting the theft Weese said the gas tank was almost empty. In a few minutes police received a telephone call from a service station stating that a car stopped, bought $4 worth of gasoline and went on without paying the bill. The station attendant gave police the license number and description of the car which matched that of the stolen vehicle.

State police set out for the car. They traveled by Harmaa through Canaan Valley, Davis and Thomas and finally caught sight of the youths two miles over the Maryland state line. The Pruntytown trio increased their speed and hit a bridge on a sharp curve south of Red House. The car was demolished and the three youths were injured as they were thrown into a meadow by the impact.

Suffering from lacerations and other minor injuries the boys were given medical treatment and returned to the Randolph county jail to await formal charges of grand larceny.

The GARRETT NATIONAL BANK IN OAKLAND

Wed at Asher Glade

Miss Doris Gay Umbel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Umbel, became the bride of Ronald Edward Rodeheaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Rodeheaver on Sunday, August 9, at 2 o'clock in a double ring ceremony solemnized in the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren. The Rev. Joseph Lewis, pastor, officiated.

Mrs. Ruth Clister played several selections preceding the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Clister also accompanied Miss Barbara Leber, soloist, in several selections including "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown of white lace over satin with a round neckline and a jacket with three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil fell from a small headpiece of seed pearls, and she wore a string of pearls borrowed from her grandmother. She carried a bouquet of red rosebuds on a white Bible with streamers of ribbon.

Miss Patty Cuppett, cousin of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of light blue lace over satin identical of that of the bride. She wore a small blue headpiece and she carried red rosebuds.

Ward Umbel, brother of the bride served as best man. Wade Evans, cousin of the bride and Andrew DeWitt, cousin of the groom were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a white rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue print dress with white accessories and a white rosebud corsage.

A reception was held in the church basement immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake and decorated with cut flowers of several assortments.

The couple left for Washington, D. C., where they are both employed and are now residing.

(EDITOR'S NOTE George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of the Nation Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

The Committee on Un-American Activities has just completed a study which it calls "The Communist Parcel Operation". This is an operation in the United States, under the direction and control of the Communist regimes of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union, which is netting the Communist movement millions of dollars every year as a tribute levied against the friends and relatives of the subjects of the Kremlin.

Characterizing the parcel operation as blackmail, the Committee points out that the Communist regimes do not permit CARE to operate within the Soviet Union or the satellite countries; that instead the Communist governments maintain agents in the U. S. A who collect exorbitant duties and fees ranging up to 250 percent of the value of the relief parcels sent behind the Iron Curtain by American citizens. The millions of dollars thus collected are used to finance Communist activities within the free world.

A similar operation is conducted in Canada. Under date of April 3, 1958, Mr. Millan Jakubec, president of the Mutual Co-Operation League of Canada, stated in a consultation with the Committee on Un-American Activities that the sum of $20 million to $30 million yearly is collected by Soviet agents in Canada as customs duties on food and clothing parcels sent by Canadian citizens to the Soviet Union and is used to finance the activities of Communists in Canada.

Congressman Francis E. Walter (Dem., Pa.), chairman of the Committee, states that his Committee at first was reluctant to publish the report for fear that the Kremlin might ban the relief parcels to its subjects. Finally, it decided to do so because as Mr. Walters reports:

"The Committee is of the opinion, however, that the millions of dollars in blackmail which the Communist regimes are annually extracting in their parcel operation would weigh heavier in the minds of the masters of the Kremlin that adverse public opinion in the free world."

And the Pennsylvania Congressman added this significant note: "The report reveals additional information in the mountain of evidence established beyond the shadow of a doubt the inhumanity and cruelty of the enemy we face . . ."

This is just one more evidence of the callousness of the Russian leaders. They have never permitted the hunger and poverty of their subjects to be alleviated through the receipts of duty-free gifts of food and clothing. The Communist regime of the Soviet Union needed financial relief which, to the Communist masters, is far more important than the relief of the sufferings of its subjects. Apparently the Kremlin knew, on the basis of its experience prior to World War II, when its subjects faced similar hardships, that the relatives of its subjects living in the United States and Canada would send aid irrespective of the price the Communist regime would extract from them for the privilege of doing so.

It is ironical indeed that these hard-hearted, mercenary, ruthless masters of the Kremlin realize the tender-heartedness and generosity of peoples living in countries whose capitalistic economics they pretend to loath—and proceed forthwith that tender-heartedness and generosity.

No lesser name than ghoul can be used to classify these monsters who trade on the poverty and need of their own subjects. Vulture would likewise be a fitting word to describe a human being who resorts to such crimes against humanity.

Space does not permit here to giving further details regarding this unholy violation of everything that is decent. But should any reader wish to have full information he or she can write to the United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., and request a copy of the 24-page pamphlet "The Communist Parcel Operation," released September 25, 1959.

And one final thought: We wonder if in the conversations which ensued between President Eisenhower and Mr. K, when the latter recently favored (?) the U. S. A with a visit, if this blackmail racket was discussed. If so, then we wonder just what Mr. K had to say in attempting to justify Russia making the misery and hardships of the Russians pay dividends into the Kremlin coffers.

Southern Downs

Ron Colaw carried to the four and Stuck made first down on the one. Ron Colaw scored off tackle. Terry Colaw ran for the extra point.

On the following kickoff Northern failed to gain and punted. Duling gained nine yards and T. Colaw went through the line for the touchdown. Duling ran the extra point.

Northern began to move. A pass from McKenzie to Patton made a first down at midfield but on the next play Keith Butler intercepted a pass.

Duling opened the second quarter with a first down. R. Colaw made another first on the 21. Northern's defense stiffened and threw R. Colaw and T. Colaw for one and six yard losses. Stuck passed to T. Colaw to the five. Stuck lost 9 yards but R. Colaw went to the Northern 1. R. Colaw plunged for the TD on fourth down. T. Colaw failed in try for the extra polut.

Late in the half Southern recovered a fumble on Northern 35. Stuck passed to T. Colaw for touchdown. Duling failed to run extra point. On the second play after kickoff R. Colaw intercepted a pass and ran 34 yards for the TD but this was nullified by a Southern penalty.

After exchanging punts in the third quarter Northern's Jim McKenzie passed to Bill Georg who evaded the Southern secondary and ran for the score. The attempt for extra point failed.

On the first play of the final quarter Butler went over left tackle for another TD. T. Colaw ran the extra point. Duling returned a punt to the Northern 27. On the first play from scrimmage Stuck passed to Prince for the final TD. Stuck passed to Riggs for the extra point.

McKenzie then passed to Georg who ran for the second TD for the Huskies. Garlitz ran the extra point.

It was the second time the Highlanders had won a victory from Northern in four years of football. In 1955 Northern beat the Southern "B" team 39 to 0, it being the Huskies' first year at the sport. The next year they won 21 to 18 by a margin of three points after touchdown, and in 1957 smothered the Highlanders 33 to 0. Last yea rthe Huskies were trimmed 12 to 0 by Southern. This year they were no match for Southern and were unable to give any effective resistance. Two other touchdowns by Southern were nullified by penalties.

The Highlanders pushed over 14 first downs to two for Northern, completed three of five passes, intercepted four of those attempted by Northern and gained 229 yards rushing compared to 60 for Northern. Only in yardage gained in passing did the Huskies outdo Southern, gaining 150 yards in that manner compared to 78 for the winners.

It was the second victory in a row for Southern and gives them a 2-3 record for the season.

Friday night they will journey to Kingwood to play Terra Alta High school under the lights.

Harned & Proudfoot Presents T. V. Show

Harned and Proudfoot, of Oakland Pharmacy's Rexall Drug Store, is cosponsoring the NBC-TV presentation of "Strawberry Blonde" on Sunday, October 18. It will appear on Channels 6, 7 and 12 at 9 p. m., EST.

The hour-long show stars Janet Blair and David Wayne with other TV and movie stars in a dramatic interpretation of this old-favorite story. Sprinkled through it will be the songs so familiar to the period. Edgar Bergen will host the presentation with Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd and his other well-loved charges.

Along with other independent Rexall druggists across the country, Harned and Proudfoot are using the TV play to tell viewers about the Rexall original 1c Sale, October 19 through 24.

During sale days customers can learn what tremendous purchasing power the penny still has. Customers can buy two identical Rexall items for the price of one plus one cent. In addition, special Bonus Buys will also be offered at reduced prices.

As a special service to shoppers, advance shopping list order blanks will be obtainable at Oakland Pharmacy. Harned and Proudfoot. These may be filled out and left at the store prior to the sale. The merchandise is then packed and reserved for the shopper and may be called for at any time during the sale.

The Rexall Fall One-Cent Sale is one of two such sales held each year by Rexall drugstores throughout the United States. It is being widely advertised in newspapers, Sunday newspaper and farm magazines, and on radio and television. —Adv.

The affair is a continuation of Tuesday night's roundtable discussion on the theme "Scouting the Air." At the same time the cubbing scouts had for their theme, "Aesop's Fables," and district leaders held their monthly session. Fauber was in charge of scouters, Eugene Flinn, the cubbers, and George Stuck, district chairman, had the district leaders. L. J. Sacher was in charge of the program. Some twenty-eight persons attended. The next session is set for November 10.

Advice for Tired Mothers

- Polyps
- Foreign Bodies In Ears
- Curbstone Fracture

Q. Can a person be tired all the time without actually being sick? The children get on my nerves and I often feel like throwing in the sponge. Any suggestions?—Mrs. W.

A. Check with your doctor to be sure that nothing is wrong physically. The odds are that you have just run out of steam. In a study of 60 Cleveland mothers who complained of fatigue, only 12 were found to have any organic disease. They often had financial worries and were burdened with housework, club work, fund drives, children and pets. The doctors estimate that in terms of work for the lady of the house, one puppy dog equals about 1½ children; a cat with kittens about 2 children. Tired but otherwise healthy housewives were advised to say "No" to new responsibilities. A new hat might help, said the physicians, especially if it is really fancy. A day off works wonders. See a show or go to a football game, or better still, let someone take the children out and you get a quiet day at home.

Q. I have had hay fever for about 25 years. At first I just sneezed and had a runny nose. Later my nose felt full and doctors removed some polyps. This helped but now they are back again. Is this unusual?

A. No, this is more or less typical. Chronic irritation such as occurs in protracted cases of hay fever seems to favor formation of nasal polyps. The growths have a tendency to recur even when removed under the best circumstances. Surgeons go to great pains in preventing recurrence but try as they may, about one out of four cases eventually turn up with more polyps.

Q. What is the best way to remove foreign bodies such as beads, beans, etc. from a child's ear?

A. The danger of foreign bodies in the ear is mainly in their removal. This is often difficult if the child is nervous and unable to hold the head perfectly still. All in all, it is best to let the physician deal with the problem.

Q. You often see people lift small children by the arm. Isn't this likely to throw the arm out of place?

A. It can, and frequently does, dislocate the elbow. Of 139 children brought to the accident service of one hospital, 22 had "curbstone fracture." Although it is not too difficult for a doctor to get the bone back in place, it makes more sense to lift children in some way other than yanking them up by the arm.

River Bridge Is

Mayor and Town Council and the Commissioners the possibility of obtaining federal aid toward the construction of a new bridge has been discussed and Mr. Grubb considers this in his report.

He said that since considerable time is needed to survey and set up a suitable federal aid project, he suggested in the meantime that the persons responsible should install some supporting bents and otherwise increase the strength of the bridge, and suggested that the railroad be contacted and get their cooperation on repairing the overhead bridge.

An examination and inspection September 24 by two SRC engineers showed the total length of the bridge to be 118 feet with reinforced concrete two beam spans of 18 and 21 feet on each end. The main body has four panels of fifteen feet each.

The engineer said the metal were in fairly sound condition but considerable deterioration noted in the concrete spans. Vacuum or emptiness has occurred to the concrete and in certain of the beams to a considerable degree. He pointed out that in one span deterioration had progressed to such a degree that the reinforcing rods have rusted, bent down and lost their intended position and appeared to be entirely out of tension.

He declared "It is a mystery as to how the failed concrete 'T' beam can continue to carry heavy loads, such as the unloaded school bus and the truck crane of 16 tons" which passed over the bridge just days ago. The engineer presumed that the other two beams in the span were acting beyond their intended load to make up for the deficient third beam.

In regard to the railroad bridge he pointed out it had only a 14-foot roadway width and was posted for a 5-ton safe load. It provides slightly more than 16 feet underclearance. Maryland Public Service Commission regulations require 22 foot minimum.

Possibility Of Repairs

The engineer suggested several things under the category of "feasibility of repairs." He said the concrete beam practically missing could be repaired by jacking of a suitable steel member into action under the remaining concrete and other concrete portions of the structure could be repaired by pneumatic mortar process and restored to practically new condition. Other steel spans could be repaired by welding additional sections. After such repair the structure should still be limited to five tons, he said.

He also suggested a combined repair and strengthening project with supporting bents to be erected at the center of a 20-foot concrete span to increase the capacity of the concrete "T" beams, welding steel plates to truss span floor and removing dead weight from truss span floor. This would give an 8 to 10 ton capacity.

Due to the emergency which he said existed he recommended immediate barricade of the bridge floor, then placing temporary sheres, supports or posts under the failed beam to prevent its collapse. The bridge could then be posted for a minimum gross load of three tons with stern enforcement measures set up to keep heavier loads away. This would mean that school busses still could not cross the bridge.

He recommended that the town and county request cooperation by the railroad and obtain estimates on the other repairs needed.

Federal government appropriated $2,725,000,000 to states for nationwide highway system in fiscal 1961. Maryland was slated to get $19 million.

The American Way

THE AMERICAN WAY

EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

Is Red Russia going to bounce us? I mean is she on the way to catching up to capitalist America in productivity, well-being of her citizens, and in every other way? According to certain prophets of doom, not only will Communist Russia catch up to us in a few years, but she will actually surpass us.

Well, let's see. Westbrook Pegler, who went to Russia with the Nixon party, says the food served in the finest hotel in Moscow is "nauseating garbage." It was the middle of summer, but there were no peas, beans, spinach, asparagus to be found in either the stores or the hotels. Yet Russia uses 43 per cent of her labor force to produce food. We use only about seven per cent of our labor force to raise food — and our surpluses are one of our biggest headaches.

Moscow has built rows and rows of new apartment houses. They are already falling apart — cracked concrete and crumbling bricks. Ralph deToledano, another excellent reporter, said Moscow was the only city he had ever seen which "build its slums new." And it is well to remember that Moscow is the showplace of the communist system in Russia.

A group of California businessmen reported that Soviet industry is at least 20 years behind us. Some Russian plants are so obsolete and unsafe that they would not be able to get a license to operate in the United States. And even if they could, by some inconceivable effort, catch up to us in 20 years, it would be on the assumption that we stood still — remained just as we are to the next 20 years.

Incidentally these businessmen pointed out that it is impossible to believe Red statistics. One American was told that there were 50 million television sets in Russia. But he counted the antennas in Moscow alone, and said the figure was fantastic.

Russia is supposed to have a great new industrial area in the North. Flying 2500 miles over this area, not a single town or road could be seen. There is one spot in Siberia which Red propagandists call "the Chicago of Siberia." Its streets are unpaved. There are some new apartment houses. They have "modern" kitchens — with wood and coal-burning stoves! Russia's top plant for turning out machine tools and heavy machinery is 20 to 30 years behind, not our best plants, but a mere average American plant.

There are no superhighways in Russia. In fact, most of the foods would not be tolerated in America. Actually, Russia has no use for superhighways, because her much-touted industrial system turns out only about 100,000 cars a year. We turn out around five or six million. Even the four-lane road leading to Moscow has big holes and broken-up paving, and its chief traffic consists of trucks.

Communist Russia produces about 55 million tons of steel a year. Its 1965 goal (these goals are seldom achieved) is 91 million tons. United States' steel capacity is around 148 million tons a year. One of the things which always impresses superficial Western observers is Russia's huge hydroelectric plants. But she produces about 230 billion kilowatts hours of electricity — hopes to raise this to 529 billion by 1965. America produces right now 724 billion kilowatt hours of electricity.

Mr. deToledano put the whole story in a sentence or two. He said that by a terrific concentration — of effort, labor and science — the Soviet Union can build rockets and make readnee a jet plane. But taking the system as a whole, it is a backward system — and it has neither the transport, the industrial capacity, nor the trained work-force to fight a long war. There is little incentive to work. In fact, the main incentive, as Mr. deToledano put it, is to work as little as the slave-masters will tolerate. This was confirmed by American workmen who worked side by side with Russians on the United States exhibit in Moscow. It took seven Russians a week to do a job which two Americans do in a half a day.

What does all this prove? It proves that communism and its slave-state cannot compete with freedom and capitalism. The only way Russia can clobber us economically, commercially and industrially is if we water down and dilute our own free system with the welfare-state, government-control gimmicks which are an essential part of the communist-socialist system. Maybe that's what Khrushchev had in mind when he said he "would bury us." He might better have said "You will bury yourselves."

Open Day & Night Third St., Oakland

Wed Saturday in Lutheran Church

The marriage of Miss Lois Grace Swartzentruber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Swartzentruber, of near Oakland, and Lester Oren Bittinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bittinger, High street, Oakland, was performed Saturday evening, October 10, at 7:30 o'clock in a candlelight service in St. Mark's Lutheran church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Ernest Fox, pastor.

The church was decorated with palms and baskets of white pompons and altar vases of white lilies.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a full length white gown of chantilly lace and net over bridal satin. The fitted bodice featured a sabrina neckline with sequins and seed pearls and with long pointed sleeves. Her finger tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her mother, covered with a white orchid surrounded by sweetheart roses.

Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Jerome Mover, who was attired in a street length dress of melon taffeta with chiffon. Bridesmaids were Miss Margaret White, Miss Amanda Dixon, Mrs. Gene Nolte, and Miss Jarlath DeWitt. They were attired in dresses identical to that of the matron of honor, and chose as their colors, lavender, yellow, pink and blue, all with matching chiffon. Their accessories were white, their head bands of velvet matching color to their dresses. They carried contrasting bouquets of fall pompons and rosebuds.

The flower girl, Dani Sue Swartzentruber, niece of the bride, wore a dress of mint green taffeta with white mitts and head band. She carried a basket of rose petals and strew them in the aisle before the bride. Master Harvey Jerome Mover, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer, carrying the bands on a white brocaded satin pillow.

Harland Bittinger, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Delbert Swartzentruber, brother of the bride, Harvey J. Winters and Clayton Winters, Jr., cousins, of the groom and Gene Nolte, of Ohio.

Mrs. Swartzentruber for her daughter's wedding, chose a dress of silver lace over pink satin with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. The mother of the groom wore a dress of nylon lace over taffeta of dusty blue, with American beauty and black accessories. Her corsage was of American beauty rosebuds.

Mrs. Donald R. Sincell played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Jay Bell who sang "I Love You Truly, "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," the latter selection while they knelt at the altar.

A reception was held in the church social room immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table had a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The base of the cake was surrounded with smilax and pink roses and lighted white tapers. Mrs. Harold White and Mrs. Harland Beckman cut and served the wedding cake while Miss Patricia Leighton and Mrs. Wade Beechley served at the punch bowl. Mrs. Myrtle Durben was in charge of the bride's guest book. Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Clarence Spear, Mrs. William DeBerry, Mrs. Ervin Smith, Misses Betty and Harriett Swartzentruber. Mrs. Willard Hauser, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, Mrs. Harry Coddington, Mrs. Charles Durben, Miss Linda Beckman and Miss Carolyn DeBerry.

For a brief honeymoon trip to Pennsylvania the bride wore a grey suit with black accessories and wore a white orchid corsage. They will reside at 105 High street, Oakland.

Power Take-Off Shield Prevents Farm Horror

Picture yourself caught in the whirling power take-off from your tractor with no one around to shut off the power.

It could happen if you were to slip or fall against the power shaft when the shield had been removed.

Serious injury or death often results from failure to keep tractor power take-off shields in place, warns Guy W. Gienger, of the University of Maryland, College of Agriculture.

Farmers who do not have standard power take-off hitches or shields can get information about them from their implement dealers.

Farm machinery dealers have complete instructions on standard hitches and adapters farmers need.

Safety is often neglected in the development of home-made power-driven attachments for tractors. Shielding this type of equipment for safety is a special problem that each user must solve individually.

No piece of farm machinery is complete without adequate shields for all exposed rotating parts, the engineer concluded.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

"The Goodness of God" by D. A. Friend has been presented in memory of Asa B. Friend by Hubert A. Friend. This autobiography, which contains much historical information about the Friendsville community, will be kept for reference use. Books have been given also by E. O. Wonderly.

Mrs. Lonis Michael and Miss Lucretia Boucher have recently presented books to the Grantsville Library.

Hobby and "do-it-yourself" books are always in demand at the library. A recently published book, Margaret Mulac's "Hobbies", assembles a great deal of useful hobby information. The suggested hobbies, more than 100, are divided into four sections: "Things to Make", "Things to Collect", "Things to Learn," and "Things to Do".

Another useful book is Corinne Wells' "Pack Your Leisure with Profit and Pleasure". The handbook describes 136 ways to use leisure hours enjoyably and profitably. Other helpful books include "Creative Hobbies" by Zarchy and "Folk Arts and Crafts" by Ickis.

Numerous books on individual hobbies can be obtained at the library. Among the new titles are "Mosaics: Hobby and Art" by Hendrickson; "From Old Stencils to Silk Screening" by Stephenson; 'Oil Painting for Everyone" by Sater; "Sketching Is Fun with Pencil and Pen' by Fabry; "Enameling on Metal' by Untracht; "Ceramics and How to Decorate Them" by Priolo; and "Coppercraft and Silver Made at Home" by Kramer.

Hobbyists will be interested in seeing the examples of local arts and crafts which will be on display for a short time longer in the large exhibit case.

Welfare Group Has Regional Conference

Persons attending the meetings of region three of the State Conference of Social Welfare expressed interest in attempting to create a family counseling service and in coordinating agencies concerned with social welfare.

The conference was held last Wednesday at Point View Inn, Deep Creek Lake and 65 attended. Dr. Fred H. Anderson, Cumberland attorney, and Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer, Oakland, were co-chairmen.

Miss Caroline Mudd, Department of Social Work, West Virginia University, gave a comprehensive picture of family disorganization in this "nuclear age." In the past, she said, the family was a closely-knit group of several generations, but today the family is small and gradually tends to separate.

Also discussed was the care of elderly people and the situation created by the fact that in today's society women have become emancipated and in many families mothers of small children are holding jobs.

Miss Mudd emphasized that in making changes to meet present-day demands, the program can not go backward. Rather, it was pointed out, the changes must be adapted to the present-day social structure.

Interest was expressed in the family counseling service as a means of preventing family breakdowns. Frederick county representatives said such an agency was being created there. Families with problems would go voluntarily to the agency for help.

Closer cooperation among various social agencies would prevent, among other things, duplications in the aid to needy, and allow one agency which could not comply, to appeal to another to provide a service.

After luncheon some of the group took boat rides on the lake while others were taken on an auto tour of the area.

A panel discussion at which recommendations were made by the counties concluded the meeting.

CROSSROADS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Proverbs	15	19
Monday	Deuteronomy	19	9-10
Tuesday	Psalms	64	1-2
Wednesday	Psalms	119	5-6
Thursday	I Timothy	1	8-9
Friday	Hebrews	10	22-23
Saturday	Mark	1	16-18

Here's what happens when four super-highways meet—a far cry from that simple "plus mark" we used to call an intersection!

Life is becoming more complex, isn't it? No longer is it simply a matter of finding the right road. Today you can't even get on the right road until you find the right approach. And you had better be mighty sure of the direction you want to go, or you'll find yourself speeding away from your destination on a turnpike that permits no U-turn.

As life has become more complex, the value of a deep abiding religious conviction has become more evident. Against a background of confusion and uncertainty the confident assurance of Christian faith is sharply silhouetted.

And the millions who have turned to the Church for truth and guidance have made a thrilling discovery. The Way of Christ is still just as clear, direct, and inspiring as it was to those who heard it first by the Galilean road.

Sharing

Lesson for October 18, 1959

CHRISTIANITY is a religion of sharing, but not all sharing is Christian. Sharing when you have to isn't it, otherwise everybody who pays taxes would be a Christian. Sharing very rarely is hardly it, either, because Christian sharing is a constant habit, not an occasional spasm. Giving away what you don't want, cleaning out your closets and giving to Volunteers the benefit of your junk, is some distance yet from Christian sharing. Sharing things can be Christian; indeed the Apostle John inquires whether we can imagine we have the love of God in us if we do not share with the needy (I John 3:17). But Christian sharing is something over and beyond letting other people use some of the things we call ours, some of the time.

Dr. Foreman

Sharing Christ

It can all be put into two words. At its best and highest, Christian sharing means sharing Christ. But in order to understand those two simple words, put together in that way, we have to do some further thinking. A short story in the book of Acts (chap. 3) helps to make this clear. Peter and John have become such famous men that we forget how poor they actually were. They had been fishermen, and they had been away from their lake a long time. When they told the beggar they had no silver nor gold, they were as good as saying they had nothing but pennies. Yet they gave that beggar something far better than money; they gave him the power of Christ. What happened is recorded as a miracle; and miracles are not in our times granted to most men to perform. Yet sharing Christ is still possible. Observe that the poorest Christian, the one least able to share money or things of any kind, still has what the wealthiest person who is not a Christian lacks: namely Christ.

An Amazing Case

Here is a spectacular case that occurred less than five years ago, a miracle too of a sort. It illustrates what "sharing Christ" can mean. In the city of Philadelphia a foreign student was walking along doing no one any harm. Some young hooligans happened to see him. They had just been talking about how they would get money to go to a dance hall that night. So—being hooligans—they rushed this foreign student and not only took what little money he had, only a dollar or so as the newspapers reported it; but they murdered him then and there. They were arrested, and the State of Pennsylvania took steps to convict them of the murder and execute them. All a familiar pattern, too familiar in big cities. Murder—arrest—conviction—the pen or the chair.

But the astonishing thing happened. The family of the dead student were Koreans, and Christians. They wrote to the authorities in Pennsylvania asking them not to prosecute those boy murderers, but to help them. More than that, this Korean family went to the length of getting up a fund (all by themselves) to be used for the education—ordinary, and also moral and religious, of the boys who had killed their young relative.

Bringing Christ Into It

No doubt many American church people, when they read about that case, felt irritated and maybe even angry. "Those hooligans committed murder, let 'em burn for it. What business have those Koreans bringing religion into it? But that's just the point. They didn't bring "religion" into it, they brought Christ into the situation. That is what sharing Christ means, bringing him into every situation of need. Christ is (we hope) in a church situation, for instance in the worship on Sunday morning. Christ is in the offering we give to missions. But the hard way—and the best way—to share Christ is not to sing about him or to employ others to talk about him. To share Christ is to make every situation, even tragedy and murder—different because you have invited Him to help you help others.

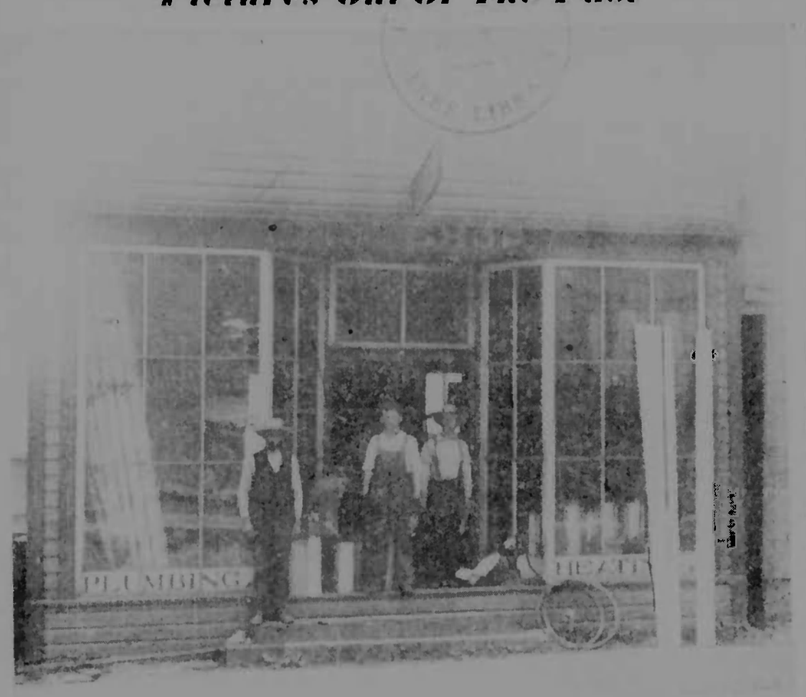
Pictures Out Of The Past



Picture Of Old Tin Shop Looks Familiar

At first glance, the week's old picture looks familiar but it just couldn't be!

The photo of an old tin shop bears a remarkable resemblance to the present establishment of Shirers in Oakland, but this business was established in 1866 and has been in the same family since. And true, in today's picture the name "Grenzer" can be distinguished over the door, apparently that of the proprietor.

No clue as to date or location is given on the photo.

The picture two weeks ago, of the completion of the Friendsville National Bank left the date uncertain. Further information reveals the following, from a newspaper clipping dated March 12, 1903:

The directors of the First National Bank of Friendsville have decided to erect a modern and commodious brick business house [illegible] The building will consist of pressed brick, with stone trimmings and will prove a veritable credit to [illegible] as well as ornament to that section [illegible]

Thus the date of the photo could be 1904.

Kitzmiller School Is Free of Hazards

An examination of the Kitzmiller school district fire protection system on Wednesday by members of the Kitzmiller fire company, directed by Carl Schell, chief, revealed that the building to be free of fire hazards.

Against the suggestion from Fred [illegible] president of the company, Carl Schell, chief, Wendell Wilson, assistant chief, and Robert Fyes and William White, Schell said the fire alarm system appeared to be in excellent condition. Fire extinguishers had been recently recharged, there was no waste paper in dangerous areas. Schell also said the custodian, John Milavec, had done his job well. There had been no advance indication than any inspection would be made.

Schell also announced that the Kitzmiller department was contemplating the purchase of a new pumper truck and that a drive to raise $15,000 had been manufactured this week. The present truck will be converted into a tank truck according to present plan.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

"COME UNTO ME"
THE REV.
W. SHELBY WALTHALL,
Rector St. Matthew's Episcopal Church

"Come unto me, all ye that travail and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you." St. Matthew 11:28.

The whole world is weary and tired. At every hand the hue and cry is that we are so tired we cannot do our jobs properly. Our own pleasures have gotten us down so that even they no longer satisfy our longing. Life seems to hold no thrill for many people. They cannot see new adventures or new horizons. We have just about conquered outer space, and now what is there left for man to seek. We have all the answers to God's world. What is next?

Indeed while we may think we have all the answers to God's world we still do not have the answer to life itself as lived right here on this earth. Man still cannot get along with his neighbor nor even with himself. He still seeks his answer in the telescope, or in the microscope, or in the test tube. We will not find it there. God is not to be found as in a mathematical formula. Love cannot be analyzed like a thread on a slide. Goodness is not something we can conjure up with certain magical words. Righteousness is not had at the end of a college degree.

"Come unto me" were not idle words our blessed Lord uttered to mankind at some misty time in history. He alone has the final answer to our weariness, to our longing, to our seeking after the answer to all of life. We may be weary for a cause. When we take on His yoke the burden will be heavy but it will be a joy to assume because He has given us purpose in life.

"Got a dime? . . . This Want Ad said I'd be able to stop on one!"

Bemoans Court Order Banning Hen House

Elizabeth, Pa.
October 13, 1959

Republican Office
Oakland, Maryland

Dear Editor:

I am really very sorry to hear of the tragedy that struck Garrett County last week, a county on the mountain top with a population of around 21,000. This county is a farming section where every farmer has a road of some kind leading to his farm. He works long, hard hours, rears his family, sends his children to school and, of course, pays taxes. This has been going on since pioneer days of a hundred years or more.

Deep Creek Lake was built about 34 years ago. A beautiful lake, peaceful and enjoyed immeasurably until outlaws came along. For a $3.00 boat license they can kill, steal and what have you? They kill the innocent while swimming and steal the night time for skiing. The day just is not long enough. It is just an accident.

"Carelessness," "Respect," or "My Brother's Keeper" are struck off the book. We are proud of our lake. It could be the best known of the eastern United States. But it will take cooperation of farmers, businesses and everyone in the county to make it so. The climate on the mountain top and lake is equal to those lakes in the High Sierras, which is known the world over. In making Deep Creek Lake a pleasant place, we, as well as vacationers, must strive together to meet this goal.

Farmers have fences along the highway, on their own property, to keep their cattle, sheep, horses and hogs from entering the highway. They also raise chickens and turkeys for a livelihood, build their buildings in convenient locations. The ringing of cow and sheep bells has been ringing for all time. Everything has been going along smoothly and peacefully. Then the ole farmer plods along and must move his fence and out buildings 300 feet from the highway, kills his animals due to the fact that he is not allowed to have bells about their necks. The chickens must be killed because the rooster doesn't dare to crow nor the hen to cackle for their good deeds of the day. The ole farmer is convicted because he has a Judge rather than a jury trial. Garrett County is in the wide open spaces, there is law and order but no ZONING in the country area, the law is laid down and you obey the order.

This particular farmer referred to last week has a chicken and tool house that cost him about $50.00 to build, but it is and has been assessed at $400.00. Isn't he paying revenue on it? It is too valuable to be destroyed. The cows and sheep that have roamed the land up to the highway until recent years, have now and always had about 2 or 3 bells about their neck. They are now and have been for the last couple years fenced about 300 feet from the highway or business establishment. Yet the defendant has been ordered to remove the bells from said cows and sheep which belong to another farmer.

Old Billy Drane wore a salt sack on his back and free ranged his cows and hogs to eat acorns and chestnuts all over this particular territory. He died a few years ago, a natural death, when there was peace in the valley.

The tavern owner dances with glee. He has his business along the highway and carries on into the wee hours of the morning. The juke box can be heard half mile away. A war whoop is left off any hour of the night. He and his family operate a riding academy along a privately owned road in front of the next restaurant, where the sweet smell of horse manure can be smelled as it cooks on a flaming fire. So what? It is all within a day, striving for a livelihood.

We have those "Quick Rich Overnighters" who would like to sneak liquor into the county and they are. (You can take this any way, to your own thinking.) Tourists have left this county to eat breakfast elsewhere for this very reason.

Farmers and farmerettes of Garrett County, "THINK" carefully. We never were run and we never did run. Come on, let's stand up for the good of Garrett County as a whole, and make it what it really can be. The majority of us have been lifetime taxpayers. United we stand, divided we fall.

The Guilt Complex

The feeling of guilt for wrong doing is "standard equipment" for all human beings. This guilt complex is the result of wrong doing. The voice of conscience is always pointing the accusing finger for every misdeed. Not only is he made conscious that he has committed a wrong, but also that he has not behaved himself as he should. There are three ways in which one can face the problem of guilt. First: he can deny that he has done any wrong, but this will only drive the guilt complex into the subsonscious where it will crop up time and again. Second: he may seek to rationalize his sins with the help of psychologists or the things they write. Third: he may believe what God has written about the forgiveness of sins through Jesus Christ. The advice given by psychologists and psychiatrists may bring temporary relief and help us to face others in this life, but it is alone through the remedy prescribed in the Gospel that we will be able to face God in the judgment. The guilt complex doesn't stand a chance with the sinner who has trusted in Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins. Sin is a real problem — face it and accept God's remedy for it. (I John 2:12).

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi Again! Time is sure flying. State Teachers meeting, already! !

I'm very glad that all at Teen Club enjoyed themselves. We had over 180 kids there Friday night and tomorrow night I would like to see the attendance mark go over 250. Bob Oliverio did a very fine job of entertainment last week. We have a new p. a. system and the records sure sound great. We had teenagers from Aurora and one adult accompanied them. I'm real pleased that they could come down and I would like to see a representative group of 20 or more. There is a bunch of real great kids up in the Aurora-Eglon area.

Last week I asked for views on Teen Clubs in general. This was from a statement by an adult in our community that teenagers should be able to find their own entertainment. My retaliation was "where will they find this entertainment in a beer joint or parked car?"

Here is a letter I received Wednesday morning from the leader of the Ryans Glade Teen Club, Mrs. Maryland Loughry.

Ill Dick.

In reply to a comment made by you in last weeks "Teen Corner," here are my views.

I agree with you that Teen age kids have to have entertainment. Why not have good clean public entertainment such as playing their favorite records and dancing? Having fun in general, getting together with their friends and speaking the present day language of teenagers.

Being the mother of teen ager myself, I can so will understand the restless feelings teen kids have. Kids nowadays are products of a restless age. War time babies, who by no fault of their own, were born of restless parents. Let's not run them down, but try to be understanding about their problems and helpful in every way we can.

I was a teenager too, once not so long ago and I hope I can be a helpful, and happy mother of a teenager, because I have 2 more coming on besides the present one I am concerned about.

For these who disagree, come, see for yourself. Who knows you might even strike the right note and feel the way we do.

Teenage Club leader of Ryan's Glade Teen Club.

Mrs. Maryland Loughry

Thank you very much Mrs. Loughry.

I would like other views on this matter. Just send them in and we'll answer them.

Hope to see you all tomorrow night at the armory and you can see me if you want to hear some good music Saturday afternoon 1:30 to 3:30 on Boyland Bandstand WBOY-TV. That's channel twelve if you care to tune in.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen John Marshall Butler

A Shabby Heritage

More than a century ago, Lord Macauley, the English writer and statesman, when speaking of the American Republic, made this prediction: "Your Republic will be pillaged and ravished in the twentieth century just as the Roman Empire was in the fifth century—with this difference: the devastators of the Roman Empire, the Huns and the Vandals, came from abroad, while your barbarians will be the people in your own country and the product of your own institutions."

Immediate past history illuminates the fact that we are retreating from those fundamental principles which have made this Nation outstanding. Through a combination of sheer stupidity and moral confusion, we and our institutions are, in truth, diluting our most dynamic and cherished assets. Indeed, without realizing, we are now handing to our youth a shabby heritage. In explaining this ominous phenomena, it has been said that the fathers and mothers and grandparents of yesterday and yesteryears failed in their responsibility as citizens; that they were the custodians of freedom, and while each day they sang its praise, they allowed its substance to be destroyed. Will the present generation be similarly described?

There are signs that we have ignored the lessons of the past, and are still—because of our tendency to go with the crowd and swim with the tide—inadvertently adopting those dangerous ideas which prompted Khrushchev to prophesy in his infamous TV broadcast that "your grandchildren will live under socialism." We meet each new situation with a new expedient with little regard for its moral justification or ultimate consequence. And, as in the shameful New-Fair Deal era, it is happening so gradually we don't seem to know it. For sake of advantage, many of those who should know, turn their backs or temporize with principle and truth.

Regrettably, it appears that America is afraid to defend its belief in basic principles. We seemingly lack the fortitude to draw a firm line between right and wrong. More and more we are operating in gray areas. It is becoming increasingly apparent that we are losing the courage to take a simple stand for moral rights. To our great misfortune, the professional purveyors of world Government, the idealistic do-gooders with their heads in the clouds and their feet planted firmly in mid-air, and the self-styled liberals have made their mark. If this hypnotic drift continues, we shall lose the ability and the will to defend ourselves, even as the disciples of atheistic communism have always preached, plotted and predicted.

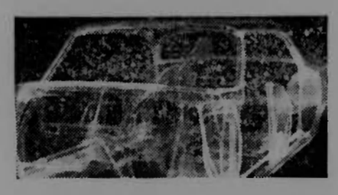
ANNOUNCING THE NEW PLYMOUTH!

SOLID FOR '60! AT YOUR DEALER'S TOMORROW!

BUILT A NEW SOLID WAY TO GIVE YOU SOLID SATISFACTION

CHRYSLER ENGINEERING INTRODUCES A NEW KIND OF PLYMOUTH THAT MARKS A MAJOR BREAKTHROUGH IN CAR DESIGN. BODY AND FRAME UNIT ARE WELDED TOGETHER AS ONE, IN A NEW WAY. MANY PARTS THAT WORK LOOSE, RATTLE AND NEED FIXING IN ORDINARY CARS ARE ELIMINATED. THIS LOW-PRICE '60 PLYMOUTH IS STRONGER AND ROOMIER. IT USES LESS GAS THAN BEFORE. IT RIDES MORE COMFORTABLY, WE BELIEVE, THAN ANY OTHER CAR IN ITS CLASS.



PLYMOUTH'S NEW DURA-QUIET UNIBODY is a rigidly-formed structure, locked by approximately 5400 precise welds. It has no conventional body bolts, braces, struts or stays to give trouble. Road noises and road shocks are dampened. Even the sound of the wind is hushed.

We doubt if any car at any price has ever ridden or handled as well as this new low-price automobile. Practical Stabilizer Design, incorporating rear stabilizer fins, adds stability on the road, cuts wind resistance, gives better gas mileage.

The new Solid Plymouth is a young, exciting car with ten full years of Chrysler Corporation development behind it. It will suit you particularly if you want a feeling of quality and a sense of craftsmanship. It is built carefully and precisely. We believe there is no other car in the low-price field that resembles it.

AN ALL-NEW INCLINED OVERHEAD VALVE "6" IS AMONG FIVE PLYMOUTH ENGINE OPTIONS FOR 1960. The first inclined engine ever in an American passenger car is the new Plymouth 30-D Economy Six, most powerful "6" in America. Very economical, it is inclined to make servicing simpler, to lower the car's center of gravity and to make handling and riding easier. Also for 1960: the limited-production *SonoRamic Commando V-8.

SOLID PLYMOUTH 1960 OFFERS FEATURES NO OTHER CAR IN ITS CLASS CAN OFFER. Custom-Positioned Front Seat. Safe-T-Matic door locking system. RCA "45" Record Player. And many more.

Adv. It*

The Maryland State Police, one of only five police departments in the nation selected for this honor, have been presented an Outstanding Achievement Award by the National Safety Council for excellence in traffic supervision during 1958. Governor J. Millard Tawes and Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent of the department, were presented the award by Col. Russell A. Snook, (right) Director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at the Governor's Safety and Health Conference in Baltimore, Maryland.

Trooper Bruce Diehl of the Maryland State police, who investigated, identified Warren K. Lee, 19, as driver of the automobile. Diehl said the Lee youth was operating a car westbound when he apparently lost control. The vehicle ran off the north side of the highway, struck a concrete culvert and rammed into a six-inch warning post. The 1952 model car was demolished.

The accident occurred shortly after midnight. Excessive speed was listed as the probable cause.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

Life's Purpose

Why are we here? What is the purpose of our living? To many people, life is merely existing. They have no purpose, no real goal in life. If we would understand the real purpose of life we must realize the purpose for which God created us. We are informed in Colossians 1:16 "For by him all things were created BY HIM AND FOR HIM." We were created for God's glory, for God's pleasure. If we do not bring glory to God then we have missed the purpose of our living. This spring many of you will plant flower seeds and bulbs. You plant them because you expect that in due season you will be able to enjoy the blossoms. You are disappointed if they fail to bloom. Even the green foliage, beautiful as that may be is disappointing because your purpose in planting was not fulfilled. Do you get the application? God created us that we might bring pleasure to Himself through worship, praise, thanksgiving and a life of devoted service. When we live for eur own pleasure then we "Come short of the glory of God". Mercy is now available through Christ for those who would start anew.

It is thereupon ordered this 30th day of September, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 23rd day of October, 1959, giving notice to the said absent defendadnt, Lula Elizabeth Adkins, of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint and warning her to be and appear in this Court either in person or by solicitor on or before the 7th day of November, 1959, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

In fact, that fine sculptured beauty pictured above can actually cost less than many a cut-down "economy car".

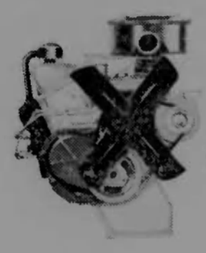
So you say—"Yes, but how about gas economy?" That's when you find out about Dart's sensational new Economy Slant "6". Acts like an 8, yet delivers top mileage (story at right).

And if that's not enough, look what else you're getting for your money. New one-piece Unibody construction—squeak-free, rattle-free, virtually rustproof. New Free-Flight Power that suspends the engine in space. Torsion-Aire Ride, finest ever devised. And more—all at no extra cost.

Come on in and see what all the excitement's about. Make today the day you discover the Dodge Dart.

MODEL FOR MODEL, ACROSS THE BOARD—PRICED DOWN WITH THE "LOW-PRICE FIELD"

DODGE DART	Car F	Car P	Car C
SENECA	Fairlane	Savoy	Biscayne
PIONEER	Fairlane 500	Belvedere	Bel Air
PHOENIX	Galaxie	Fury	Impala



NOW!

A money-saving "six" that acts like an "eight"!

Look under the hood! Notice how the new Economy Slant "6" is slanted a full 30 degrees. A special intake manifold provides evenly balanced fuel distribution to all cylinders. This highly advanced design lets this modern engine breathe better, breathe deeper, to deliver V-8 "go" at wonderful 6-cylinder savings.

This is the first new "6" in the low-price field since 1957. There's nothing like it on the road. Drive a Dart "Six"—and see for yourself. (Two new V-8's in the Dart line, too.)

Freedom's Textbook - - - -

Freedom is expressed in many ways by many people, but almost universally, freedom has been stimulated and taught in the pages of a free press—free to seek out the truth and free to express these facts.

Never has any part of human society been called on more consistently than the press to play a significant role in protecting the rights of individuals. Your newspaper today is not only a key to better living, but it is truly freedom's textbook.

To limit the press in its attempts to obtain accurate and factual information would be to limit your right to know—a basic concept in a free society. Despite this role, there are those who would deprive newspaper readers of this freedom.

The barring of reporters from town council meetings, legislative hearings, public committee meetings, and court trials is in a real sense an infringement on your right to know, a restriction on your newspaper's right to teach and report.

Certainly, these practices should be condemned.

But we could hardly take such a stand without first looking to ourselves and knowing full well that we practice what we advocate.

Let's take as an example our relations with our advertisers. The most important function we serve for them is in providing the circulation which gives the audience to their

Second Trip To "Cat Rocks" Produces Fossil Footprints

The second trip to "Cat Rocks", on the spine of backbone mountain, in an isolated section of the county, two miles southwest of Table Rock, has produced some plaster casts for proof of the existence of fossil footprints of a big "cat" and her "kittens."

The existence of these fossil footprints has been known for quite a number of years. Clyde C. Gnegy saw them as a boy and he returned there in May of this year with three other persons for another look.

This past Sunday there were twenty-three in the group that made the trek to the spot in an area between Gnegy Church and Red Oak. They traveled by automobile as far as they could then proceeded to walk the remaining mile or more through dense underbrush and around large boulders.

Dennis Rasche, of the Garrett County Historical society, leader of the group, said the imprints are in the Pottsville formation, a hard type of sandstone, and are on a rock about 60 feet long, 10 to 30 feet wide, and tilted with the slope of the mountain. The spot would not be more than a mile from Hove Crest, which is the highest point in Maryland, along the same spine of Backbone Mountain, to the southwest.

The prints look like that of a large panther. They are some four inches long and one-half to three-quarters of an inch deep. There are numerous kitten tracks also in the same rock. Plaster casts were made of both the big and little prints and also photographs taken.

Mr. Rasche said there are other such tracks in the Potomac Valley. The find was reported years ago to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington by Ernest C. Gnegy. Rasche thinks there are no dinosaur tracks in this county but that there are signs of them in the Connecticut river valley in northern eastern United States. He has the feeling it would be a great tourist attraction, if the area was made more accessible. Mr. Rasche plans an extended article about the trip in a future issue of The Glades Star, publication of the Historical society. The plaster casts of the prints will be turned over to the society.

Disturbs The Peace

Dale Paugh was charged with disturbing the peace at Mt. Lake Park on October 10. At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Friday, October 16, he pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to serve twelve days in the Garrett county jail.

Bridge Re-Opened To Limited Traffic

The bridge across the Little Youghiogheny river which was closed for repairs last Wednesday afternoon following a report by state roads engineers that they could not even recommend the present structure for foot traffic, was reopened to limited traffic Saturday after supports had been put in place.

The County Commissioners and the City Council of Oakland cooperated in the repairs which now make the bridge safe for a three-ton load limit.

Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor, said that workmen had placed supports under all concrete spans, welded steel plates at all rusted spots and had reinforced the structure where necessary to conform to recommendations of State Roads commission engineers.

Workmen began the repairs Thursday afternoon and worked less than two days.

The County Commissioners met with Thomas B. Finan, secretary of state, in Cumberland last Friday afternoon in regard to possible state aid for construction of a new bridge across the river, to be erected possibly next spring.

To Close Another Bridge

Mr. Wotring said the County Roads department was preparing to close the bridge over the Crellin-Turner Douglas highway on October 26, for repairs, and that it would remain closed for a week or more. This bridge will be rebuilt and will end up being a two-lane bridge instead of the present one-lane type. Motorists will be detoured through the Dorsey Ashby farm to the Crellin-Umlerwood road.

"CAT TRACKS"—Lois Prince, Mt. Lake Park, points to fossil feline tracks imbedded in a sandstone rock formation on top of Backbone moontain two miles southwest of Table Rock. Twenty-three hikers made the trip to this isolated section of the county Sunday afternoon and obtained plaster casts of the prints for the Garrett County Historical society. Others in the picture are Carol Ann Grove, Linda Ritchie and Jan Fitzwater. See story above.

Roads Body Sets Meeting in County

Members of the State Roads commission are holding a regional meeting in Oakland tomorrow and Saturday to discuss highway problems in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The first meeting is Friday evening at 8 o'clock at which Garrett county officials will be present. The second meeting on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock will concern Allegany county. Both meetings will be held in the William-James hotel.

This is the second such regional meeting the Commission has held since taking office in June. John B. Funk, chairman of the comission and director of highways for Maryland, said, "The Commission is anxious to hold these regional meetings. It gives the members an opportunity to discuss first hand with citizens of the counties their highway problems. Also it gives the Commission the opportunity to see for themselves by means of field inspections the condition of highway systems in the area involved." Such a field inspection trip is scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Besides Mr. Funk the Commission members scheduled to attend include John J. McMullen, Thomas N. Kay, William B. Owings, Harley T. Brinsfield, Paul J. Bailey and Lansdale Clagget.

Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor, said a list of problems concerning county roads had been compiled and would be presented to the commission. Attending from this county will be the County Commissioners, State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, and House of Delegates members, Leslie E. Savage, Elza Bray and Elbert Buckel.

FFBL Winner To Be Named Friday At Annual Dinner

Two hundred or more persons will gather at Southern High school cafeteria Friday evening for the twelfth annual Farming for Better Living banquet and program. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Dr. Gordon Cairns, dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Maryland, will be the speaker. He will be introducted by John H. Carter, retired county agricultural agent who is chairman of the FFBL council.

For the seventh consecutive year there has been 100 percent completion in the program. Seventy-eight farm families are enrolled and all of them completed their project booklets. For this achievement they will receive $25 for use of the 4-H clubs of the county, and another certificate will hang on the walls of the county extension service office as a result of the united efforts of these families. The $25 will be awarded by the sponsors of the program, the Monongahela Power company.

A county winner, or the top ranking farm family among those enrolled in the contest has been selected and will be announced the night of the dinner. Mr. Carter, as chairman of the council, will be in charge of the program. Howard C. Riggs will have charge of the awarding of prizes.

L. Bush Swisher, Morgantown, project director, will make brief remarks and Mr. Carter will give a welcoming message. There will be group singing led by Mrs. Russell H. Brown. Dinner music is being furnished by the Music Shop and The H. Weber and Sons company is contributing the flowers.

On opening day there were 118 turkeys killed in Allegany, 85 in Washington and 56 in Garrett. Since then the total has increased to 395 birds.

Verdict Given In Favor Of Plaintiff For $1,374.29

In a suit in the Circuit court for Garrett county last Wednesday Garrett Building Supply, plaintiff in a case against Charles H. Bowman and wife, McHenry, jury gave a verdict of $1,374.29. The Building Supply had sought $1,599.29 for goods "bargained and sold" by the plaintiff to the defendant.

The Bowmans, in an answer filed in the suit claimed they were not indebted as alleged, that the full amount was paid. They claimed that the plaintiff had agreed to repair some construction work which they did not consider satisfactory, but that it never had been done.

Destruction of Road Signs Is Continuing

The attention directed by the County Roads department to the great amount of destruction and damage to the county's road markers, apparently has had little effect, according to Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor.

The supervisor revealed the destruction in a story on August 13 and said at that time he would like to make taxpayers conscious of the thousands of dollars of expense each year because of the thoughtlessness of individuals who are bent on destruction.

Signs are continuing to be shot full of holes, bent and twisted out of shape until they are no longer fit for use. Some even have been stolen.

Most of these signs cost about $12.50 each to replace. He reminded people once again that they are simply destroying their own property. "It isn't the County Commissioners who pay, it is the taxpayers," he said.

He called attention to the penalty for malicious destruction of property. There can be as much as $500 fine and a year imprisonment, if the offenders are arrested and convicted.

Wotring said he was still hopeful that persons would realize the importance of keeping the county well marked.

Commissioners Get More Data On Dams

County Commissioners from Garrett and Allegany counties obtained additional information last Friday afternoon on the proposed construction of three new dams in the Upper Potomac River watershed and concluded it would be appropriate to have more federal money spent on the projects.

The discussion following a luncheon meeting centered around a 1958 report of Joseph D. V. C. Birrell, of the Washington district of the Corps of Engineers in which he proposed three additional dams in this area, one on the North Branch of the Potomac, a second dam on Savage River, about one mile upstream from the present one, and another dam on Stoney river in West Virginia, south of route 50.

Most concern was expressed about a portion of the report which said that the financing of the Potomac River dam would cost local interests in Maryland and West Virginia about $1,500,000 a year for the next 50 years. Naturally, none of the commissioners was inclined to commit his county to any such large scale expenditures.

One of the most immediate results of the two-county conference will be an effort to get U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Representatives John R. Foley and Harley O. Staggers to meet with the county commissioners. An effort then would be made to get the federal government to assume a larger share of the cost. Mr. Birrell's report had recommended that the states and local governments together pay more than half of the cost.

Greatest local interest was in the proposed second Savage River dam. The prospect of using this water for water supply for the George's creek area and Potomac Valley as far as Cresaptown was discussed. Considerable sentiment

State Property Tax Lowered One Cent

Property owners in Maryland received an unexpected tax break yesterday.

The Board of Public Works set the State tax on property for next year at 13.75 cents per $100 of assessment. That will be a penny lower than had been fixed by the Legislature earlier this year.

Since that time the reserve fund for paying off bonds has been increased by transfers and other unforseen receipts so that a lower rate was made possible.

All the State property tax is used to pay off current debts for capital improvements. The rate this year was 13.42.

Capacity of Well To Be Known Soon

It will be another few days before the City Council of Oakland will know the capacity of the new well, according to Henry W. McComas, chairman of the water department.

A pump was attached to the well which was operated for a short time, but McComas said there was some defect in the pump controls and that a man was due in Oakland today to repair the difficulty.

A temporary test showed 300 gallons a minute, but he was unable to say whether or not this quantity would remain constant after being in use for twenty-four hours. If it did the one well would supply enough for Oakland's daily needs.

At present the town is continuing to haul water from Herrington creek.

Harvey Sines Home Destroyed by Fire

The frame dwelling of Harvey B. Sines, in the Underwood section was entirely destroyed by fire along with the contents of the building about 2:30 last Saturday morning.

The home was not occupied at the time, Mr. Sines temporarily residing in another house about 50 to 75 yards away. Most of his furniture was inside, however. A fireman said that Mr. Sines had built a fire in a stove in the building to keep fruit from freezing. He happened to awaken and saw the flames enveloping the building.

The Oakland Fire department responded to the alarm but the house was too far gone upon arrival to save anything but the outbuildings.

Firemen reported insurance of $500 on the furniture and $2,000 to $2,500 on the home.

Resolution Praises Hospital Director

A resolution commending Henry McComas, administrator of the Garrett County Memorial hospital for his formulation of the hospital disaster plan and for his supervision in its execution during the school bus disaster September 10, has been passed by the Board of Governors of the hospital.

At the same time the board also commended the medical staff for their quick response, which "undoubtedly saved certain lives among the injured," and also commended the nursing staff, aides, orderlies and clerical staff for "their admirable care, cooperation and efficiency during the emergency."

The resolution also included thanks to the out of town doctors for their prompt response to the call for help to local and out of town ambulance services, volunteer nurses and other citizens who served during the emergency.

The Board said it felt that the above cooperation and efficiency could to a great degree be attributed to the planning and training by Mr. McComas.

The resolution is signed by Irvin Feld, president of the Board of Governors.

Re-Elect Crowe

Webster Brenneman and Mrs. Guy S. Stanton. Mrs. Leslie Guard is president, having been elected in 1958.

L. S. "Pete" Hartley, manager of agriculture development for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, the principal speaker, urged the continuance of progress and always a look to the future.

He declared agriculture was progressing and that farmers must progress with it. "They must move forward or get run over," he warned. "We must plan for the future, for we must live in the future and the future will be better if we plan for it." He felt that farmers could best plan through the farm organizations.

The group favored four resolutions that were presented during the business session:

1. In view of the fact that our national debt is nearly 295 billion dollars, we urge that governmental subsidies to industry and agriculture be reduced to an indispensible minimum.

2. We support the State Farm Bureau in its efforts to eliminate the throwing of beverage bottles on private property and highways.

3. We back Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association in its efforts to secure needed legislation for safety measures on Deep Creek Lake.

4. We support legislation to keep all brush out of creeks and rivers in timber operation.

Sparked by Terry Colaw, who scored three touchdowns but given able assistance by other members of the team, Southern High's Highlanders scored a 20 to 0 victory over the Kingwood Stags at Kingwood last Friday night under the lights. It was the third straight victory of Southern.

Colaw scored twice on passes thrown by Quarterback Dick Stuck, the first in the opening period on a 23-yard heave, and the second on a 30-yard throw in the final period. In the third quarter Colaw went over from the three and also scored on two extra points by plunging for the extra markers.

The first score came late in the quarter after a 43-year punt by Ronnie Colaw had pushed Kingwood deep into its own territory. The Stags were forced to kick to their own 6-yard line. After one running play which gained a yard Stuck passed to Terry Colaw.

In the third quarter a punt of 49 yards by Ron Colaw again forced Kingwood deep into its own territory. A Kingwood punt gave Southern the ball on the 32-yard line. Six plays later T. Colaw carried from the 8 for the TD.

The third touchdown came when Southern began a march of 73 yards with rushes of 25, 15 and five yards by Keith Butler featuring. A pass of 23 yards from Stuck to T. Colaw found him in the open and he galloped for the goal line. Keith Butler plunged the extra point.

Show Marked Improvement

Southern High in recent games has been showing marked improvement in all departments. Coached by Whitey Adolfson, former mentor at Elizabeth, W. Va., the local players have steadily become better in blocking, tackling, passing, running and punting.

Coach said additional seniors had been added to the squad who had come out for the fust time this year and were showing marked gains in the knowledge of the game.

Southern has been victories over Northern High and St. Francis of Morgantown. The Highlanders have lost to Moorefield, West Virginia Deaf and Beall of Frostburg. Tomorrow afternoon the squad goes to Keyser for a Potomac Valley conference game. Keyser is undefeated in conference play, but lost to Allegany High school.

On the squad last Friday night for Southern were Stuck, R. Colaw, Duling and T. Colaw in the backfield. Cerne, Prince, Haines, Bergner, Riggs, Bolyard and Tenant on the line. Substitutes were Duvall and Beckman.

Playing for Kingwood were Forman, Funk, Walls, Bernanawick, Wotring, Sample, Helms, Toothman, Corbin, Slagle and Bowermaster.

Is Your Name LEIGHTON?

Leighton, an old and honored surname, is principally of English origin. It admits of at least two derivations. According to most authorities on nomenclature, it was the name bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon newcomers to a community who came from any one of several places in England by the name of Leigaton. It is said also that surname Leighton was sometimes assumed by those whose homes were located near a field of leeks. The leek is the well known plant that is allied closely to the onion.

Samuel Leighton served as a captain of Massachusetts troops during the Revolutionary War.

Stradford County, New Hampshire is apparently the ancestral home of a substantial number of the present day Leightons in this country, for the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has twenty-four listings of persons by the name of Leighton who were residents of that county and heads of families at that time. The census records of Maryland for the same year contain no reference to persons by the name of Leighton.

The Leightons were known internationally as a family of glass makers during the 19th century. Thomas Leighton (1786-1849), who was born in Birmingham, England, came to the United States, in 1825 and soon became superintendent of the New England Glass Company, Cambridge, Massachusetts. All of his seven sons entered the employ of the company and one of them, William Leighton (1825-1868), was an authority on the chemistry of glass manufacture and discovered a number of improvements in production techniques.

Frank Thomas Leighton (1885-1943) was rear admiral, U. S. Navy.

Alexander Hamilton Leighton is professor of sociology and anthropology at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

George Eliot Leighton is vice-president, Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

Walter Leighton, Jr., is professor of mathematics at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Trains For Census Work at Annapolis

Carl W. Frazee is in Annapolis this week following announcement of his appointment last week as a crew leader for the 1959 Census of Agriculture.

Mr. Frazee will direct a force of census takers who will canvass all farms in Garrett county. At Annapolis this week he is receiving training by a member of the Census Bureau's staff. Topics covered include procedures for recruiting census takers, census taker training, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the supervision of census takers to insure a complete and accurate count.

John G. Gibson, field director of the census bureau's regional office in Philadelphia, explained that the crew leader was one of the key people in the field operations of the Census of Agriculture. It is his responsibility to recruit and train the census takers and supervise their work; plan and allocate work assignments; review the work of the census takers and take remedial action where necessary, and to conduct difficult interviews.

Upon his return to Oakland Mr. Frazee will spend several weeks recruiting census takers and training them in preparation for the start of the field canvass on November 11.

Whatever your reason for wishing you were home, you can usually make the "trip" home in about 30 seconds by phone.

That's true whether you're working late . . . away on a trip . . . or just visiting a friend or neighbor.

The convenience of being able to call home is hard to measure in terms of nickels and dimes—but easy to understand in terms of peace of mind. One big reason why most people find a phone is worth so much more than it costs.

for the Stoney river dam also was expressed. There was less enthusiasm over the proposed Potomac River dam largest of the three. It would be concrete and 283 feet high and would have a 1,030-acre pool.

No one knew whether the three dams constituted a package deal or whether they could be built separately. No one knew whether the suggested $1,560,000 a year also would include maintenance cost.

R. Lee Benson, with the State Department of Legislative reference, said he would report back to the legislative council on the views expressed.

It was suggested that counties might expect to derive considerable revenue from sale of water, sewage disposal charges and through expansion of industry along the Potomac river.

Attending from this county were Carl Schell, Elra Garlelts and Fred Glotfelly, county commissioners; and State Senator Bernard L. Gonder.

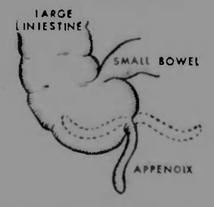
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Appendix Has No Known Function

- Stitch
- Pile Ointments
- Growths



Q. I have never understood just where the appendix is, what it's good for, or what it looks like. Can you explain?

A. The appendix is a finger-like projection measuring up to several inches in length which lies in the lower right part of the abdomen. It is attached to the blind end of the large intestine and may be found in various positions in relation to the bowel (see illustration). When the appendix becomes inflamed we have the well-known condition of appendicitis. The appendix is a sort of leftover structure that has no known function.

Q. What causes side ache or "stitch" during strenuous exercise or rapid walking?

A. Various theories have been proposed to account for "stitch" but none seem to offer an entirely satisfactory explanation. The pain probably arises in the diaphragm or breathing muscle.

Q. Is there any treatment for internal and external hemorrhoids other than surgery? Are the highly advertised salves of any value?—Brockton.

A. Recognized proctologists (rectal specialists) agree that surgical removal of hemorrhoids is the method of choice. Injection methods are very often employed and these may give welcome relief. The great variety of pile ointments, suppositories and other rectal medication offered to the public would indicate that a simple, effective rub-it-on method hasn't yet been found (and probably never will be).

Q. Is there a vitamin or hormone pill that will aid a person 19 years old in gaining at least two inches in height?—G.

A. It would be somewhat hazardous to answer this question with a flat "no," but the chances of stimulating growth in a 19-year-old are very slim. In general, hormone treatment and or vitamin therapy would be effective in earlier life but only if a deficiency of these substances had caused the retarded growth. Another discouragement for the 19-year-old is that at this age the growth centers of the long bones have usually closed and no additional growth is possible.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson

PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

Searcy, Arkansas

The most valuable book on Communism since publication of Whittaker Chambers' Witness has come to my attention. It is The Naked Communist by W. Cleon Skousen. Its great value lies in the fact that (1) it was written specifically for high school seniors and is extraordinarily concise and understandable; (2) its author, a member of the FBI for 16 years knows that for America to hold back the Communist menace her people must first understand the constitutional requirements needed to perpetuate our American freedom system; and secondly, must understand the history, philosophy and strategy of world Communism.

More than 150 books have been written on Communism in the last 15 years. If from this list a parent wished to select one book to aid his high school or college son or daughter toward a clear understanding of the problem of Communism, our recommendation would be The Naked Communist. We would, in fact, recommend it as the No. 1 book for everybody. Mr. Skousen's book is, in a sense, a distillation of more than a hundred books and treatises—many of them written by Communist authors. In it, the "Marxist Man"—the Communist—is stripped of propaganda and pretense, and the utterly evil world conspiracy is examined in the glaring light of reality.

Karl Marx, founder of Communism, is shown in his true stature: (From a friendly biographer) "Regular work bored him, conventional occupation put him out of humor. Without a penny in his pocket, and with his shirt pawned, he surveyed the world with a lordly air . . . He was ridiculously ineffectual in his endeavors to cope with the economic needs of his household and family; and his incapacity in monetary matters involved him in an endless series of struggles and catastrophies. He was always in debt; was incessantly being dunned by creditors . . . Half of his household goods were always at the pawnshop. His budget defied all attempts to set it in order. His bankruptcy was chronic."

Most of his children died very young—they starved to death while Marx, disdainful of work, spent his time at the library reading higher mathematics. This is the thoroughly disreputable man whose mishmash of political, economic and philosophical doctrine has attracted so many self-styled "intellectuals" during the past century, permitting the rise of brutal tyrants. Author Skousen strips the legendary Marx down to bare facts, to the ugly realities.

From his vast experience as an agent of the FBI, and his exhaustive research, Mr. Skousen gives the pertinent facts about Communism within the United States. So expertly has he sifted and condensed the material that he uses only 24 pages to cover this phase of the world-wide conspiracy—though every other chapter is related to it. Each chapter begins with a series of simple questions and proceeds to the answers with clearly presented, documented facts. The Naked Communist is a beautiful book in physical appearance. The Ensign Publishing Company, Salt Lake City, Utah, has put into it the finest expression of the typographer's art.

Get a copy of The Naked Communist. See that everybody you know reads it. And urge them to tell the leaders of our nation to recognize the Communist menace for what it is—THE EVIL ENEMY OF ALL MANKIND.

A Mother Defines School Bus Driver

A grateful mother recently submitted her definition of a school bus driver recently to an Akron newspaper. Her definition followed an editorial in that newspaper previously concerning the need for alert drivers and well mannered passengers.

The mother declared she had ridden a school bus for twelve years and now had a child of her own on one and couldn't help thinking what unsung heroes these school bus drivers are. She declared they drive thousands of accident-free miles each year and nothing is ever said about it.

Her definition follows:

To School Bus Drivers

What is a school bus driver? A school bus driver is Courage with a chauffeur's license. Patience waiting for a lagging first-grader. Dependability in the midst of bedlam.

A school bus driver doesn't really mind pouting primaries, or shouting teenagers, teasing boys or lots of loud noise. He doesn't fold up in the face of snowy side roads, inconsiderate motorists, flat tires, spit balls or the results of a small passenger's upset stomach. With one eye on the road and one on his passengers and his hands on the wheel, he has to be on guard against hitting pet dogs, chuck holes, large ditches and small brothers and sisters.

He is expected to be able to wait for his route and complete his run on time. For the privilege of driving a school bus he has to submit to an exhausting physical exam, a severe driving exam, the approval of the local board of education and a very low salary. At the end of his day he is blessed with half eaten lunches, lost mittens, assorted school hooks, a stray band instrument and Johnny who forgot his stop again.

And after all this he has the fortitude to get up at dawn the next day, warm up a cold school bus and begin picking up the kids again. Thank Heavens for school bus drivers!

THE AMERICAN WAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Week.)

The Chief" reached six-score birthdays last August 10. "The Chief" is what his friends call former president Herbert Clark Hoover. This columnist considers it a great honor that he is privileged to address this greatest living American as "Chief."

Most of Mr. Hoover's 85 years have been devoted to service to his fellow men. Born in humble circumstances at West Branch, Iowa, he became one of the world's greatest engineers—perhaps the greatest. He served his country as president for four years—on several occasions he was placed in charge of feeding the European victims of war. His exploits and good deeds are a matter of common knowledge. Even those friends who turned against him in 1932, when he was defeated for re-election to the Presidency, have returned to the fold and today are most ardent admirers.

At 85, the Chief is still active—what is more he announces he has no intention of retiring. As he so aptly puts it, "Those who retire without some occupation can spend their time only in talking about their ills and pills. And the other fellow wants only to talk about his."

One of the Chief's chief interests in recent years is the Boys Clubs of America movement of which he is Board Chairman. With justifiable pride he tells that under his leadership the number of units working with boys, mostly from underprivileged environment, has grown from 130 to 536.

He still pitches, is still a baseball fan, and just to keep out of mischief in his spare time, he is busy writing some more books. Incidentally, he does his own writing—no ghosts are employed. His step is still steady, his shoulders square. About the only concessions he has made to the March of Time are his thinning hair and the use of a hearing gadget. At the risk of being considered lazy, he confesses that he now gets out of his bed at 7 a. m., instead of at 6, his custom for many years.

What has particularly endeared the Chief to this columnist is that as an outstanding example of what a man can accomplish under our American Capitalist System of Free Enterprise, he has taken his successes in stride and all humility. Over the years he has been outspoken in declaring that "The American Way" is the best economic and social system ever devised by man for the general welfare of mankind. Again and again he has decried the centralization of power which has been taking place at Washington in recent years. As far back as October 31, 1932, in a campaign speech, he said: "Our government is founded on a conception that in times of emergency, when forces are running beyond control of individuals or other cooperative action, beyond the control of local communities and of States, then the great reserve powers of the Federal Government shall be brought into action to protect the community. But when these forces have ceased there must be a return of State, local and individual responsibility."

And in an earlier speech at Washington, D. C., in September 1921, some 38 years ago, he expressed his views on Federal Aid. Said he: "It is not consonant with the spirit of patriotism of the American people that a demand should be made upon the public treasury for the solution of every difficulty."

On August 10, 1954, the Chief's 80th birthday, while being honored at West Branch, Iowa, the town of his birth, he said ". . . innate in bureaucracy are three implacable spirits. They are self-perpetuation, expansion of their empires, and demand for more power. Bureaucracy rushes headlong into the visions of the millenium and sends the bill to the Treasury."

But perhaps our former President's best description of the American system was given at Philadelphia, May 14, 1936, when he described it as "a system of regulated business and compulsory competition . . . If we are to preserve democracy we must make the government the umpire of business. If the New Dealers would go to a few baseball games they would learn that the umpire cannot play on the team and be an umpire. Bad business practices can be ruled off the field. But who is to umpire if the umpire is to pitch?"

The foregoing are only a sprinkling of the torrent of sage comments made by the Chief over the years. Sorry space does not permit passing more of them along. May the good Lord spare the Chief for many more years of service to mankind. We hope to be writing about him on his 90th birthday and we'll understand if he has become even lazier by delaying his rising until 8 o'clock.

AURORA - EGLON

Initiated into F. F. A.

Twelve persons were initiated into the Aurora chapter, Future Farmers of America on October 13, by use of the official ceremony. Stunts were provided by upper classmen. Refreshments followed the initiation.

Couple Wed In Cove Church

Harman-Glotfelty — Miss Mary Edith Glotfelty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Glotfelty, of Accident, was married to Edgar Henry Harman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harman, of Accident, on Saturday, October 10.

The double ring ceremony was performed in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church at Cove with the Rev. H. H. Droutz officiating.

The church was decorated with palms, gladioli and mums, and the altar was lighted with tall candles.

James Hager, soloist, sang "Because," "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer," with Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, escorted by her brother, James Glotfelty, wore a full length gown of white taffeta, styled with fitted bodice and very full skirt, scoop neckline and long tapering sleeves. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried an orchid on a white Bible with streamers decorated with lilies of the valley. She also wore a single strand of pearls with matching earrings, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Bernadette Glotfelty, Baltimore, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Alberta Nolder, also of Baltimore, and Miss Rita Buckel, Cumberland, were bridesmaids. Annette Klotz and Linda Glotfelty, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

Randall Harman, of Morgantown, was best man. Wayne Harman, Morgantown, and William Speicher, College Park, were ushers.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church hall where a blue and white color motif was carried out in the decorations. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. William Harman and Mrs. Lewis Krause, aunts of the bridegroom, served the cake. Mrs. Kenneth Buckel and Mrs. James Glotfelty, sister and sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Hazel Crabb, Baltimore, and Mrs. Russell Krause, also assisted.

The couple left for the Pocono Mountains on their wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a teal blue wool fitted suit with brown accessories and her orchid corsage.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Northern High school. The bride has been employed with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Baltimore. She attended the University of Maryland. The groom is a trainee for assistant manager for Southern States, Inc., at the Hampstead stores. He was graduated from the University of Maryland this year where he majored in dairy technology.

The couple will reside on route 1, Hanover, Pa.

By DICK CASTILOW

All set for a big night tomorrow? You had better be because we have that fabulous group which was here earlier in the year, D. A. and the Edsels ! ! These boys are one of the up and coming groups in and around Pittsburgh. When they were first here they were such a success that I have been hounded by the teens to get them back. Well, here they are, tomorrow night in the armory, D. A. and the Edsels. Special admission will be 50 cents instead of the 75 first proposed. Fair? All righte.

I would like to see a large group from the northern end of the county. We have invited them time and again without much success. Well o. k. This is the last one (Public, that is) Aurora and Elgon, I have heard that someone in your school told you that you were not wanted down here. Well, you are wanted and really welcome. Come on down and visit for a few hours of rockin' and all.

Did I ever mention the Revels and "The Midnite Stroll" before? If I haven't I should have. These boys have a really new sound and tons

It was the second win of the season against three losses and a tie for Beall while the Huskies suffered their sixth successive loss of the current campaign to extend their losing streak to 12 games.

Evans and Bush each scored two touchdowns while Monahan tallied once. Evans booted two extra points and Robertson got one conversion.

Evans set up Beall's first score in the opening quarter when he ran back a short punt to the 41. On a reverse he covered the 41 yards for the TD. In the third quarter after the Mountaineers took over on their own 37 Bush and Evans drove to the six where the latter smashed over for the first of three six-pointers in that period. Robertson's kick was wide.

Monahan took a punt on his own 45 and aided by a key block, he went all the way. The placement was good.

On the succeeding kickoff, Northern fumbled. Arnold recovered on the Northern 25 and five plays later Evans went over from the two. He converted from placement.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

REV. LUTHER SEIBERT
Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church Red House

THE HOLY GHOST IS FOR YOU AND NOT HALLOWE'EN."

Have you picked up your Bible lately and read or studied it? If you have, you will know what we are going to write about. Even if you haven't, which unfortunately is probably the case, you will know what we are going to write about.

Oh, excuse me. My fellow author and senior partner is the Holy Ghost, who with the Father and the Son forms the Holy Trinity which composes the One True God of us all. Please do not think of Him as a Hallowe'en ghost! To those who are familiar with journalism, however, He is truly what is known as a "ghost writer". A ghost writer is someone who writes for another person, and the other person receives the credit.

Like many "ghost writers", the Holy Ghost doesn't publish everything He writes or rights. For instance, what about You? Can You find Your name in the Bible? Does it tell in the Bible when You were Baptized into the Christian Church? Does it mention in the Bible how well You have supported your church financially? Does it say how often You have received the Holy Sacrament of the Lord's Supper this year? Does it mention when You were a good neighbor and when You were a bad one this year? Does it mention Your love of God and Your faith in Christ?

Too many times we tend to limit the "Book of Life" to the book of Revelation, to the Gospels, to the Epistles, to the Old or New Testament, and to the Bible as a whole. Thus our living Christ becomes a dead book-mark which is squashed between the pages as we close the book, and He stays that way until we open the book again, dusty and neglected.

Truly we can thank Heaven for the Holy Ghost who seeks to overcome this misconception. The Holy Ghost tells us we do not worship the Bible, rather we worship the Christ. The Holy Ghost tells us our faith is not in a printed story but in a living Savior. We place our Bible on the shelf or table, but we take our Christ with us. To be sure, You will find Christ in the Holy Scriptures, for here is our best witness of Him. The Holy Ghost is God's reporter, bringing the Good News of Christ to you. Unless You find Christ in Your life, You may as well burn Your Bible or sell it, for it isn't doing You any good.

The last verse in the Gospel of John reads, "But there are also many other things which Jesus did, were every one of them to be written, I suppose that the World itself could not contain the books that would be written". If You are a Christian, You are one of the things Jesus Christ has done through the "righting" of the Holy Ghost. This means You are right with God. If You are not a Christian, this means You can become right with God. Today we hear too much about the Bible being the "best seller" and too little about the Christian being the "best buyer".

MARRIED

Folk-Richardson—Miss Charlotte Louise Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Richardson, Frostburg, became the bride of Daniel Jacob Folk, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Folk, Sr., of Grantsville on Friday, September 11, in a ceremony solemnized in First Methodist church, Frostburg. The Rev. Robert Current officiated.

The church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, white pompons and white candles.

Miss Mabel F. Myers was organist, playing the traditional wedding marches and several nuptial selections.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white brocade silk, fashioned on princess lines, with Sabrina neckline and white brocade mitts. Her shoulder-length veil of pearl studded nylon net fell from a seed pearl crown. Her neckline was fresh water pearls and crystal aurora with matching earrings. She carried on old fashioned bouquet of white rosebuds and streamers of white ribbons.

Miss Joann Tomlinson, Frostburg, was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant.

Dwight Folk, Springs, Pa., cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. John F. Richardson, brother of the bride, Clair Folk, brother of the groom, Harry Diehl brother-in-law of the groom, and Orlo Folk, cousin, were ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the social room of the church. Arrangements of deep pink asters, white mums and ivy decorated the room. The serving table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, flanked with white candles in silver candlelabra. Ivy encircled the mint tray, the wedding cake and the punch bowl. Mrs. Ida M. Richardson, sister-in-law of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Catherine Catherman presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Betty Garlitz, Mrs. Lillian Knierim, Mrs. Mary Layman and Mrs. Marion Poole assisted in serving. Miss Jeanlyn Lewis was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Beall High school, class of 1954. She is employed by the Frostburg National bank as a teller.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Grantsville High school, with the class of 1946. He served two years with the armed forces and is employed by the Frostburg National bank as a teller.

The couple is residing at 57 Park avenue, Frostburg.

Make-Believe

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Monday	Luke	13	22-30
Tuesday	Philippians	1	12-13

Saturday	Romans	11	33-36

This is make-believe . . . tying a bundle to a stick and pretending to set forth upon a great journey. His lively little imagination glows as he thinks of all the things that will happen on his adventure. Maybe, right around that bend in the road, he'll run smack into a big brown bear . . .

And because that's a "scary" idea, he takes off his hat, puts down his bundle, and contents himself with playing blocks in the middle of the living room floor. Yes . . . it's fun to make-believe. But only when you can do it right in the safety of your own home!

Home, just now, is his place. In it, he feels a wonderful sense of security, basking in his parents' love, knowing by instinct that they are there to help and guide him. At night when he kneels to say his prayers, his mother tells him the beautiful story of Christ. She is preparing him for the day when he will go to Church School, when he will become part of the Church. She knows that, during his life, when he actually sets forth upon journeys, the Church will be his home, and that it will help protect and guide him when she cannot.

Brave Men

Lesson for October 25, 1959

CHRISTIANS have always had a tradition of courage. But there is a special quality about Christian courage that gives it distinction.

Two of the original Apostles, Peter and John, demonstrated a specially Christian variety of bravery when they bearded the Sanhedrin. The experience would have frightened almost any one. The men whom Peter and John faced at their trial were the very same who had "legally" murdered Jesus only a few weeks before this time. The Sanhedrin was a combination of Pope, Supreme Court and Cabinet. They were the supreme authority in the land. They could get people killed. Nobody would think of "bucking" them. Yet Peter and John did exactly that.

Dr. Foreman

There Is One Higher

One special feature of Christian courage is that it is not frightened by high authority. When asked how he managed to have the nerve to defy Hitler, Martin Niemoeller (who had been a naval officer under Hitler) said, "It was simple. I had a higher Fuehrer, a higher Leader." Christians always know that above every human, earthly authority they have an allegiance to the All-Highest. They may realize that human authorities can make it very unpleasant for them; but that makes no difference.

Take the case of Ambrose, a bishop of Milan nearly seventeen centuries ago. Emperor Theodosius appeared one morning at the bishop's church, expecting the red-carpet treatment as usual. But not this time. For Ambrose was at the door and would not let the emperor in. Theodosius as emperor had just been in a war. Ambrose was not a pacifist, but he knew that his royal highness Theodosius had slaughtered over 7,000 people in the city of Thessalonica, — most of whom were non-combatants. That was a war-crime, Bishop Ambrose pointed out. It was like the slaughters of old King David. "And you must do penance as David did," he said, "or I will never admit you to my church." The emperor could have killed Ambrose: he had killed many for less; but Ambroses courage conquered him. He actually did public penance, too, and there were no more slaughters of the innocent.

Two Thousand Tumults

"I have put down two thousand tumults," said another Christian preacher, at the close of his life which had been packed with narrow escapes. His name was John Calvin. Starting out as a student and writer, a shy sort of scholar, he had been drafted into becoming a virtual dictator of a city that needed a dictator if one ever did. The city threw him out, but before long they discovered they could not get along without him, and persuaded him to return. He had a different kind of courage, the courage needed by a man in authority, in high position.

Against Madness

If one kind of Christian courage is to stand up against higher authority in the name of the Highest, if another kind is to stand against the crowd for what a man knows to be right, there is a third kind of Christian courage which is needed sometimes. It is often a losing kind, at the time, but it is thrilling all the same. A roaring Chinese mob, one day at the beginning of this century, all with murder in their hearts and knives in their hands, surrounded a missionary named Horace Pitkin. "Have you anything to say before we kill you?" they screamed. "Yes," said he. "Tell my son to come out to China and take my place." Now emperors can be persuaded, and crowds can be controlled; but a mob with the taste of blood is simply mad; and with madness there is no argument. So they cut Pitkin to pieces. Yet even this seemingly hopeless courage had its reward. When Horace Pitkin's son went out to take his father's place, as he did, he found, as one of his first converts, a man who as a boy had watched that missionary die. "From that moment," this Chinese said, "I wanted to know more about the religion of a man who would not be afraid."

HERE'S WHAT MAKES the CORVAIR REVOLUTIONARY

Short and sweet! Engine's in the rear—where it belongs in a compact car. With more weight on rear wheels, you get extra road-gripping traction for cornering and driving on ice, mud or snow. Also, by avoiding nose-heaviness of front-engine compact cars, Corvair handles easier, brakes better, rides smoother. Styling of both 4-door models is clean and uncluttered . . . as fresh and functional as modern architecture.

AIR COOLED
You never have to fuss with antifreeze. Turbo-Air 6 warms up quicker, with less wear on parts. Airplane-type heater* goes to work almost instantly.
*Optional at extra cost.

Revolutionary Rear Engine
works small miracles with mileage. It's the world's first production 6 with the ultra-smooth power of horizontally opposed pistons.

Unipack Power Team
Engine, transmission and drive gears are neatly wrapped in one lightweight package. Takes less space, leaves you more.
UNISTRUT BODY BY FISHER
Body and frame are combined into a single rigidly constructed unit that reduces Corvair's weight, enlarges its passenger space.

Practically FLAT FLOOR
Corvair is America's only compact car with a virtually flat floor that gives you full 6-passenger comfort. For extra space, folding rear seat* converts easily to make room for 17.6 cu. ft. of cargo. *Optional at extra cost

TRUNK'S UP FRONT
Lots of luggage space under the hood, where it's convenient for groceries, packages.
NEARLY 3 FEET SHORTER
Corvair's almost 5 inches lower, 1,300 pounds lighter, too. Its compact size makes it a joy to jockey through traffic, a pleasure to park. No need for power assists.

4-Wheel Independent Suspension
Springs at each wheel cushion bumps independently of each other for a ride that rivals much costlier cars.

...and the most practical thing of all is Corvair's LOW PRICE! see it drive it

Tin Shop Placed As In Terra Alta

The old photo published last week, showing the exterior of a tin and plumbing shop operated by a Mr. Gienger, has been identified by Ernest Shirer as having been located in Terra Alta. He places the date between 1895 and 1898, and and he remembered working there for a time. He says as well as he remembers, the man in the center was Mr. Gienger.

The picture this week shows a herd of steers on Second street in Oakland. Judging from the appearance of the Garrett National Bank Building, on the left, the picture was taken about 1911 or 1912. The cattle belonged to Simon Baker, a farmer of the area at the time. In the midst of the bulls, of course, is Earl Shartzer, and at left is Tom Burke. The boy at the right is unidentified.

Shartzer places the date as 1908 or 1909, but some disagree because of the improved condition of the bank building, which was not remodeled until several years later.

Today's photograph is reproduced through the courtesy of Mr. Shartzer.

One student from this area qualified for the Dean's list at the University of Maryland for the spring semester. She was Miss A. Louise Coddington, Friendsville.

Stop Fall Household Pests At Their Source

Every fall, boxelder bugs, clover mites and millipedes become a nuisance to homeholders. Just before cold weather starts these insects get the urge to migrate into houses.

The pests sometimes suddenly appear in such large numbers that householders report "they just keep coming, no matter what we do." The answer according to University of Maryland Extension entomologist T. L. Bissell is to know where the pests come from and prevent the migration from starting. He says all three have favorite restricted breeding and feeding places before they migrate.

Boxelder bugs breed only on the female, or pod-bearing, box elder trees. One way to eliminate the fall bug problem is to cut down the host trees. Insecticides such as chlordane, DDT and toxaphene will also kill the bugs. Recommended mixtures are one quart of 45 percent chlordane, two quarts of 25 to 30 percent liquid DDT, or one quart of 20 percent liquid lindane in 100 gallons of water. These may be used on bugs on tree trunks or on the outside of buildings.

Clover mites, tiny organisms smaller than a pin head, spend their summers feeding mainly on clover or grass. Migration into the house is prevented by spraying lawns, shrubs, fruit trees and the foundation of the house with Aramite or malathion. For each 100 square feet of ground surface use 25 gallons of spray containing either 2 pounds of Aramite or 1½ pints of 57% liquid malathion.

Clover mites can also be stopped short of the house by an 18-inch band of bare earth. Bissel thinks this method can be used in some cases without harming the landscaping if a small border next to the house is kept clear of grass.

Millipedes, or thousand legged worms, feed and multiply on decaying organic matter. They often hide beneath boards, tools and stones. It will help to rake leaves and dead grass away from the house, and remove tools and other objects from the ground so sunlight can reach the soil.

If swarms of these pests take the householder by surprise, before he can destroy them at their source, insecticides and other treatments outside the house reduce the nuisance. Instructions on how to combat migrations are available from the University of Maryland Entomology Department.

Damage Suit Is Moved to Allegany

A $7,500 damage suit filed in this county has been removed to Allegany county for court action.

The declaration was filed by Earl W. Dolly, of Corriganville, to his own use and use of the Aetna Casualty and Surety company against the Western Maryland Railway company of Baltimore.

The suit stems from a rather unusual accident in which the plaintiff contends he sustained second degree burns of his right leg which was scarred.

The accident occurred on August 23, 1957, when the plaintiff, an employe of a tree expert company was walking along a public dirt road between Gorman and Bayard near the right of way of the Western Maryland.

When the road gave way the plaintiff fell into a hole and was burned when he came in contact with burning coal and slag.

The insurance company paid $625 to Dolly as permanent partial disability in accordance with an award made by the Workmen's Compensation commission April 10, 1958.

Walter C. Capper and Thomas B. Finan, attorneys for the defendant, feel that a fair and impartial trial would not be obtained in this county. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley signed the court order removing the case to Allegany county. Attorneys for the plaintiff are Fred A. Thayer, Oakland; Earl E. Manges, William C. Walsh and William Walsh, of Cumberland.

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

FLEX-O-GLASS

A Few Dollars Is All It Takes

H. F. Rodder
Madison, Wis.

"Flex-O-Glass has made our porch a year 'round, livable room. The children love it."

"Here's an inside view of our large screened porch. If you couldn't see the snow outside, you'd think it was taken in summer. What doesn't show is the crystal-clear Flex-O-Glass tacked over our screens — an invisible barrier between our home and winter. This is the second year we have used the same Flex-O-Glass. We expect it to last at least two years more. That means it will cost us only about $15 a year to protect the rest of the house against drafts. We can leave our furniture on the porch the entire year and provide a warm, protected play area for the children. If you would like to see this letter to tell other home owners how much they're missing by not using your wonderful Flex-O-Glass to protect their homes against winter weather, you have my enthusiastic approval."

"Flex-O-Glass is the cheapest investment in winter comfort we've ever made," says L. D. Higbie
"The few yards of Warp's clear Flex-O-Glass we tacked over the screens of our breezeway keep out cold, wind, rain and snow and give us a warm extra room. I tell my friends that if their breezeway is a water "catchall" to put up Flex-O-Glass and keep winter cold outside where it belongs."

"Our living room was warmer than it ever had been . . . such a relief not to have any more cold drafts on the floor," says Mrs. K. Klemp (Farm wife)
"Upon discovering my husband and gang the full blast of winter winds that will surely be toward the front door and five windows were Flex-O-Glass. It made the house much easier to heat. We're sold on Flex-O-Glass that we're going to cover our entire front porch with it this winter. It was just a snow catcher last year. With Flex-O-Glass tacked up, it will give us an extra room and double the protection for the roof of the house." (To enclose this entire porch will require only 18 yards of Genuine Flex-O-Glass, costing only $17.82)

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 83. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., OCTOBER 29, 1959 PER COPY, 8c NUMBER 35.

Enoch Pratt Free Library Baltimore

Recruit for '60 ------

Republicans nationally and locally are beginning to bestir themselves with a "Recruit for '60 program" which is a search for two million additional precinct workers for the Republican party for the next national election.

The program, adopted by the Republican National committee in the spring of 1959 has the enthusiastic endorsement of President Eisenhower. It is now under way in most of the 50 states, and it is not a moment too soon in this area.

Republicans here have remained too indifferent and where there was not indifference there was internal strife.

Polls have shown that there are nine million Americans who would be willing to work for The Republican party. But people are reluctant to step forward and volunteer. It is to find these potential workers that this program is being inaugurated.

It is to be done by personal contact. Leaders feel that in order to win in 1960 these new workers must be found and be made ready to volunteer for service when the 1960 campaign gets underway.

We have only to look at our recent registration figures to realize that Republicans have been lagging, and that our majority in this county has been whittled down considerably.

The local Recruit For '60 committee and the Republican State Central committee have outlined a program of action. Each precinct is to be organized. If the party is to be re-activated effectively every sincere Republican must forget past elections and look to the future. It is no secret that at the last election Republican candidates fought against other Republican candidates and even worked secretly for certain Democratic candidates, purely to satisfy grudges These attempts succeeded only in getting themselves defeated.

But we've got a big job to do in 1960. So let's resolve to get it done and get it done to the point where there will be no doubt left in any individual's mind, as to the strength of the Republican party in Garrett county.

Gas Production Shows Decline

Is Normal For This Time Of Year—County Receives $12,578.52

Natural gas production in the past three months ending September 30 took another drop of almost $7,000 over the last report. The decrease appeared to be normal, as the fourth quarter report always is the lowest of the entire year.

The report for the period was received this week by the County Commissioners. The check was for $12,578.52 and was exactly $6,762.48 less than the one three months ago.

The number of cubic feet produced in the period totaled 716,761,000, almost eight million cubic feet per day compared to almost 11 million three months ago. The marketable gas was valued at $179,693.05, compared to $276,300.01 for the previous ninety-day period.

The gas company's check was the amount for the seven percent tax on the marketable gas. The largest check ever received for any 90-day period was $28,573.82.

The breakdown of the latest tax receipts showed $5,031.11 as the purchaser's proportion of the tax, (2.8 percent) and $7,547.11 as the producer's proportion. (4.2 percent).

Thirty-five wells were listed as producing gas, same as the previous report. Thirteen wells, which had been listed in previous reports as "various" were listed separately this time with the explanation that O. Eberly had 46.875 percent, Snee 15.313 percent, R. E. Eberly 6.250 percent and L. N. Murray 1.562 percent.

Those wells were the biggest producers and included McCullough, Miller, Collier, Barbara Miller, Ford-Fike, Bowser, Earl Knox.

Building of Dams In County Is Aired

The proposed second Savage River dam was discussed on Saturday in Cumberland by Congressman John R. Foley and John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. Rowan represented both Allegany and Garrett commissioners since the Garrett officials were meeting with representatives of the Maryland State Roads commission in Oakland.

Rowan advised Foley that both counties favored the construction of the second dam and also agreed with the proposal of constructing the Stoney River dam.

Rowan said the proposed dam at Bloomington appeared highly impractical due to the necessity of providing facilities for purifying polluted water flowing into the Potomac River from abandoned mines in the watershed.

Foley urged that resolutions be drawn by the county commissioners, the city of Cumberland, municipalities in the counties and area industries as concrete evidence of crystallized interest that could then be presented to him. He would, in turn, present this written evidence to representatives and senators of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, as well as to the corps of Army Engineers.

Rowan said he believed Cumberland would benefit from the construction of the dam and cited its importance to areas where towns have been facing a serious water shortage. He also cited the need of water of a definite temperature by Kelly Springfield Tire company and that a continuous flow from the second Savage river dam would hold the water to the necessary temperature.

Booster Club Names Marvin Jones Head

Marvin Jones, of Mt. Lake Park, was elected president of the Southern High School Athletic Booster club at a meeting Tuesday evening.

The club which raised enough money this past year to pay for a new score clock in the school gymnasium and cover insurance for football players is presently engaged in raising money to pay the cost of shoes for football players. In order to raise this additional money a portable TV set is being given away by the club and will be presented on November 6 at the Petersburg-Southern game.

Kenneth Johns, principal, praised Mrs. Samuel Butler, retiring president for her contribution as first president of the organization.

Other officers named were J. Phillips Thayer, vice-president; Mrs. Norman Wine, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Orr, treasurer. The next meeting of the organization is set for November 19. Refreshments were served.

Md. Economic Study Aired by Governor

Two major campaign promises of Governor J. Millard Tawes—the economic development of the state, and assistance in problems of the aged—were discussed Monday night by the governor who was an honored guest at a special meeting of the Lions club of Kitzmiller.

Governor Tawes said wheels had been set in motion for realization of both promises with the organization of a department for economic development and a commission to cope with problems of the aged.

A study designed to attract industry to Maryland, development of recreation and agriculture has been started. The Kitzmiller flood control project is a part of the plans for future development of the area, the governor said.

He said everyone must realize there is a partnership by state, county and small community in order that the state's prosperity may be promoted. Touching on the problems of the aged the governor said the age limit has been raised for persons who would be hired for state or public services.

He has instructed the Maryland Planning commission to project a survey over a six-year period declaring that piecemeal, day-by-day planning is no longer sufficient.

Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller, also present, spoke on the flood control project. He also pointed out that the state's finances were in a healthy condition with a surplus of $23 million.

Toastmaster was Thomas B. Finan, secretary of state. The governor presented to Lions president W. H. Myers a gavel made from wood of the famous Wye Oak of the Eastern Shore. Jesse Walker then presented a gallon of maple syrup to the governor, comptroller and secretary of state.

Among the guests were Mayor Earl Shank of Kitzmiller, Mayor Russell Smith, Oakland; State Senator Bernard L. Gonder; Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, members of the House of Delegates and the County Commissioners. There were also representatives from the Lions clubs of Oakland, Lonaconing and the Tri-Towns. Some 125 persons attended. A program of entertainment included dinner music by the Elk Garden High school band and a presentation by the Allegheny Folk Dance group.

Expect 400 to 500 In Tonight's Parade

If the weather remains favorable this evening, between four and five hundred persons are expected to participate in the annual mummers' parade and Hallowe'en celebration on the streets of Oakland.

The affair is being sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club and the Mt. City Band. The costume parade will get under way at 7 o'clock, and will disband on Second street after traveling through the business district and some of the residential section.

Between sixty and seventy-five prizes, contributed by individuals and business men will be presented to the participants. A portion of Second street will be roped off to permit merrymaking and the playing of games. There will be a cake walk, pony rides, and other entertainment.

The emergency drive for funds to help victims of polio has brought in more than $500, it was announced by Charles L. Briner, chairman.

He said the dance sponsored by the Grantsville Rotary, Legion and Legion auxiliary for the Emergency drive had netted $152.66, and that churches in Grantsville had contributed $25, bringing the total to $177.66.

This brought the drive to more than $500. Mrs. William Harman, chairman of the Garrett county chapter said she was grateful for all contributions. She said the chapter is having large expenses in connection with recent polio cases and said the regular drive in January would have to be conducted with redoubled effort. Community chairmen are to meet the latter part of November to secure supplies and get the drive under way the first of January.

Urges Improvement Of Area Highways

Improvement of a north-south route connecting routes 40 and 50 that runs through the county was proposed by Garrett County officials at a meeting with State Roads Commission at the William-James hotel, Oakland, over the week-end.

The Garrett county group urged the SRC to improve the connecting roads in the route so that it could handle heavy truck traffic.

This would, they said, offer better opportunities for developing the assets of the county and would serve as an inducement for industry.

The group also proposed the following projects:

Improvement of route 219 from route 40 to Deep Creek Lake.

Speed up improvement of route 40 from Washington county line through Allegany and Garrett counties to the Pennsylvania line.

Lewis Hutton, Kitzmiller, made the proposal for the north-south route connecting the two major routes, 40 and 50, in behalf of the county group. It would include these roads: leaving route 40 at Markleysburg and take state route 42 to Friendsville, route 53 from Friendsville to U. S. route 219 near Hoyes, route 219 from Hoyes to just south of Deep Creek Lake, state route 38 through Deer Park to Kitzmiller, and state route 42 to Elk Garden and then to top of Allegheny front.

Held on Breaking And Entering Charge

Melvin Gene Carder, of Lonaconing, is being held for action of the Garrett County Grand Jury on charges of breaking and entering the lake dwelling of Jesse Miller, Jr., and taking from the residence a quantity of furniture valued at some $375.00.

Mr. Miller happened to arrive at his cabin Friday night during a rainy evening and found a car in front of his place completely loaded with furniture and ready to depart. Two persons took off into the woods.

Mr. Miller notified Sheriff James E. Frantz and state police who made a quick trip to the cottage, located on the Meadow Mountain road. The automobile was identified by license number as being owned by Carder.

Sheriff Frantz said the next day the LaVale State police barracks were notified by Mr. Carder that his automobile had been stolen. They asked him to come and register proof of ownership, at which time he was placed under arrest.

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Monday the charges were preferred and bond was set at $1,000.

Guilty Of Assault

In another case before Trial Magistrate Maroney this week Kathleen Hutts, of Gorman, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery against Claretta J. Helmick. She was fined $5 and costs and the fine was suspended upon condition that neighbors live in harmony.

Earl Kyle, of Barton, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of rabbits in a closed season, filed by Leo Friend, game warden. He was fined $50 and costs on the charge and an additional $25 for the five rabbits in his possession.

Huskies Discontinue Football This Year

The Northern High Huskies have discontinued the balance of their football season by canceling games with Berlin and Turkeyfoot. Denver Mitchell, football coach, said the already small squad had been troubled by numerous injuries, making the number of available players too few for full participation.

However, he said, the boys, with the exception of the seniors, would continue practicing for next year and that the school would continue the sport next year.

In the meantime the Northern High Letterman's club has completed construction of six sections of bleachers, a concession stand on the football field, and a sideline fence. Members have charge of all concessions for both outdoor activities and all sport events held in the gymnasium. The club is endeavoring to provide school jackets for all senior lettermen.

The club elected the following officers for the year: James McKenzie, president; Joe Durst, vice president; Ralph Buckel, secretary; Joe Friend, treasurer. Mr. Mitchell is sponsor of the club.

Banks to Pay Three Percent on Savings

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the First National bank in Oakland yesterday afternoon it was decided that three percent interest would be paid on all savings accounts, beginning November 1. Interest would be compounded semi-annually.

George K. Littman, executive vice-president, said the move had been contemplated for some time. Many years ago the bank paid three percent interest but this was reduced in ensuing years. At one time the bank was only paying one percent. Then this was increased to 1½ and then two. It has remained at two percent for the past four years or more.

Savings accounts in the First National amount to over two and three quarter million dollars, which will mean that some $27,000 additional amount of interest will be paid annually.

The Garrett National Bank held a special session of its board of directors Wednesday night and announced a similar move, also effective November 1. Savings accounts in this bank total over one and one-half million. Whether or not the other two banks of the county would follow suit was not known. Both Oakland banks have advertisements in today's issue announcing the change.

Mercury Dips To 21

The thermometer took a dip to the lowest of the year this morning with a reading of 21½ degrees. The landscape was heavy with frost and ice was thick on windshields of automobiles that remained in the open.

Rain has fallen on five days of the week with almost three inches being recorded at the government station at Weber's Light snowfall occurred on Sunday and Tuesday in various sections of the county and in surrounding areas. It was reported that almost one inch fell in Thomas, W. Va., on Sunday. There were flakes also at Elkins and Luray, Va., and scattered other points.

Murder Charge Placed Against Ronald Guard

Slays Friendsville Tavern Owner, George Schroyer, Early Sunday Morning

George Raymond Schroyer, 40-year-old Friendsville tavern operator and father of seven children, was shot and killed early Sunday morning in a tussle with Ronald W. Guard, one of the county's constables. The shooting took place in front of the victim's place of business.

Pleads Not Guilty

At a hearing this morning before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, Ronald W. Guard, through his attorney, Lewis R. Jones, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of first degree murder.

Maroney held him for action of the Garrett County Grand jury without bond. Testifying for the state were Sheriff James E. Frantz, Walter Coddington and Robert Spear.

Attorney Jones said he had already filed a writ of Habeas Corpus, and that a hearing would be held Monday before Judge Fraley in an effort to fix bond.

Schroyer died almost instantly from a bullet wound in the right side of the head.

Garrett county authorities said the shot was fired by the Constable, 51, who told them he was trying to break up a fight between Schroyer and another man.

The shooting occurred about 12:15 a. m. at the entrance to the tavern which formerly was occupied by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Friendsville.

A charge of first degree murder was lodged against the man and he was scheduled for a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney this morning. Sheriff Frantz obtained the warrant Monday.

Sheriff James W. Frantz said Constable Guard was traveling past the Schroyer place of business about 11:30 Saturday evening on his way home from duty. A scuffle between Jerry DeWitt and Thomas Schroyer, attracted the officer's attention.

Since taking over the farm in 1952 from his father young Fitzwater has added a new barn, his old one being destroyed by fire in 1956, which is designed for the addition of mechanical equipment as growth requires.

In the plans for the coming year are the addition of pipeline milkers in the herring-bone type milking parlor, installation of a bulk cooling tank in the milk house, and the use of bulk feed bins that will automatically release grain to the cattle.

Last March Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwater added 96 acres, and they now plan to double the milking herd. At present Mr. Fitzwater milks 22 cows. He plans to retain the best of his heifer stock and increase the size of the herd to 40.

Sheep is a sideline on the farm, with 21 head of ewes at present. These were accumulated gradually as William Fitzwater, Sr., would give a lamb or two to the grandchildren as pets.

One of the more important additions to the farm last year was the installation of a 40-ampere electrical service entrance, to give the farm plenty of reserve power for operation of mechanical equipment. Fitzwater at present is operating a welder, milker, milk cooler, two electric water heaters, two food freezers with a combined capacity of 34 cubic feet, an electric range, refrigerator, washer and dryer, plus television and regular home items.

If broiler prices improve he plans to add broilers to this farm enterprise, and will brood these electrically. Another mechanical helper in the near future is a silo unloader and mechanical feeders that will take care of the loose housed cows.

In addition to producing milk the Fitzwater family is involved in milk distribution. Mr. Fitzwater is Oakland distributor for the Potomac Valley Farms in Cumberland. He supervises the operation of two trucks and drivers taking milk to the dairy from 21 pick-up stations and then distributes processed milk to wholesale and retail outlets in the Oakland area.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwater are graduates of Oakland High school and met there while students. Mr. Fitzwater took vocational agriculture and is using that to advantage. Mrs. Fitzwater specialized in bookkeeping and that education, too, is a prime necessity on the farm these days.

"He Is Best Of All Men Who Follows Good Advice"

— (Author's Name Below) —

It is amazing how many people are quick to offer health advice. Without any study or knowledge, they tell you what you should do or take when you are sick. Thoughtless friends are sincere but unfortunately there are many opportunists. Some door-to-door peddlers and sharp mail order promoters consider profits more important than the good their products will do.

Wise men know the only person capable of giving good advice about how to treat sickness is a physician. They also realize when they obtain medicines and health-aids from a pharmacist pledged to consider health more important than immediate great profits, they are always safer.

Miss Doris Heise Wed to Mr. Smith

The wedding of Miss Doris Jean Heise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Heise, of Deep Creek Lake, and Mr. Carroll Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, of Accident, took place September 27 at the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church in Accident.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. F. Dauphin. The church altar and chancel were decorated with arrangements of ferns, palms, lighted white tapers in candelabra, and standards of assorted white flowers consisting of gladioli and mums.

Mrs. Harry Humberson, church organist, played various selections prior to the ceremony and accompanied Mr. Edgar Dawson, soloist, in "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a strapless ballerina length gown of nylon chantilly lace and tulle, fashioned with a tightly fitted bodice with a crushed cummerbund on a full billowing ruffle on ruffle skirt. The Chantilly laced jacket had a peter pan collar with long tapered sleeves. Her finger tip veil of imported tulle flowed from a crown of fitted leaves and flowered cluster pearls. She carried pink roses on a white Bible with streamers of ribbons and rosebuds.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Jane Yarnell, matron of honor, who was attired in satin and lace ballerina length gown of mint green with matching accessories. The bridesmaids, in satin and lace ballerina length gowns of lavender with matching accessories, were Miss Patsy Kerns and Miss Gail Kesner.

James Smith, only brother of the groom, was best man and Homer Hoover and Richard Georg were the ushers.

The mothers of the bride and groom wore navy blue dresses with matching accessories and red rose corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor where the bridal motif was carried out in the floral decorations and a four tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Edith Reichert, Mrs. Beulah Walton, Mrs. Mary Georg, and Mrs. Alice Kesner assisted in serving.

The couple left on their wedding trip to Florida, the bride wearing a gray tweed suit with matching accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Praises Sen. Gonder

Dear Sir:

Last week the Motor Vehicle Sub-committee of the Legislative Council completed its assignment for the year 1959. Senator Bernard Gonder, a member of the committee attended every meeting, traveling great distance in order to be present. Senator Gonder displayed a keen awareness of the highway safety problem of the State of Maryland and contributed very much toward solving the various problems facing the committee.

I feel that the people of Garrett County should be fully informed of the very important part that Senator Gonder played in getting the Governor of our state to form a committee to study the various problems that have to be solved in connection with the school bus law. The latter grew out of the very unfortunate tragedy that took place in Oakland this past September. Very shortly this committee will report its findings to the Governor and I feel that the contribution to this report by Senator Gonder should go a long way to bring our school bus law and administration of the school bus up to a modern, safe and efficient service.

I hope you will have time and place in your fine newspaper to express the above thoughts.

Very truly yours,
EDGAR P. SILVER,
5th Legislative District of Baltimore City.

Troop 3 Girl Scouts Have Hallowe'en Party

Girl Scout Troop 3 held a masquerade Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening, October 27th, at the Scout Hall. Three large jack-o-lanterns, surrounded by dried corn, gourds, and brilliant autumn leaves decked the room. Black and orange streamers hung from the windows and ceiling fixtures. The troop members were greeted at the door of the darkened hall by a "ghost" holding a lantern while eerie music played in the background. When everyone had arrived, the girls guessed the identity of each disguised merrymaker who then unmasked. There were hallowe'en stunts and games, and refreshments in a holiday theme were served near the end of the party. All decorations, games and refreshments were prepared by the members of Troop 3 with the assistance of their parents and leaders.

Troop 3 will meet at the new Bowling Alley on Saturday, October 31st, to form a bowling team. This team will bowl each Saturday morning between the hours of nine and eleven. Each girl who wishes to participate must have written consent from her parents, it was stated by troop leaders.

Change One Deer Station

One change was noted this week in the deer checking stations. Calling your attention to the change was Leo Friend, game warden. He said that the deer checking station for the Oakland area would be Carroll Miller's Mt. Top Tire and Sport Shop, corner of Third and Oak street, both for the bow and arrow season and for the arms season. Dates of the seasons were listed in last week's paper: The bow and arrow season November 1 to 14; the arms season, December 5 to 12, Sundys excluded.

May Not Switch Parties After November 17th

Garrett county's registered voters were reminded this week that they have until Tuesday, November 17, to change political affiliation.

After that date Miss Julia A. Rowan and Mrs. Geraldine Turney, Democratic and Republican registrars, will be unable to accept any changes. State law prohibits any political switching within six months of a primary election, and the next one will be next May 17.

Those who wish to register in order to vote in the primary election have until April 16, 1960. The Board of Election Supervisors office in the basement of the court house is open for registration from 9 to 4 five days a week and 9 to noon on Saturdays. This includes those registering for the first time or those whose names were stricken from the books for failure to cast their ballot during the past five years.

tention and he stepped in, to stop the fight, Frantz was told.

He apparently stayed at the tavern to see that there was no more trouble and was outside the entrance when George Schroyer and Raymond Coddington, also Friendsville, wrestled through the doorway. Believing another fight was ensuing, Guard stepped in to halt the trouble, the sheriff said, and in the melee his .38 calibre revolver went off, the bullet striking Schroyer in the right temple.

Investigating officers said there were several eyewitnesses to the shooting and that several conflicting stories have been told. The investigation is continuing.

Just Horsing Around

Police were told that Coddington and Schroyer were not fighting but were just "acting the fool" and "horsing around."

Guard was placed in the Garrett County Jail in Oakland and was questioned extensively Monday. He claimed it was an accident. Witnesses to the shooting also were questioned in an attempt to delve into the facts behind the slaying. Witnesses were also questioned Tuesday and Wednesday.

Guard told Sheriff Frantz the revolver discharged accidentally as he attempted to break up the tussle between Schroyer and Coddington. Investigating authorities were told that Guard "pointed the gun at Schroyer and fired" before striking Coddington on the head with the weapon.

Statements are being obtained from at least twenty witnesses.

Relieved of Position

At a special meeting of the County Commissioners on Monday Mr. Guard was officially relieved of his position as constable, to become effective immediately.

Mr. Guard had been appointed as constable several months ago and in recent weeks had also been placed in charge of collecting the dog licenses for the County Commissioners.

Funeral Held Yesterday

Mr. Schroyer was a son of Myrtle Loudermilk Schroyer and the late Simon L. Schroyer. He was born in this county January 23, 1919, and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the European theatre with the 45th infantry division. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Terra Alta and the American Legion, Post No. 71, Oakland, and a member of the Oakland National Guard for eleven years and was first sergeant of the company.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Violet Thomas Schroyer; his mother, seven sons, Cpl. Jackie Schroyer, U. S. Marine corps in Okinawa; Clifford, Melvin, Dale, Duane, Larry and Vernon Schroyer, all at home; a brother, Karol Schroyer, Mt. Lake Park; and a sister, Mrs. Jeanne Sisler, Friendsville.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the National Guard armory in Oakland, Chaplain William C. Plummer, of the 121st Engineering Battalion of the guard, officiated. Interment was in the Lutheran cemetery at Accident.

Upon leaving Oakland for a new home, we want to express our gratefulness to the many friends we have made while being a part of Oakland.

And those in the nursing homes and the shut-ins whom I will always remember as my very dear friends.

Then there are the pastors of St. Mark's Lutheran church, especially Pastor William Ernest Fox, who has been such an inspiration to us in Newt's present illness.

And thanks for all the Get-Well cards and letters.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Recovery from Schizophrenia Possible

- Rheumatic Fever
- Tongue-Tie
- Splitting Hairs

Q. Does anyone ever recover from schizophrenia?

A. Very generally, about one-third of patients with schizophrenia treated during the first year of illness make a very good recovery, one-third get a little better and are able to return to outside life, and one-third have to remain in the hospital indefinitely. A great deal depends on how soon treatment is started, the personality of the patient, and other factors.

Q. Would you please let me know through Medical Mirror what causes rheumatic fever? Is it inherited?—A. A.

A. Rheumatic fever is almost always preceded by a nose or throat infection caused by a special type of strep germ. Seemingly, the infection must be present for about three weeks before rheumatic symptoms develop. Treatment during this time can ward off rheumatic fever. The disease itself is not inherited but certain family groups seem especially prone to development of rheumatic fever. This suggests some inbred tendency or weakness but just how important this is remains unsolved.

Q. My two-year-old is tongue tied. Would snipping the fold of skin under the tongue help? He hasn't yet started to talk.

A. Many people believe that if a child is slow in acquiring speech, he must be "tongue-tied." It may seem logical to snip the frenulum or fold of skin under the tongue. However, severing the frenulum without anesthesia is barbarous to say the least. A tight or short frenulum does not prevent a child from acquiring speech at the normal age although it may cause a minor lisp. Do two things: put the scissors back in the sewing basket and have the child examined by a physician.

Q. What causes the hair to split at the ends?

A. Hairsplitting disorders may be due to a number of things. Direct mechanical injury, such as from hairpins, or injury from a variety of chemical agents may be responsible. In some cases, nutritional or toxic disturbances may set the stage for the disturbance. Some people have excessively oily hair near the scalp but the hair is quite dry at the ends, suggesting that something prevents the natural oils of the scalp from spreading along the hair. In such cases, treating the ends of the hair with various oils may prove useful.

American Education Week And Its Significance

By CHARLES E. HAWKINS
Superintendent of Schools

At the conclusion of World War I the United States were appalled with the discovery of the high rate of illiteracy revealed through the tests of hundreds of thousands of educational tests given to the American soldiers. In order to point up the need on a national scale for improvements in our schools, American Education Week came into being. Since 1921 this week, singled out for special attention to our schools, has been observed throughout the nation. It has grown during the years in importance and in public interest. During the forthcoming American Education Week all attendance records of people visiting the schools of this nation will be shattered.

Literally millions of people from all walks of life will relinquish the routine duties of the day to visit the schools in their respective communities sometime during this special week set aside to emphasize the need for education and the importance of our schools in supplying this need.

Garrett County schools, like all others over the nation, will hang out the "Welcome" sign to all parents, patrons and friends of education. Classroom doors will be open, principals and teachers will be on hand to greet parents and guide them to the rooms they wish to visit. Social hours will follow at the conclusion of the day in many schools and parents will have the opportunity to seek answers to questions that might arise.

The significance of American Education Week cannot be overemphasized here in Garrett County. It offers an opportunity for a show of interest in the schools of the county and be that for which we stand. A little time out to visit your schools lends encouragement to the many fine teachers in our classrooms. A visit of interest between school visitor may well provide the boost in morale needed by every child. An opportunity for a combined unity of strength is provided during American Education Week when parents teachers, pupils and friends of education get together for a common purpose—that of providing a community of effort to see that every child in our county receives the educational opportunities to which he or she is entitled.

If the education of our youth was of concern to thinking Americans in 1921, it is of far greater concern to thinking Americans today. Since 1921 ponderous changes have come about in the American way of life—every one demanding a higher level of education on the part of the individual if he is to survive the competition surrounding him. Today the "Space Age" in education is here. Startling changes that will revolutionize our present way of living in nearly all of its aspects are lurking just around the corner. Schools must work hard to move forward with the demands of "Space Age" education. No other kind will serve the needs of the generation of children now in our schools. The help and understanding of parents and friends of education will be needed if Garrett County is to provide the program of "Space Age" education this generation of children so desperately needs.

The week of November 9 is American Education Week. It is also Garrett County Education Week. Take time out and visit your schools. You will be rewarded for your time and interest in doing so.

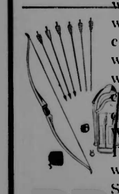
Plan Way To Keep Winter Roads Open

A plan by which snow covered and icy highways can be made passable for traffic in a short period of time, particularly to permit morning traffic to go to work after an overnight snow, was announced by Governor J. Millard Tawes and John B. Funk, chairman of the State Roads commission.

The two officials said, would require cooperation of the State Police, the State Roads commission and the C. and P. Telephone company.

This is how it would work: Signs would be placed along highways where experience shows that icy conditions are prevalent in the winter. These signs worded so as to warn the motorist of icy or snowy conditions ahead would be covered during normal weather periods. When snow falls or ice forms State Police would uncover the signs wherever these conditions prevail. State Police normally conduct hourly inspections of highways and would discover these conditions as a matter of routine.



Another check however would be the availability of a special snow or ice telephone number which would be widely publicized. A stranded motorist could call this number, activating state police inspection of the area and setting in motion cindering crews or snow removal units of the State Roads commission. The units would be maintenance engineers, maintenance supervisors and state police for this afternoon in the roads commission building in Baltimore.

The plan did not say what would happen when state roads and county roads crews had worked all night to keep a road open and it was still drifting, or if drifts had covered the road signs, and a stranded motorist was a mile away from a telephone. And it did not specifically state whether the plan would apply to Garrett county.

Civic Club Hears Ringer on "Russia"

Members of the Oakland Civic Club heard a talk on "Russia, Friend or Foe?" at the monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the William-James hotel, delivered by Albert Ringer, instructor at Southern High school.

Mr. Ringer, [illegible] interpreter during World War II, has traveled in the USSR. He studied [illegible] before entering this war. Following the war he was introduced [illegible] Orrick Teets.

Mr. [illegible] part. "In this era [illegible] called 'cold war' we, the U. S. and our allies the west are in constant 'fear' against our mutually decided enemy, the USSR. You will note I call this enemy' the USSR rather than Russia, for the Russian Federated Socialist Republic is just the largest state in the USSR. People for what they do not know. This is also true for nations. The mass psychological warfare which is designed to entrench itself upon each individual is created a national neurosis which implies inferiority and the Russian people as cruel, stocky, accented men who slink around in the darkness to steal our precious national heritage.

"This stereotype where we project all our fears, is the 'boogey man' of our youth. As we grow up our fears disappear and we find ourselves unafraid to accept the garding the USSR is to become acquainted with the country, its people, its language, its government, its culture, its national heritage and to appraise the situation rationally and objectively, based upon the most correct data we can obtain."

Mr. Ringer told of these phases of life and compared the USSR with the USA, physically, economically, [illegible] are so close to all nations now that it is like a one-world idea. "We need the UN cultural interchange, even Khrushchev's visit to convince all to realize if we have war, what the future impact would mean to all people." He quoted Winston Churchill, "It is better to have a world united than a world divided, but it is better to have a world divided than a world destroyed."

Mrs. Henry W. McComas, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. L. J. Sacher and Mrs. Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., and Mrs. Edward [illegible] were presented [illegible] Mrs. Unkes [illegible] Mrs. Charles [illegible] Mrs. Calvin [illegible] and Mavadell Dodaro.

Each member brought [illegible] mas gift for the mental hospital patients of Maryland. The committee on arrangements included Mrs. S. R. Pagenhardt, Mrs. Guy William Hinehaugh, Mrs. T. J. Lackey and Mrs. Paul Naylor.

Pictures Out Of The Past

This Week's Picture Familiar? To Many

Many of the old photographs which have been published have had us guessing as to location and time.

Ir. most cases, however, some reader has come up with information which supplied the missing data.

This week we're going to turn the tables. We know the location and date of the above picture—but do you?

It's only fair to give a hint. The building is a combination post-office and store located some distance from Oakland in a section that is now a great deal better know than some 40 years ago when it was pictured. The photo was provided by a reader who will be identified along with the picture next week.

Fourth Parade Identified

The Fourth of July parade in Oakland, pictured two weeks ago, has been identified from the newspaper scrapbook of Henry Arnold as having taken place in 1899. In part, it reads:

"Fourth of July, 1899, will be remembered by the citizens of Oakland as a most pleasing and patriotic occasion.

"In the course of the morning big crowds from the surrounding rural districts began to arrive, which were largely swelled by those arriving on the west and east bound accommodations."

Among the parade participants were listed Dr. H. W. McComas, chief marshal, with aides; cowboys and Indians, clown on a donkey, representing Liller Bros., barbers; the Goddess of Liberty, Miss Nancy Hamill; Columbia, Miss Annie Grant and Cuba, Miss Della Browning grouped in same conveyance.

Also the Oakland Fire Department, A. D. Naylor and Company's "mammoth" display of agricultural machinery and carriages, Bolden and Brown Furniture, Friendsville Band, Mt. Lake Pharmacy, D. E. Offutt and Sons, City Roller Mills, Oakland Pharmacy, Lewis Gortner, Atlas Flour; J. Felty, Jr., general merchandise and Kimmel and Co's coal display.

A grand ball was given in the Glades hotel at the close of the day's festivities.

Parade Date Confirmed

The parade date was further confirmed by Mrs. Ida Coddington, of Salem, O., aged 93, who was visiting Mrs. Mary Browning in Oakland over the week-end. Mrs. Coddington said it was the first Fourth of July parade ever held in Oakland and started from the area where the hospital now stands which was at that time known as "The Beer Gardens."

Mrs. Coddington said she was riding a horse called "Charlie," from Charles Sweeney's livery barn and that she using Mrs. Greeley Hyde's side saddle. Also riding in the parade at the time was her sister, Mrs. Jennie Shultz, and a cousin, Mrs. Carrie Glotfelty, and Mrs. Nanny Barke, a sister to John Sweeney. The first three named were all single at the time and were Grownings.

Seek Farm Census Takers for County

Applications for employment as census takers for the 1959 census of agriculture in this county are being accepted, it was announced by John G. Gibson, field director of the bureau's regional office at Philadelphia.

Persons interested in these jobs should notify Carl W. Frazee, route 2, Oakland, who is serving as crew leader for the area.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States, have a high school education or furnish evidence of comparable experience, be in good physical health and of excellent character, and at least 18 years of age.

Applicants with veteran preference who meet all requirements will be given priority over non-veteran. The applicants must be licensed to operate and must provide a privately owned automobile in good condition. Census takers will be paid 7 cents a mile for official travel.

Questionnaires in Mail

Questionnaires for the census are now in the mail, Mr. Gibson stated. They are being mailed from Chicago with the distribution times so that the report forms will reach farmers about a week ahead of the date when census takers will begin the field canvass.

The questionnaire is designed to provide information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment, selected farm expenditures, farm values, and mortgage debt. On the average each farmer is asked about 100 questions many of which can be answerrd by simply checking "yes" or "no".

Governor Proclaims Farm-City Week

Gov. J. Millard Tawes has called upon the people of Maryland to join in the observance of Farm-City Week, Nov. 20-26. In a proclamation signed at Annapolis, Gov. Tawes requested "urban groups to participate along with farm groups, as evidence of our appreciation of all those on the farm and in the cities of Maryland who have worked so well in providing us with the food and the goods we need and enjoy."

Our American farm families are making great contributions to the abundance of America and to the advancement of civilization throughout the world. It is desirable that the general public should understand the needs, problems and opportunities of our people of the State. Through their agrarian accomplishments, the productivity of the farms and of urban labor and business provides the food, tools, services and goods that afford our citizens the highest standard of living known today, he said.

He requested the colleges, the Agricultural Extension Service and all other appropriate agencies and officials of the State Government to cooperate with National State and local farm organizations and other groups in the several counties of the State in preparing and carrying our programs for observing Farm-City Week. These include plans for public meetings, discussions, exhibits, pageants and press, radio and television features, with special emphasis on notable achievements by rural groups and individuals; and on the enrichment of American country living through adequate cultural, spiritual, educational, recreational and health facilities for both rural youth and rural adults.

This year's observance will be the fourth annual Farm-City Week in Maryland.

Driver Dies When Moving Van Crashes

The driver of a huge moving van was killed Sunday afternoon when he lost control of his vehicle near the foot of Cheat mountain on U. S. route 50.

Percy Harris, Newport News, Va., died of a broken neck. He was thrown from the van as it crashed into a tree and overturned. The truck apparently failed to negotiate a curve at the foot of the mountain and crashed into the yard of the Clarence Watson home.

There have been several accidents at that point and the Watson home had just recently been moved back from the highway because it had been struck in the past. The van was loaded with furniture and its contents were scattered over the area. The van was demolished.

Seek Opinions On National Flower

Florists across America, members of the F. T. D., apparently are enthusiastically supporting the national flower election. Results of balloting in some 11,000 FTD shops are to be tabulated and sent to Congress to serve as a guide in selecting a national flower, a question first raised by the 66th Congress in the days of Woodrow Wilson more than 40 years ago.

Outside Congress the S.A.F. first suggested a national flower in 188: but dropped it because of the wide diversity of opinion. Before World War I the American Carnation society championed the carnation as the country's floral emblem.

Merits of a number of flowers were argued in this past session of Congress.

This will be the final week for casting ballots. Persons interested in voting to select a national flower may obtain ballots from the FTD florist shop. The contest ends officially October 31.

Many children seem to be taking an interest in the event. All votes cast are to be forwarded to the chairmen of appropriate Congressional committees. Only the Congress of the United States has the power to legislate the proclamation of a national flower. America is one of the few major countries without a national flower.

The ballots contain the names of twenty flowers with a blank line in case none of the twenty suits the voter.

CARD OF THANKS

It is the desire of the Leonard Paugh family to express its most sincere thanks and deep appreciation to the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and help during the illness and following the death of our loving father, the late Leonard Evers Paugh.

We wish also to extend our thanks to the many friends and families who contributed flowers and automobiles for the funeral services.

We especially desire to thank the pastor of the Loch Lynn Baptist church, the Rev. I. Luke Walter, for the comfort and strength he offered at this time.

This is the nursery of a large metropolitan hospital. Six times a day these precious bundles visit their happy mamas. And every night their proud papas gape at them through the glass. Nurses watch over them constantly. Doctors examine them daily.

But the statistics in the files of the police department cast a black shadow over this innocent scene. For one of these babies is J.D.

J.D. is short for a juvenile delinquent. And from police records and census figures we can estimate the proportion of new-born infants who will become juvenile delinquents in ten to twenty years. The one factor that threatens the accuracy of our calculations is that juvenile delinquency is increasing.

There are just two ways to deal with the problem. One is to enlarge our jails. The other is to give every child's spiritual well-being the same thorough attention that this hospital gives his physical well-being.

Is yours a church-going family? Is yours a religious home?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Lesson for November 1, 1959

THE CHURCH is never called the "fellowship of believers" in the New Testament, but it is often called that, nowadays, by Christians. There is a good reason for the name. The early church was a fellowship of believers. This means as the record shows us, that the early Christians were of "one heart and soul." This does not mean that they thought alike, for the writer of Acts carefully avoids saying they were of one mind. They were united not in opinions but in their faith. They were believers-in rather than believers-about. A perfectly unanimous church, all holding the identical opinions in the identical way, would not be a Christian church, but a congregation of parrots. Belief is more than opinion; and in this broader sense the church is indeed a fellowship of believers.

Dr. Foreman

Givers

Is this all? It might be all, if Christian faith were the dead sort of thing some people think it is. But faith, as we see it in the lives of New Testament Christians, never appears by itself. We read that these believers worked out a scheme to eliminate poverty among them. The scheme did not work, for we know that some years later collections were being taken up for the benefit of the Jerusalem church. But all the same, nobody—especially no apostle—arose to say to that church, "All your concern with people's property and their living conditions is of the Christian beam. It is out of our line, it is not a Christian's business to know how other people live. Religion is belief, it is not distribution of worldly goods." There is little doubt that some must have talked that way, because some talk that way today. But the church of these days did find it their business to see to it that no one suffered want.

In an old American city of nearly half a million people there are many churches. The city government early this year decided that they could no longer help people who were unemployed. The consequence was that many families drifted closer and closer to starvation. There was an effort to enlist all the city's churches to help feed these helpless people; but barely half the churches made any contribution or showed any interest. These count themselves as "believing" churches — but what do they believe?

Doers

Every church congregation is a Fellowship of Listeners, or of that is expecting too much) a Fellowship of Hearers. They all hear readings from the same Bible, week after week. But the Bible is not merely a book to be listened to. It is not only a book to be believed, either. It is a book to be done. Jesus drew his line, not between hearers and believers, but between hearers and doers. That early church not only distributed food and clothing, they distributed health. They did not simply accept the presence of disease and deformities; they were challenged by such tragedies, they did what they could, and it was a very great deal, to relieve and to do away with them. In short, this first church was a Fellowship of Doers.

All churches are fellowships of people who pray. But a peculiar feature of that early Jerusalem church was that those who belonged to it prayed together. That is, they offered the same prayer together. We do not have to suppose that the prayer in Acts 4 beginning "Sovereign Lord" was literally spoken in unison by the whole collection of believers. But we are not left in doubt that this was the prayer of every one there. When the minister says "Let us pray" he means it. Let US pray. When the minister says "Let us unite in prayer," does the average congregation do it, or do they let him pray along while they think about something else?

Churches are too soon content with being Sitting Fellowships, or Suppering Fellowships; when Believing, Giving, Doing and Praying—what God really calls them together for—go half-done or not done at all.

CONFESSION? — Ask The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only: to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to Confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God; it must be forgiven by God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed this out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained" (John 20:21-23). Thus Christ authorized the Apostles, and their successors, to pardon or to deny pardon as they judge the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving... the secret dispositions of the sinner... his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself—and what is this but Confession?

But Confession—the Sacrament of Penance—is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven—no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived—from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, and this he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in society which needs officials to promote the common good—and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing—the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

Would you like to know more about each of the seven Sacraments? How they can help you to meet the seven basic needs of your life? Then write today for a free pamphlet which gives important information concerning them. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-5.

Three mistakes were costly to Southern High School Highlanders last Friday afternoon at Keyser and the Golden Tornado topped the locals in football 20 to 0. But they fought the leaders in the Potomac Valley conference on even terms throughout most of the game and dominated the play throughout the first half.

Keyser managed to put across its first touchdown just seconds before the first half ended following a 59-yard pass play which set up the score from the five-yard stripe. Keyser took a 4-yard loss on the next play after the pass but Sidley scored on the second try.

Early in the second period Shaffer blocked a Southern High punt in the end zone for a safety. Later in the second quarter Keedy scored on a 65-yard punt return. Keyser began its third touchdown drive late in the third period when a Keedy to Chidester pass netted 48 yards and carried to the Southern three from where Clark scored as the final stanza got under way.

Southern dominated play in the first half and Keyser was forced to punt on three occasions. The Highlanders advanced to the Keyser 20 once but the offensive bogged down at that point. Each team had six first downs.

The win gave the Tornado an overall record of 6-0. It has won 29 consecutive games in the Potomac Valley conference since its last setback in 1953. The defeat gave the Oaklanders a 3-1 overall record and an 0-1 mark in the eleven school conference.

Playing for Southern were Prince, Bergner, Riggs, Cerne, Bolyard, Ron Colaw and Haines on the line; Stuck, Duling, Butler and Terry Colaw in the backfield. Substitutes included Terrant, Propst, Duvall, Dixon, Beckman and DiSimone.

To Play Terra Alta

Southern Highlanders will meet Terra Alta High school under the lights at Kingwood on Friday evening. A large delegation of students and others plans to attend. It was announced Wednesday that the Southern High band also would make the trip.

In its last game under the lights at Kingwood two weeks ago Southern won over the Kingwood Stags 20 to 0.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

REV. M. L. BROWN
Church of the Nazarene

ALONE

"He went up into a mountain apart to pray and when evening was come, he was there alone." Matt. 14:23

Many times Christ felt a great desire to be entirely by Himself. Much talking and visiting the free from gossip, will exhaust our strength. Even Jesus realized fully, His entire dependence on His Father in times like these, and went apart for prayer, meditation and communion.

We who are really human in every desire and foom of like need to go apart to be alone with Him. We cannot do His work or maintain His fellowship in full, without seeking His quiet time.

What a wonderful thought to have God all to oneself, and to know that God has one all alone to Himself. In this solitude we catch the notes of rich experiences that issue from the soul of things.

If we would understand ourselves seek time to be alone. Practice stillness of thine own heart. Thou shalt be both condemned and pardoned when thou shalt meet Jesus alone.

Alone may we trust in His wise choice of rough and smooth, of time and tide, of sun and shower. Give us all that we need to enable us to fight the good fight and finish our course with joy.

"Alone, yet not alone; What are these words I hear
That rise and fall in some new way upon my dulled ear;
Alone, yet not alone, The phrase familiar seems
Did I once read it long ago, or hear it in my dreams?
Alone, yet not alone, Stronger and fuller free
These words re-echo in my heart and even speak to me.
'My child, thy Father's here; say not thou art alone.
He said that He would ne'er forsake and never leave His own.'

Edw. Stockman, Jr. Commended for Part In New Hospital

Edward P. Stockman, Jr., was pictured in the October issue of the magazine from Sinai hospital in Baltimore and commended for the work he did in the planning and completion of the new hospital which will open officially sometime in November.

Mr Stockman was listed among the men completely responsible for the planning and completion of the new hospital and among those who played a major role in the direction and supervision since the start of the blueprint days.

Mr. Stockman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stockman, of Oakland. Among the things it had to say about him were the following:

"One of the busiest members of this active threesome is Edward P. Stockman, Jr., assistant director of Sinai. He attended West Virginia university from 1941 to 1942 when he entered the army as a first lieutenant of infantry. He commanded a combat platoon in General Patton's 3rd army in Germany. Upon separation from service in 1946 he returned to the university where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business administration and remained an additional year for post-graduate work.

"From 1949 to 1951 he served as assistant administrator at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. In August, 1951 he was appointed assistant administrator at Sinai hospital. When the administration of Mt. Pleasant in Reisterstown was tranferred to Sinai he was assigned as acting administrator. When the "new" Mt. Pleasant was completed he was in charge of furnishing and equipping the building as well as organizing personnel.

He returned to Sinai in 1952 and resumed his former duties. In 1954 he was relieved of those responsibilities in order to devote full time to the new Sinai hospital, serving as liaison between the hospital and the Architects in New York City. Prior to the beginning of construction in 1956 he set up offices on the job site. Among his duties there he coordinated the work of the architect with the construction company, city government, utility company, landscape architects, etc., maintained budget and accounted for funds for construction as well as for furniture and equipment, developed methods and systems for the new hospital and other duties.

"Mr. Stockman is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators and a member of the American hospital association."

Other members of the active threesome mentioned are Sam Bock and Dr. Harvey H. Weiss. The latter is from Memorial hospital in Cumberland.

Daughter of Former Residents Is Given High Scouting Post

A Johnstown, Pa., young lady has been named to represent a five-state area on the 1960 Girl Scouts National Program department.

She is Miss Sara Ann Altstetter, 17 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Altstetter. Mrs. Altstetter is the former Mildred Stemple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Stemple, Center street, Oakland. The father is a son of G. J. Altstetter, now residing in Cumberland, and the late Mrs. Altstetter also former residents of Oakland.

After conferences and meetings in Johnstown she will go to New York City in February to help plan a nationwide program for Girl Scout units. She was selected from among 13 senior girl scout applicants from the Johnstown area girl scout council.

A panel composed of educators, and leaders of youth groups, interviewed the applicants and rated them on initiative, responsibility, attitude toward scouting, knowledge of the community, poise, appearance and other qualifications.

The Johnstown area girl scout council is one of 12 in the United States to select girls for the national committee. Miss Altstetter will be representing region 3 which is composed of five states. The Potomac council is a part of region 3.

The committee will serve as a source of information, ideas and opinions about areas of the program which are to be developed or revised and as a means of pretesting projects before they are released nation-wide.

A senior at Johnstown High school, Miss Altstetter has been active in many girl scout events. She was a Brownie for three years, intermediate for four years and a senior scout for three years.

Suggests Hiking Trail to "Cat Rocks"

Dear Editor

The article relative to "Cat Rocks," in last week's issue, was extremely interesting and revives a flood of half-buried memories.

Excuse me, but who might the "blasphemer" be that first called this "sacred" spot "Cat rocks"? From pioneer days our "great-grandpappies" called it "Bear-track Rock," a misnomer, of course, since the tracks are those of a large and extinct species of mountain lion, and the "kitten" tracks are those of a small rodent, also extinct. Let's not overlook this very important point: "Beartrack Rock" will also sound far more inviting, and exciting, and romantic to tourists. To call this place "Cat rocks" is worse than mutiny on the high seas.

Many years ago I went to this most interesting spot to chisel out a specimen for the Smithsonian. After fifteen long minutes of pounding, I had no chisel, no "tracks," but plenty of blisters. The rock is so hard the chisel failed to leave even a mark. My conclusion was that the Smithsonian would have to "roll their own."

Only a thousand feet away are the great massive boulders known as Roth Rocks. In the early days of this century many thousands of people visited those impressive and spectacular rocks. It was a favorite place for many picnic parties.

One of the lofty pinnacles has a flat top dubbed "the table," and is cut full of names and some "ancient" dates. Great crevices, perhaps thirty feet deep separate these huge rocks. Some of our folks have a large picture made, I believe, in 1901, showing a group from one of the Sunday Schools of the county. Those parties were almost a weekly occurrence.

Some years ago we tried to interest some public-spirited individuals in a smooth easily-traveled hikers trail from Route 50 to 219 at the sand plant. Since then, a good road leads to the fire-tower and on the South end a trail connects 219 with Hoye Crest. Only the link from the fire-tower to Hoye Crest remains. This is about three and one-fourth miles, I believe.

This could be our greatest tourist attraction after Deep Creek Lake. Ready? O. K., lets go. We go by bus or automobile to the motel on route 50, have lunch, then drive on to Table Rock. After a brief pause to enjoy the scenery, we proceed to the fire-tower. Some lose their nerve part way up. But it's really breath-taking from the top.

From here we travel on foot over a smooth, well-kept trail, maintained through the co-operation of forest department, hikers clubs, bird clubs, and patriotic citizens. One mile, and we are at Roth Rocks, a really thrilling spectacle. A few hundred yards more and we arrive at Beartrack Rock. How dare you call this "Cat Rocks"? Here we see tracks made in the shallow shoreline of the great sea of Appalacia more than a million years ago—yes, more than one hundred million years ago, in what, as it hardened, became the Pottsville Sandstone. (Do not count the years too closely, our geology needs brushing up a bit.)

From here we hike a half-mile to the Old Dobbin Road. Where's Dobbin? It "ain't." But it used to be a thriving lumber town. See that plaque over there? It tells all about it.

Now over many more large and impressive rocks, and more beautiful scenery, past Wilsons bear-trap rocks, and on to the highest point in Maryland, Hoye Crest. See that giant finger pointing to the sky? It's three hundred feet high. It is the great memorial to Maryland's war dead, built by popular donations. Not a cent of the public tax money in it. Our folks are might proud of it, and most of all of that huge cross on the top. You can see that from over in Pennsylvania.

Just beyond the Hoye Crest we come to the great and controversial Fairfax Line. Perhaps few boundary lines in the world have been more often "in court."

Now we descend the mountain, cross the headwaters of the county's proud Youghiogheny river, with its Indian name, and soon arrive at 219 beyond Silver Lake, where we are met by the bus. We stop at Silver Lake Motel for a good heavy meal, and man alive are we able to enjoy it after that hike. All agree it has been our greatest travel thrill of a lifetime.

Dreaming? Yes, my friends, but I fully expect to see this dream come true. How soon? That depends on you—and upon me. Lets go!

Your Sincerely,
Ernest G. Gnegy

Disputes Theory of Fossil Cat Tracks

Dear Sir

In regard to last week's article concerning cat tracks in the Pottsville Formation, I wish to say that this would be an impossibility.

According to Bulletin 13 prepared by the Dept. of Geology, Mines and Water Resources entitled, "Garrett County Geology and Water Resources", on page three is presented a chart showing the strata exposed at the surface in Garrett County, these include names used in geologic time representing Periods of Earth history in chronological order as follows; Permian, Pennsylvanian, Mississippian, and Devonian, Devonian being the oldest.

With reference to a time scale of Earth history presented on page 582 in a book entitled, "Physical Geology", by Longwell, Knopf and Flint, all of these periods fall within the Paleozoic Era. The scale indicates that during this Era, no warm-blooded animals existed, the general forms of life consisted of primitive reptiles, insects, and invertebrates. Warm-blooded animals, which include the Cat family did not come into existence until approximately 130,000,000 years later.

I have seen the plaster casts and agree that they must be the impressions made by an extinct animal, but they were probably made by an ancestral form of Dinosaur, certainly not by any member of the Cat family.

The purpose of this letter is not entirely an effort to correct the fallacy about the cat tracks, because even though it is interesting it is not really of any great importance. The real importance lies in the fact that too often articles are requested in newspapers and magazines containing fallacies of a more serious nature.

Cordially,
Frank R. Corliss, Jr.

PRESENTING AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CAR

THE IMPERIAL OF 1960

Tomorrow, at showrooms across America, we introduce the totally new . . . totally wonderful Imperial.

It is built more carefully, tested more thoroughly, than any other car which has been or will be introduced this year. It requires more individual handcrafting than other cars. It takes longer to build . . . because the skills which build it are the kind that can't be hurried. It has brought automotive craftsmanship back to America.

The new instrument panel has bold, readable calibrations . . . logically placed controls . . . and a remarkable new Panelescent lighting which aids vision and depth perception at night by eliminating glare and reflection.

New swivel seats turn automatically as the door is opened. An exclusive, improved Auto-Pilot tends the accelerator on long trips (two very practical options) . . . the engine has more wheel-turning power than any other passenger car engine in the world.

When you drive our Imperial of 1960, we think you will agree it proves one satisfying point . . . that a fine car can be almost awesomely impressive, and still be a vivid, engaging personality . . . a good companion as well as an obedient servant.

Compare Imperial's riding quality, space and comfort . . . ease of entry and exit, front and rear . . . driving liveliness . . . and learn that it is, in luxurious fact, the finest car America has yet produced.

Labor Pool - - - - - -

The County Commissioners announced this week they were sponsoring, in cooperation with service clubs and other organizations, a house to house survey to determine an accurate labor pool in this county. This is information vitally needed if we are ever to be successful in attracting industries to this area.

What is a labor pool? It is merely some statistics, authenticated and authoritative, which would indicate to interested industrialists how many people would be available for work, should an industry locate here.

Why haven't we had it before? It has been talked about for several years but no group ever put the thought into action. This has never been a concerted effort before.

Invariably the first question asked in either a letter or personal inquiry regarding Garrett county as an industrial site, is "What is your labor pool?"

The County Farm Bureau and the service clubs of the county have agreed to conduct this survey. Individuals can give valuable assistance in this survey by contacting a member of these clubs and giving definite information about people, using names, addresses, including the names of people who are at present living out of the area who definitely would return here if there was suitable employment. Or such information could be given to the Commissioners or to members of the industrial development committee which was named recently by the Commissioners.

When it is completed other groups will aid in classifying, sorting and tabulating the information from forms that have been filled out.

Then when an interested industrialist asks, "How many men or women could you guarantee would go to work for me?" the county could say definitely, 500, 1,000, 2,000 and be positive that what was said was absolutely true.

Let everybody get interested in getting this labor pool survey completed.

Want Labor Pool Report for County

The County Commissioners, in cooperation with service clubs and other organizations, are sponsoring a House to House survey to determine an accurate labor pool in Garrett County.

This will be for the purpose of providing definite information to interested industries which might be planning to locate in this area.

Carl Schell, president of the county's governing body, said Wednesday that they had secured the assistance of the Farm Bureau and Rotary and Lions clubs of the county. Members of the newly appointed industrial development committee would assist in gathering this information. On this committee are Harry Edwards, Grantsville; Jesse Walker, Kitzmiller; Robert Ridder, Germania; Earl Guard, Friendsville; and Lowell Loomis, Oakland.

Spearheading the survey will be the Garrett County Farm Bureau, Inc., Friendsville Rotary club, Grantsville Rotary club; Kitzmiller Lions club, Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions club, and Oakland Rotary club. Following completion of the house to house survey other groups will aid in classifying, sorting and tabulating the information forms.

Mr. Schell explained that this "labor pool" information would then become a part of the information available for persons seeking sites for industrial plants. He added that any person inquiring about available industry sites will ask first of all about our labor pool. When this is completed we will be able to tell him, he concluded.

Ryan Is Indicted For Tax Evasion

A charge of evading more than $33,000 in federal income taxes for 1953-1956 was handed down Tuesday against Edward J. Ryan, Cumberland and Frostburg attorney and one-time Democratic congressional nominee.

A federal grand jury in Baltimore indicted the man on four counts of filing false joint tax returns for himself and his wife. The indictment said Ryan had listed income of $96,405.98 for the four years and federal income taxes of $26,804.67.

Actually, said the jury, he had an income of $195,941.23 on which the taxes should have been $80,617.90. The total amount of evasion claimed was $53,243.23.

The indictment was filed in U. S. District court and bond of $1,-690 was posted by Ryan. Arraignment was to be set later. His attorneys advised that Ryan would plead not guilty to the charge.

Mercury Dips To 17

The temperature dipped to 17 degrees on Tuesday morning for the coldest record of the fall. Otherwise the week included several days of rainy weather with the moisture turning to snow on Monday.

The snow covered the ground in many areas, particularly at Table Rock and other high points. Since the dip to 17 degree temperature the weather has moderated considerably.

Field Work For Farm Census Begins

Field work in the 1959 Census of Agriculture was scheduled to get underway on November 11 when a force of census takers will start visiting every farm in the area, it was announced by John G. Gibson, field director of the census bureau's regional office in Philadelphia. Census enumerator for this area is Carl W. Frazee, of Oakland.

Mr. Frazee announced the names of his census helpers on Wednesday. He said he had interviewed thirty applicants recommended by various organizations. He said some did not qualify, some decided not to take the job and some were ineligible because of part time work at another job. Abiding by the instructions he received at the training class at Annapolis, he named Claud Harvey, Osborne Beckman, Mrs. Sue Frazee, Stanton Friend, Mrs. Huey Rodeheaver, Austin Brenneman, Wilbur H. Meyers, Mrs. Marjorie Broadwater, Harry C. Edwards and Roy E. Crowe.

He said there would be a three-day training session starting next Wednesday afternoon, November 11, at the Accident Fire hall, and that they would start their work on November 16.

Farm census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators. The census takers will visit all local farms to collect the questionnaires and if necessary, assist the farmer in filling out the report form.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture is the 17th in a series of nationwide farm canvasses, the first of which was conducted in 1840. It is taken at five-year intervals to provide up-to-date statistical information about the nearly five million farms which supply food and raw materials for manufacture of goods used by people of the United States, now numbering about 178 million. The current census will yield information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment and selected farm expenditures.

It was emphasized that all information about individuals and their farm operations furnished to the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence under Federal law. It is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages and percentages. Information on an individual report cannot be furnished to anyone other than sworn Census employes and cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

Three youths were shaken up but not seriously hurt last Friday night when the automobile in which they were riding wrecked on Caddell mountain as they were returning from the Southern-Terra Alta football game at Kingwood.

In the car were William Welch, Douglas Butler and William Deckman. Welch, owner of the car, told that they were crowded off the road. The car was almost completely demolished. Two of the youths were thrown free of the wreckage.

4 Damage Suits Ask $100,000 Each

Are Filed Against School Bus Driver And Railway Company

Four damage suits, asking $100,-000 each, were filed on Friday, October 30, in the Circuit court, Oakland, citing Leroy A. Campbell, of Deer Park, and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company as defendants.

The suits developed as a result of the school bus-train wreck on the Mt. Lake Park crossing on September 10 in which seven students were killed and a number of others injured.

Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., is attorney for the plaintiffs in all four cases. Plaintiffs are Mary Jane Lee, filed by Evelyn Lee, her mother; Sandra Jean Patton, by James Patton, her father; Frances Dixon, by her father, Robert Dixon; and Marjorie Olive Byers by her mother, Mrs. Edith Byers.

The suits in each case claim that Campbell, the bus operator, failed in his duty to operate the school bus "in careful and prudent manner and permitted the same to become stalled on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio; that upon warning of the approaching train he failed to open the emergency door and failed to remain inside the school bus in order to control the vacating said bus and in preventing panic; that he permitted the student passengers to panic and block the front door of the school bus."

The suit also contends that the Railroad company "failed to operate the train in a careful and cautious manner, operated in a careless and negligent manner, with full knowledge and view and in ample time to have stopped."

Injuries to the four persons seriously injured were given in the suits. Mary Jane Lee suffered two fractures of spinal vertebrae, two cracked spinal vertebra, concussion, arm and leg injury and other grievous injuries and disfigurements. She was in the hospital from September 10 to 22 and is presently confined to her home at Deer Park, a total invalid with casts over her entire body.

Shirley Jean Patton has a fractured vertebrae, concussion, lacerations and bruises. She was also hospitalized September 10 to 22, and at present has a cast around her entire body, from her hips to her shoulders.

Frances Dixon has a fractured cheek bone, fractured collar bone, two fractured spinal vertebrae, lacerated heel and severed tendon of the left foot, a severe injury to the left eye, and was hospitalized from September 10 to 23. She has casts and braces over her entire body.

Marjorie Olive Byers has a fractured hip, a fractured rib, spinal injury and lacerations of the scalp. She was hospitalized September 10 to October 3, and is now at her home.

The railroad company was notified over the week-end but Mr. Campbell was not able to be reached. He is now working in another state.

Chances Slim For Improving Route 40

Chances of speeding up the program to improve U. S. 40 west of Hancock are virtually nil, a Legislative Council committee was told on Tuesday.

Why? Because the most feasible method of accelerating the program would be to include it in the federal interstate highway system and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has not seen fit to do so, according to Norman L. Pritchett, chief engineer of the State Roads commission.

As an interstate highway the federal government would support 90 percent of the improvement and the State would provide 10. Otherwise financial problems would delay completion of the program for about 15 years.

In spite of efforts to have the 65-mile stretch of Maryland included in the nationwide system, both adjoining states had to agree to such a proposal. Pennsylvania has always refused to go along because it wanted to make sure that the Pennsylvania Turnpike was included.

Pritchett said that in general highway improvements in Western Maryland were much costlier than those in less mountainous sections.

Schell Mining Fined For Coal Violation

Named Constable

The County Commissioners on Wednesday afternoon officially appointed Raymond Schlossnagle as constable for the Friendsville area. Mr. Schlossnagle operates a store in that town.

He is married and the father of three daughters.

I'M IN NO HURRY TO GET THERE"—Mrs. Vivian Larsen is enroute to Disneyland in California, but it doesn't seem to matter when she gets there. Starting several weeks ago from her home in Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada, she and her daughter, Sandra, 14, passed through Garrett County, along U. S. Route 50, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and entered West Virginia about three miles west of Red House. The Larsens actually left home in July and have covered 1,100 miles in the homemade wagon drawn by a 13-year old horse named Bob. The wagon is 55 years old and is covered with names of people who have greeted them along the journey. They spent Sunday night at Dotson's Mt. Storm Lodge, and Monday with Mrs. Victor Lee, just east of Red House. They average 15 miles a day and do no traveling at night. Mrs. Larsen is shown in the picture. Her daughter remained inside the wagon.

Council Conducts Routine Business

Mostly routine business was conducted at the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland on Monday evening in the City hall.

Following complaints from a number of residents on Oak street concerning the improvement of side streets, Mayor Russell L. Smith along with Howard White, street committee, and Clyde C. Sines, superintendent of the street department, made an inspection of the area and presented their report to the council Monday night.

It was planned to place some of the grievances before officials of the State Roads commission. Mr. Smith had told residents previously that no doubt the work was being done by the contractor according to plans and specifications of the SRC and that if the grievances remained after the work was completed they would be placed before the commission.

Receipts were listed at $12,905.07 with $5,609.18 from water accounts, $1,187.10 from taxes and $5,808.79 from miscellaneous. Among the miscellaneous receipts were $2,-656.67 from the gasoline tax fund and $710.51 from parking meters.

Expenditures amounted to $8,-960.72, with street labor $621.81, street supplies $260.36; water labor $2,266.19 and water supplies, $1,-839.79. The increase in water supplies was for gasoline and labor for hauling water.

Sunday movie tax was reported for October $25.50.

Council decided to place additional parking meters on Oak street from Third to Fourth and to place one-hour parking signs on the south side of Alder street between Third and Fourth.

Thomas K. Vance was given a permit to erect a neon sign on the Gonder building in front of his new store, and John Bernard was granted a sewer permit for his home near Southern High school.

Lions Club Reports Hallowe'en Success

Lions club officials reported net receipts of $170 as a result of the Hallowe'en celebration last Thursday evening. Sponsored jointly by the Lions club and the Mt. City Band, the latter group also reported receipts of $13. Some sixty-three prizes were awarded to the mummers who paraded.

The Friendsville Drum and Bugle corps received an award of $5, and a Polaroid camera was presented to Harold C. Ashby, of Oakland. Robert W. Stemple, in charge of prizes, said some costumed group was awarded a $5 prize but the winners never presented a claim for the award. It will still be paid if a representative of the winning group will present the card that was given out.

The Lions club will inaugurate its annual fruit cake sale for the fifth year on Monday evening, November 9. The club usually clears $340 to $360 on this event. Proceeds go into the activity fund, to be used for various community projects. The three pound cakes sell for $3.

To Observe Holiday

County offices will observe Veterans' Day, next Wednesday, November 11, by remaining closed the entire day.

Court of Honor For Scout Eagle Awards Is Set For Tonight

Eagle Scout badges will be presented this evening to two scouts, one a member of Troop 70, Mt. Lake Park, and one a member of Explorer Post 31, Oakland. They are Carl Pelton and Thomas Formar.

Both qualified for Eagle rank at a council board of review held on October 15, after they had completed all their required merit badges.

Assisting in the presentation will be parents of the two boys and their scoutmasters.

This will be the twenty-third and twenty-fourth Eagle wards to be made in Garrett county since the formation of the Oakland troop in 1921.

A program open to the public has been arranged by the Deep Creek district advancement committee. Invited are cub scouts, boy scouts, explorer scouts, their leaders, parents and other interested persons.

Ralph Fauber, district commissioner, will conduct a brief opening ceremony. Speaker will be Julian Patrick, a veteran scouter from the Tri-Towns area. Mr. Patrick has been a member of the Executive Board of Scouting for a number of years and has served as its president. He is leadership training chairman for the Tri-Valley district at present. He was awarded the Silver Beaver for outstanding service to boyhood by Potomac Council in 1945.

Mr. Patrick is a research chemist with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company and was recently honored by the U. S. Corps of Engineers for his work in connection with the Savage River dam.

Scouts who have advanced in rank since the last court of honor also will be recognized and presented their cards and merit badges.

The affair will be held in the Center street elementary school all-purpose room, and will begin at 8 o'clock.

To Present Pins

Fifty year pins will be awarded to three members of Garrett Lodge No 113, Knights of Pythias, at this Friday's meeting. The presentation will be made by George Cheesman, Grand Chancellor, of Baltimore, to Paul B. Naylor, Ernest Shirer and Robert Gemmell.

Other grand officers from Baltimore will attend, and guests from Lonaconing. Two candidates from the latter lodge will receive the rank of Esquire.

Members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Re-Elected To Council

Paul Calhoun and Stanley Callis were re-elected as members of the town council of Loch Lynn Heights at the annual election on Monday.

Woman Touring By Horse and Buggy

Mrs. Vivian Larsen and her daughter, Sandra, 14, ignoring modern methods of travel, are making a trip by horse and wagon across the United States. They passed through Garrett county, along U. S. route 50, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and are headed westward at about 15 miles per day. They hope to get out of the mountains before there is much snow and cold weather.

They are on their way to Disneyland in Hollywood, California, in a 55-year-old homemade wagon being pulled by a 13-year-old horse.

Since leaving home in July they have traveled some 1100 miles. They do no traveling at night and rely on the hospitality of farm people for a place to stay. Sunday night they were at Dotson's Mt. Storm Lodge, while on Monday night they stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lee, just east of Red House.

She said a set of horseshoes will last 600 to 800 miles and thus far they have had two sets. There is no time limit set for her arrival in California but she remarked that when she does get there she plans on telling Walt Disney a "secret". If he accepts her suggestion she should have plenty of money for future years, she indicated.

They are natives of Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada. The accompanying photo shows the woman and wagon just off the highway at the Hamilton farm just west of Red House.

Friendsville's New Fire Truck To Be Dedicated Sunday

The new fire truck recently purchased by the Community Volunteer Fire Company of Friendsville will be dedicated Sunday with special ceremonies. The occasion also will coincide with the 50th anniversary of the company which was organized in 1909.

The new truck was purchased from Central Fire Apparatus company of St. Louis for $13,500. It is a 500 gallon capacity pumper. The company retained two of its trucks and traded a third on the new truck.

The program will get under way at 2 o'clock with a parade, and the services will be held at 2:30 in front of the fire hall. Open house will follow, with refreshments being served. The Friendsville Drum and Bugle corps and the Northern High School band will participate.

Speaker will be Cromwell Zembower, secretary of the Allegany-Garrett county firemen's association.

To Aid In Dog License Enforcement In County

The County Commissioners on Tuesday morning announced that John Evans, Jr., constable, had been named dog license enforcement officer. He succeeds Ronald W. Guard, who was relieved of his duties last week following the shooting in Friendsville which caused the death of George Schroyer.

To Recall Grand Jury To Hear Murder Testimony

Will Convene November 10; Bond For R. W. Guard Refused

An order to recall the September Term Grand Jury to hear testimony in the case of Ronald W. Guard, of Friendsville, on a charge of first degree murder, was issued Monday morning by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

Judge Fraley issued the order after refusing a writ of habeas corpus on a motion filed last Thursday morning by Guard's attorney, Lewis R. Jones. Had the writ of habeas corpus been granted it would allowed Guard to have been released on bond.

Judge Fraley said he felt that Guard was entitled to trial without waiting for the regular March Term grand jury to convene, which would have been some five months hence.

The grand jury has been ordered to convene on Tuesday, November 10, to hear evidence in the case, and if an indictment is returned, an early trial has been indicated. In the meantime the accused was remanded to the custody of the sheriff and held without bail until the grand jury session. Gerald Iman, Kitzmiller is foreman of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Guard was arrested after George Raymond Schroyer, 40, a Friendsville tavern operator, was shot and killed early Sunday morning, October 25, in front of his place of business. Schroyer died almost instantly from a bullet wound in the right side of the head.

Garrett county authorities said the shot was fired by the Constable, 51. A charge of first degree murder was lodged against the man by Sheriff James E. Frantz, and at a hearing last Thursday morning Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney held him for action of the grand jury without bond.

Mr. Guard pleaded not guilty to the charge and Attorney Jones filed a writ of habeas corpus the same day.

Investigating officers said there were several eyewitnesses to the shooting and that conflicting stories had been told. Guard told Sheriff Frantz the revolver discharged accidentally as he attempted to break up a tussle between Schroyer and Raymond Coddington. Police were told that Coddington and Schroyer were not fighting but just "acting the fool" and "horsing around."

Mr. Guard was officially relieved of his position as constable, effective immediately, by the County Commissioners, who had appointed him several months ago upon recommendation of the Democratic State Central Committee. Mr. Guard was also assisting in the collection of dog license money from residents of the county who owned such animals. He was an unsuccessful candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket in the election last November.

Petition Is Denied By Judge Harris

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland, has denied the petition of William Baxter Bailey, of this county, under the Post Conviction Procedure Act whereby he sought his freedom from the House of Correction.

Bailey was sentenced in the Circuit court here to two years in the House of Correction on two counts of forgery when he was tried August 28. The court had appointed Fred A. Thayer as counsel for the accused.

In his petition the prisoner raised the following points, that his family is being unfairly punished because of his incarceration, that the informations on which he was tried were not sworn to by the prosecuting witnesses and that there was no evidence presented in court although the witnesses were present.

Judge Harris, in his written opinion that "these points are rather frivolous." The first point has no merit whatsoever and the second and third points misinterpret the law, the court ruled.

Girl Scout Meeting Set

A meeting of ll registered Girl Scouts, adults and other interested persons will be held Wednesday evening, November 11, at 8 o'clock, in the Scout hall, it was announced.

A study is to be made of the final steps necessary to organize a new six-county Girl Scout Council.

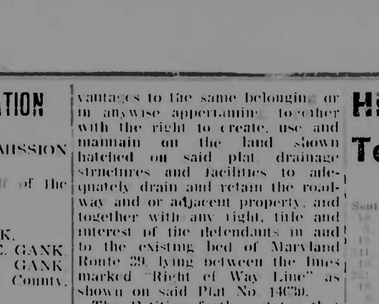
Highlanders Drub Terra Alta 28-0



Southern High school scored in three out of four periods last Friday night at Kingwood to hand Terra Alta's football team a 28-0 pasting.

Quarterback Stuck paced the Oakland team to victory by throwing two touchdown passes and scoring one himself.

Oakland gained 199 yards rushing and 120 passing on 10 completions in 19 pass attempts. Terra Alta got 77 rushing and six passing. The Hilltoppers hit on only one of eight pass tries. First downs favored Southern 13 to 4.

The Highlander touchdowns were scored in this order:

Terry Colaw, on a 33-yard pass from Stuck; Prince on an 18-yard pass from Stuck. Stuck on a one-yard plunge, and Duling on a 7-yard run.

R. Colaw, T. Colaw and Duling scored extra points on runs and Haines got the other on a toss from Stuck.

It was the fourth win for Southern against as many losses. Coach Earl Adolfson's boys scored touchdowns in the first and second period and added two six-pointers in the final quarter.

Terra Alta failed to make a first down in the first half and gained just 25 yards during that time. Southern kicked off to T. A. to open the game. After failing to gain a first down T. A. punted to the Southern 29. Stuck returned the punt 18 yards. Seven rushing plays carried to the 20. Stuck then passed to T. Colaw for the first TD and Ron Colaw plunged the extra point.

Later in the second quarter a short punt gave Southern the ball on the T. A. 46-yard line. Stuck passed 20 yards to Bill Duling. T. Colaw carried 10 yards for another first down. After a four-yard loss Stuck passed 18 yards to John Prince for the TD. T. Colaw ran the extra point.

Both teams were hampered by penalties in the third quarter and neither scored. Southern was nipped four times for penalties of 50 yards. Terra Alta had two for 30 yards. A spurt by T. A. gained 14 yards on three plays to end the quarter. A penalty and pass interception by Southern early in the fourth quarter ended the threat.

The loss gave Terra Alta a record of four wins and four losses with one tie. It will end its season next week against undefeated Masontown Valley.

Southern's much improved team will attempt to gain its fifth victory Friday at 2:30 p. m. against Petersburg. Coach "Whitey" Adolfson said Petersburg had a "tough" team but that a victory was far from impossible. Petersburg lost to Keyser 12 to 0 last week and the week previous Southern lost to Keyser 20 to 0, but pushed the Golden Tornado all over the field in the first half and statistics-wise appears to better advantage against them than Petersburg. Southern has yet to boast of a victory over Petersburg.

In the eight games played thus far Southern has scored 121 points compared to 85 for their opponents.

The Highlanders lost their first three games, Moorefield, 25 to 7; West Virginia School for the Deaf, 13 to 6; Beall High of Frostburg 14 to 0, then won three straight, St. Francis of Morgantown, 20 to 0; Northern High Huskies, 40 to 13; Kingwood, 20 to 0; then lost to Keyser 20 to 0, and won last Friday from Terra Alta 28 to 0.

In the lineup last Friday for Southern were Prince, Bergner, Propst, Terrant, Bolyard, Haines, Stuck, Cerne, T. Colaw, Duling and R. Colaw. Several substitutes were used including Butler, Gower, Riggs, DiSimone, J. Duvall, D. Dixon, L. Cooper, J. Beckman and K. Martin.

Plan to Re-apportion Delegates Submitted

A compromise plan to give Maryland counties more seats in the House of Delegates was submitted to Gov. Tawes by his special commission last week.

The size of the Baltimore City delegation, now 36 members, would be frozen at that number. Under the proposed formula the four largest, Prince Georges, Montgomery, Anne Arundel and Baltimore counties would pick up additional seats after the 1960 census. That's because they already exceed 250,000 in population, the mark at which the commission would give another seat to counties now having the present maximum of six.

Other counties also could gain seats after they reach certain population limits, but all growth in representation would end when the House membership reached 141, compared with its present 123.

No changes in the membership of the state Senate are proposed. Each of the 23 counties would continue to have one seat, as would each of Baltimore City's six legislative districts.

From the 1867 adoption of State Constitution until House membership was frozen in 1950, this was the formula for apportionment of seats: Two seats for counties with 18,000 population or less; three, 18,000 to 28,000; four, 28,000 to 40,000; five, 40,000 to 55,000; six, more than 55,000.

The commission proposed at least two seats for each county; Three seats, for any county which now has two seats but whose population reaches 50,000 in any future census up to 1980; four, population of 75,000; five, 100,000; six, 150,000; seven, 200,000. For every additional 100,000 increase in population after that, a county would pick up one more seat until it reached the individual maximum of 10 seats.

Eisenhower approved New York fas 1964 site of World Fair.

P-TA To Improve Center St. Grounds

Plans to make some improvement on the Center Street Playground in Oakland were discussed and approved at the school's P.-T. A. last Monday evening. The P.-T. A. has budgeted monies to repair the playground equipment already installed. W. C. Englander, president, said money already was available.

Willard Elliott, Playground Chairman, has indicated that 25 men will donate their services to help this coming Saturday, weather permitting.

Other actions approved by the association, include the purchase of an American flag and a Maryland flag and stands for the stage in the Multi-Purpose Room, the purchase of a large projection screen, and a podium for the new room.

Mr. Englander, and Robert Rodeheaver, Principal, will represent the Center Street P.-T. A. at the annual P.-T. A. Meeting on Thursday and Friday of this week, being held in Baltimore.

Mrs. Wayne Johnson, membership chairman, reported that 226 parents have joined the Center Street P.-T. A. Mr. Rodeheaver said that if the membership continued to increase, it would reach an all-time high. At the present time, Mrs. Mary Jackson, 3rd grade, leads the school, with 41 members. At the end of this week the room having the highest percent of members will receive an ice-cream party.

Following the business meeting, parents visited their child's classroom, where teachers discussed the curriculum of the school.

EVERY DAY MORE FAMILIES ENJOY ELECTRIC COOKING!

Right around here homemakers experienced in the use of cool, wood, or gas for cooking, were a little slower in turning to electric cooking than in some other states.

Now, the pace is growing faster for the women who cook electrically are not a bit reluctant when it comes to praising electric cooking over and above the older methods with which they were too, too familiar.

They have good reasons for doing this. They like the time and labor saving features; the white-glove cleanliness; and the safety. Others want to be proud of everything in their homes. That's why they choose electric cooking, water heating, clothes drying, and electric house heating.

Yes, the trend is definitely toward total-electric homes, including, of course, ELECTRIC COOKING!

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there! It's real great to be back after a week's vacation

Have you seen the upsurge of school spirit in Southern? If you haven't you have to be almost blind or, if you live in town, deaf. I personally think that we should have had Mrs. Lucille Kerns years ago. She is a fireball and it's contagious to parents and students alike. Let's put some glory on the head of Ann Lee Lohr and the Southern cheerleaders. What spirit!

Teen Club has been running exceptionally well. We are more than adequately chaperoned, which is something comparatively new to teen club. Usually we have had a hard time getting parents to come up but they have been really cooperative.

You all know how I feel about rock 'n roll (at least you should after a year of tolerating me) well, there is another type of music that is very popular in this area and that is country western, or "hillybilly." I'm starting a new feature in Teen Corner on popular or talented people in the area, county music kind of ties in.

There is a fine, feminine, and cultured voice, heard on WELD practically every day of the week. Who does it belong to? This voice belongs to a very pretty, 22 year old miss named Shirley Lee Culp. She is known to her many fans as just plain Shirley Lee.

Shirley's main ambition, it seems is to be a radio announcer. Right now she has a radio license but she still wants to go to school. She does some announcing on WELD but a lot more singing, Shirley has, if not spectacular, a very pleasant and exceptionally well trained voice. Many country music fans travel all over this area to hear and dance to the Western and The Rovin' Ramblers, with which Shirley appears.

All in all Shirley Lee Culp is a fine ambitious miss who will go places and in my opinion the day will not be too far in the future when other than country music fans know the name . . . Shirley Lee. . . .!

Next week we'll have the second in Teen Corners' new series on popular and talented people of the area.

Keep your eye on the new rocker, "Handy Man." It's bound to go up, up, up'!

Delia Reese has really scored with her "Don't You Know." Boy, is that disc selling.

Let's all support Southern home coming dance and I'll see you all at Teen Club tomorrow night.

New Germany School—Circa 1900

By Ross C. Durst

It is the opinion of the young and sophisticated that it is a sign of age when we live too much in the past. There may be a grain of truth in this observation when carried to extremes, but it is also true that the youth have no past. It is only our senior citizens that have a past worth reliving.

This rare old photograph is reprodneed here through the kindness of Emma and Samuel Otto who found it among their souvenirs. It is of special interest to me because, so far as is known, it was my first picture. The photo is by E. E. Conrad of Meyersdale, Pa.

The occasion was probably the last day of school. The time is believed to be very early in the spring of 1900. School closed early in those days so that the boys could work on the farm. In 1895 the school term lasted only 6 weeks so that a brick school building could be built in Oakland. It was probably 5 months in 1900. Mountain laurel is in evidence but no foliage on the trees.

The school building was located on the road running along the dam on a site formerly occupied by an old sawmill. Nearby was a floating bridge across the dam consisting of logs fastened together end to end. A few years later the building night. The picture was taken nearly a mile from the building.

The group was posed directly in front of the Bear's Den described in the June, 1959, issue of The Glades Star. The entrance to the cave can be dimly seen in the background and in the center of the picture. It is almost hidden by the young man and woman (as yet unidentified). Just why this site was elected for the picture, I do not know unless it was for sentimental reasons. Certainly there were no speleologists among the group except for the small fry and they were all decked out in their "Sunday-go to meeting" clothes. Hardly the occasion for explorations. It is not known when Meshack Browning last visited the Den. It is known that he did go hunting after 1811. Incidentally, this is the 100th anniversary of his death which occurred Nov. 19, 1859

The teacher was bouncy, fun-loving Louis Leathem, a young man of 19. He was greatly loved by students and patrons alike. I well recall our first meeting. My father was one of the school-trustees (Another was C. J. Otto). I do not remember the third, perhaps it was Stephen Broadwater. Louis stopped at our home to apply for the position of teacher of the New Germany school. In view of my experience with several more serious-minded teachers, it was difficult to believe he could really be a teacher. Needless to say the request was readily granted and a happy and successful school year followed. His untimely death in 1904 saddened the community. We all owed him a deep debt of gratitude.

As might be surmised, there are a number of patrons and visitors in the group, come no doubt to do honor to the passing of a unique experience. We all knew that he would not return. It was customary in those days that a teacher should never teach the same school more than one year.

The Miller family, so well represented in the picture, had lived for quite a number of years in the old Governor Thomas House at New Germany (See The Glades Star, Feb., 1955).

Only two marriages occurred within the group. Orville Stark married Mary Warnick and Floyd Broadwater married Mertie Otto. All the others chose their mates elsewhere. Most of the group continued to live in Western Maryland although a number moved to Ohio. One now lives in Wisconsin and one in California.

Were it possible to assemble the group today, there would be many vacant places. More than a dozen have passed on to the Great Beyond. However, the really amazing fact remains: although the picture was taken nearly 60 years ago more than half of the group are still living.

Many of the girls are wearing flowers and most of the boys wear boutonnieres, apparently daisies. It is also to be noted that most of the boys are wearing some kind of lapel buttons, the significance of which, escapes me. The year 1900 was a presidential election year, William McKinley and Teddy Roosevelt vs. Wm. Jennings Bryan. If those buttons are campaign buttons, they were really getting an early start. Perhaps it was just a youthful fad.

It would be an interesting experiment for my old friends in Garrett County to see how many of the group they can identify before consulting the identification list below. Reading from left to right, the members of the group are as follows: Back Row Standing: Lily Miller (Bamm), "Grandma" Margaret (Crowe) Miller, "Aunt Louvinia" (Durst) Broadwater, holding little Jennie Brown by the hand; Ross Durst, Orville Stark, Charles Warnick, Lizzie Miller (Durst), Marshall Durst, Raymond Broadwater, Samuel Otto, Floyd Broadwater; Second Row—Seated, left: Louis Leathem, teacher, Clarence Glotfelty; Second Row—Standing, right: Cora Miller (Patton-Davies), Carrie Durst (Garlitz), Third Row—Standing: Emma Warnick (Hummel), Clara Stark (Stevenson), Rosa Otto, Mary Warnick (Stark), Susan Durst (Kolflesch-Young), Dora Durst (Raley), Mertie Otto (Broadwater), Front Row—Standing: Sarah Durst (Rain), Harry Miller George Durst, Pearl Otto (Faris), Stanley Swanger, Gideon Miller (Head showing), Ida Stark (Michaels-Menke), Lois Warnick (Murphy-Freeman Stark, Cora Durst (Broadwater); Seated—Right; Alvin Stark

In conclusion, I wonder if I might be permitted to indulge in a little sentimental expression. It has been my great good fortune to enjoy many friendships over the years and in many places but somehow the friends of my youth have always held a special place in my affections. To those who have answered their last roll-call in the school of life; our epitaph would be "You have fought the good fight. Rest in peace". To those who still remain, may your sunset years be long and pleasant ones.—Reprinted from Glades Star.

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY Monthly News

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Help Children Avoid Trouble.
To them, a package of pills or tablets, or a colorful bottle of medicine is a fascinating toy.

Medicines Can Be Dangerous.
If a large enough amount is absorbed, any medicine can become poisonous. Too often prescriptions, which are perfectly safe to take in their proper dosage, are carelessly left where little children can get at them.

Please Danger-Check Your Home Now.
1. Collect all medicines and put them in a place impossible for children to reach.
2. While doing this throw away everything that is old, or with contents you do not know.
3. Then, when you finish taking a dose of any medicine, don't carelessly leave it exposed to tempt children, but immediately place it away from their reach.

Always Read The Label Of Any Medicine.
Never give or take any medicine without reading the label and directions to make certain it is the exact one you want.

Pharmacists Always Check Labels.
While compounding prescriptions, we read the label of each ingredient when we take it off the shelf. We carefully read the label again before we compound the medicine. We next, for the third time, check the label and contents before we dispense the prescription. If you will be as careful, you will prevent trouble.

Letter to the Editor

The Republican
Congratulations! To the Akron mother, who wrote, "A Mother Defines School Bus Driver."

That is a splendid definition! I know because I rode the school bus there in your beautiful Garrett Co. hills during the four years of my high school days.

Since then, I am married, have children of my own and living in the suburbs of Philadelphia, Pa. We don't have school bus transportation here in this small suburban town. Our children have to walk almost a mile one way, and then they are not permitted to take their lunch to school. There isn't any school cafeteria, and the children have to clear out of the school building during the lunch hour period. Therefore it is necessary for them to make four trips during the course of one day. This is no picnic for little tots in the first grade, rain, sleet and snow they have to go! walk! In most cases the mother feels it is necessary to walk with her child during the first grade year.

Yes indeed! I wish we had a bus driver here. I'm sure we would sing a whole lot of praise for him.

In the opinion of this writer the man at the wheel of a school bus deserves respect, thanks, and above all, a well paid salary, for all the gray hairs he has obtained from the nonsense he has to overlook driving in all kinds of weather, and road condtions nine months of the year!

To the school bus drivers everywhere you are doing a wonderful Job! I hope someday we will be lucky enough to have school bus service and a little old driver to chauffeur our youngsters to and from school everyday.

Sincerely,
A Mom Who Knows

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

The Ugly American is a book that should be read by every American. A more descriptive title would have been "The Stupid American." The book has become highly controversial. Some people in our State Department do not like it. Other exponents of the striped-trousers, cocktail party type of "diplomacy," including a few highly placed Senators, do not like it. The book dramatizes the fact that our foreign policy practices in strategic parts of the world are stupid—alienating friends, wasting billions of tax money, and contributing to the continuing, bit-by-bit victories of Communists all over the world.

The authors, William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick, know what they are writing about. Both are established American journalists. Captain Lederer is a ranking Naval officer and an authority on Southeast Asia, which is the setting for the fictionalized story The Ugly American. Eugene Burdick studied at first hand the politics of the area and events that later were to become a part of the book. Both men developed an overpowering impulsion to warn the American people of the nature of our disastrous defeats in diplomacy and foreign policy. So they wrote a fictional story based on factual incidents and circumstances.

It is such an important book that, although it was written in a kind of pulp fiction style, it was chosen as a Book-of-the-Month Club selection and is now in its 16th printing. Some publicity on the book has implied that it holds the American people up to scorn before the eyes of the world. It doesn't. It clearly pictures the American people, as a whole, in good character with high motives and unselfish intentions toward their neighbors throughout the world.

However, the book does indict the American people for ignorance and apathy in the face of what the authors consider to be disastrous conditions in our world-wide foreign service; and it warns that these conditions may indicate that the nation itself is losing integrity and power "in bits and fragments."

The locale of the story is Sarkhan, a mythical country in southeast Asia. In every activity of foreign service in Sarkhan—and the rest of southeast Asia—the Communists are shown to be outsmarting the United States. The U. S. foreign service characters, with few exceptions, are depicted as incompetent in just about everything except playing host at Embassy parties and hoisting cocktails. These U. S. representatives are shown to have an almost total lack of understanding of the Sarkanese problems, the nation's people, and the dedicated, cunning Communists. No American official can understand the native language or read the local newspapers.

The Ugly American, in effect, draws into telephoto focus the dreadful menace of Communism, particularly the high calibre of intelligence and dedication being employed by the Reds in all the countries of the world, and our continuing defeat. In an epilogue, authors Lederer and Burdick soberly state: "Without pitting one Soviet soldier against one American soldier, the Soviet has won a staggering series of victories .... Even among the nations which have seemed committed to us there is a rising tide of anti-Americanism. ... We have been losing, not only in Asia, but everywhere."

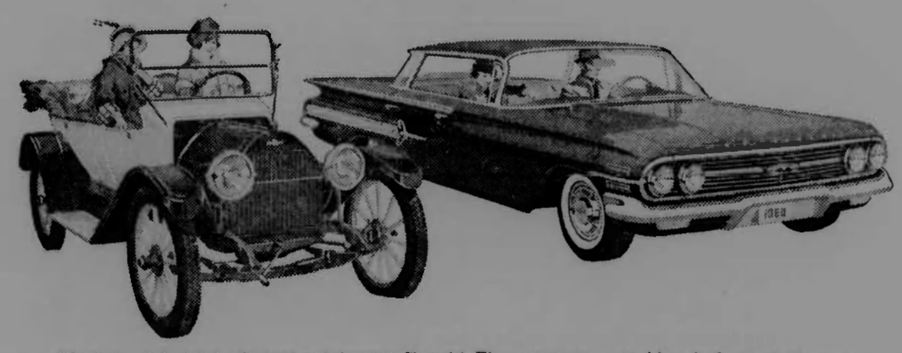
(Although this is addressed to Chevrolet owners, we'd be glad to have you read it, no matter what make you now own or plan to buy. It might well be as interesting and significant to you as to the Chevrolet owner.)

TO THE MORE THAN 16 MILLION PEOPLE WHO OWN CHEVROLETS



The first and the latest—the 1912 and the 1960 Chevrolet. The progress represented here is the result of continuing efforts to make your new Chevrolet always more beautiful, more useful and more valuable in every respect.

You belong to the largest family of owners in the automotive world.

We hope you're proud of that. It must give you great satisfaction to know that your judgment in choosing Chevrolet has been confirmed by so many other people.

We know that we can hold your preference and your loyalty only by meeting our responsibilities to you fully and completely from the day you buy your Chevrolet to the day you trade it in. And so we'd like to talk with you about our responsibilities as we see them, and what we are doing to meet them.

Our first responsibility, we think, is clear: To design and build products that satisfy your needs and your wants to the highest possible degree. To that end, we have done these things for 1960:

Made the 1960 Chevrolet more economical, roomier, more quiet and comfortable, easier to handle and maneuver. Introduced the compact and revolutionary Corvair. Produced a new line of Chevrolet trucks with unprecedented advances in efficiency, cargo handling, driver comfort and ability to get a job done.

They must be built right. Solidly. Carefully.

Let us assure you of this: Chevrolet's fine reputation as a solid, well-built, dependable product is being safeguarded by more checks and inspections and tests, than ever before.

Along with your Chevrolet dealer, we want you to have available the finest and most complete service facilities. That is why we: Conduct training schools for Chevrolet dealer mechanics. Study and recommend improved service equipment and techniques. Maintain the industry's most complete parts warehouse system.

Finally, neither Chevrolet nor your Chevrolet dealer has any intention of forgetting you after you buy. To help keep you happy with your Chevrolet, we have established a department new to us, and so far as we know, new to the automobile industry. This is the Chevrolet Department of Owner Relations, whose only job is the coordination of Chevrolet and Chevrolet dealer activities so that you enjoy utmost satisfaction during your entire period of ownership. Through this department, and through all the other extraordinary steps we are taking, Chevrolet and your Chevrolet dealer hope to keep you a happy member of the Chevrolet owner family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Edmund Harvey, who passed away ten years ago, November 9, 1949.
November brings sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest;
She will never be forgotten
By the ones who loved her best.
We do not lose the ones we love—
They only go before;
Where there is everlasting life
Where sorrow is no more.
And there the soul will always live
And peace is everywhere.
We do not lose the ones we love
God takes them in his care.
Your memory to us is a keepsake
With which we shall never part;
Though God has you in his keeping
We still have you in our hearts.
Sadly missed by her husband, Edmund Harvey, Children and Grandchildren.

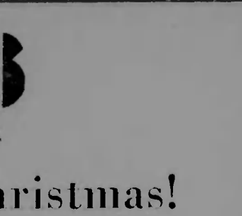
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Better Health Through Knowledge

Migraine Explained

- Vinegar
- "Extra" Heartbeats



Q. Would you please explain migraine headache?—R.W.

A. Migraine headache is a special kind of head pain which occurs at more or less regular intervals. In some persons the attack may start with some type of transient disturbance of vision. There may be other warning symptoms such as chills, sweating or dizziness. The headache, often involving only one side of the head, soon follows and may be associated with nausea and vomiting. The neck and head muscles are often tense and painful during and after a migraine attack. The warning symptoms are possibly due to constriction of head arteries. The headache itself is thought to be produced by dilatation of the vessels which stimulate nerves in the vessel walls. Treatment prescribed by doctors is directed toward preventing attacks through use of drugs. At the present time there is no completely effective cure.

Q. Is cider vinegar harmful? Does taking it regularly reduce weight?

A. There is no reason why vinegar should be harmful, provided it is used in moderate amounts. Sour drinks of any variety might suppress the appetite and thus influence weight. On the other hand, regular dosing with undiluted vinegar or concentrated juices for long periods would not seem advisable considering the possible irritating effects on the lining membrane of the stomach and intestines.

Q. What is the condition called in which there are extra heartbeats? Is this harmful?

A. The reader probably refers to "extrasystole." Although "extra" beats (premature beats is a better term) may occur in certain heart disorders, they are generally not too important. Premature beats often occur in otherwise healthy people of any age although they tend to show up more frequently in later life. According to a Harvard Medical School doctor, some people have premature beats all their lives and are not handicapped in any way. When extrasystoles are troublesome, doctors prescribe drugs which often eliminate the premature beats entirely.

Cumberland Teeners Are Arrested Here

Two Cumberland teen-agers were arrested in Oakland Sunday evening in connection with several theft cases in Allegany county and are now being held in the Cumberland City Jail.

The youths, both 16, were nabbed by Cpl. Sam Conrad of the State Police as they were walking along the highway Sunday after they had registered at a motel.

The pair, each armed with a .25 calibre automatic pistol and carrying two other weapons in a small suitcase, were enroute to a restaurant when spotted.

Search was underway following the theft of six automatic pistols and 1,450 rounds of ammunition from the Wilson Hardware company in Cumberland over a week ago.

Conrad reported the two dropped their weapons in some leaves along the highway when they realized they had been spotted.

They admitted two burglaries and the theft of clothing from Cumberland stores, and money from a tavern. When picked up in Oakland they were wearing the stolen clothing, police said. Most of the ammunition had been snot up.

The weapons and ammunition were valued at nearly $350. Police indicated they would recommend that juvenile court waive jurisdiction over the pair in order that they be charged with more serious crimes.

The youths were identified yesterday as John N. Leighty, route 4; and Franklin C. White, route 1, Cumberland. The Juvenile court authorities have waived jurisdiction in the case and they will be given a hearing in Allegany County Circuit court.

The two boys have indicated they wanted an immediate trial.

Additional Cabins At Herrington Manor Being Constructed

Four new six-party log cabins, now in early construction stage at Herrington Manor, will complete the 29 cabin unit which began in the late 1930s.

The first cabins were built by members of the Civilian Conservation corps. Since then the area has been developed by the Forestry department.

Foundations for the new cabins are being prepared by employes of the Forestry department who will cut logs from pine trees planted in the area about 20 years ago. Logs will be allowed to season and will be treated before being used. Cabins are expected to be completed by mid-summer next year.

The cabins, to house up to nine persons, will measure 24 by 30 and include a living room, adjoining bunk room, kitchen, bath and a loft. Cabins will be equipped with electricity, running water, toilet facilities, refrigerator, gas stove for cooking and an open hearth.

Present cabins include 11 six-party cabins; four four-party cabins and one two party cabin.

THE AMERICAN WAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Alfred P. Haake, Ph. D., is a noted economist, public relations consultant, author and lecturer.)

When Nikita Khrushchev told Richard Nixon that they would bury us, he was telling nothing new. Stalin, and Lenin before him, recognized that Communism as they knew it could never win control over the world unless they first destroyed what they called "Capitalism." Khruschev merely accepted and followed through on their thinking. As did the group of leaders through whom each of the Russian dictators rules that country.

When Khrushchev was over here he was asked to clarify the statement. He told us straight to our faces that they did intend to establish Communism over Capitalism as the ruling system of the world through economic competition. They would bury us through the triumph of Communism over our Western Capitalism as a way of life. Bear in mind, please, he still holds to the tenet that the world cannot hold both of these systems as controlling systems. One must win over the other, and he is so sure that Communism will win that he dares to tell us that they will bury us.

It was Abraham Lincoln who warned us that if ever the United States is destroyed it will not be from the outside, but from the inside, by a process of suicide. And the events of the past twenty-five years demonstrate that what Abraham Lincoln warned us against is actually in process of coming to pass. We are destroying ourselves.

Our very prosperity seduced us into an ever-spreading search after "something for nothing." Our unsere forebears, winning a hard livelihood from rock-infested soil, developed qualities of self-reliance, endurance and initiative that spurred our population westward to win a continent even as industry developed in the areas they left behind them.

With the increased production of goods per capita, there was more food, more clothing and more of everything else, to say nothing of the myriad of new products that further enriched our rising standard of living. Plumbing moved indoors and an Arabian Nights succession of time and labor-saving devices freed women and men for more leisure and further increased our productive capacity.

That is a brief way of saying that in an incredibly short time our growing population, constituting about six percent of the world population, was enjoying almost one-half of the world's wealth and income. Our poor became the envy of the well-to-do in other parts of the world.

There were some bad spots, of course. Not all men benefitted as they should, and the too-rapid rise of industry brought some tragedies in its wake. But, on the whole, it was a tremendous achievement and led a once thoroughly self-reliant but now prosperity-softened people to seek more and more help from government, as they encountered occasional setbacks on their march.

The desire of "something for nothing," and the increasing reliance on government to solve our economic problems and relieve us of the consequences of our mistakes, have brought us, step by step, to accept collectivism as the answer to our economic and political problems.

"Let the Government do it," is a slogan that spells ultimate disaster.

The agility with which government has seized that opportunity points to another danger, the yearning of men for power over each other. Hitler and the rest won power over their people by offering easy remedies in exchange for freedom. We have done the same thing, under other names, and the result is the same, whether it is called Fascism, Naziism, Communism of the Welfare State. It means increasing control of our economic life by government, the triumph of collectivism. It has destroyed civilization after civilization built on the strength and character of the individual citizen, as an individual.

How we can still stop our self-destruction is another matter, on which I shall offer my suggestions in a later article.

House On Backbone Destroyed By Fire

An early morning blaze Sunday destroyed the frame bungalow and belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barnard, who resided seven miles west of Bloomington on Backbone Mountain.

They escaped from the burning home in their nightclothes. Their 15-year-old son, Charles, an eighth grade student at Bruce High school, was visiting his grandfather.

Mr. Barnard, former police chief of Westernport, was awakened by smoke which he detected in the bedroom about 1 a. m.

Volunteer firemen from Westernport and Tri-Towns fought the blaze for three hours and kept it confined to the frame bungalow of four rooms and bath. The firemen kept water lines trained on the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harris as a strong wind was blowing in an easterly direction toward their dwelling.

They pumped water from a pond about a mile from the burning dwelling. The Barnard home, relatively new, was about ready to collapse when the volunteers arrived.

The United Organization of Tri-Towns has outfitted the family with clothing. The victims are staying with friends. The loss was partially covered by insurance, according to the Piedmont fire chief. He said the blaze probaby was caused by an overheated furnace.

Gov. Underwood of West Virginia planned to ask 1960 legislature to repeal soft drink tax extension.

Last week's old picture, which showed a postoffice and general store near Oakland some 40 years ago, and which was published without identification, soon brought response from readers who recalled the scene.

"I remember the building well," and Mrs. Peder E. Baasland, "for I got my first love letter there." She correctly pinpointed the building as the Sines postoffice, the picture having been taken in 1919. The photograph was supplied by Mrs. Roger Tower, of Deep Creek Village.

At the time construction of Deep Creek Lake had not been begun, and indeed was hardly contemplated.

Oscar Sines, now living nearby, said he went to house-keeping in that house 25 years ago.

This Week's Picture

The picture today will take you back some years further—to 1911 it is believed, when the cornerstone of the Pythian Castle in Oakland was laid. According to Harry Stemple, who submitted the photograph, the smart team of horses was owned by Alvey Kelley, who, at the time, operated a livery stable adjacent to the former Manhattan Hotel.

On the driver's seat is Mr. Kelley, and standing beside the carriage is George W. Lougbridge, whose house on Third Street is pictured in the immediate background. Standing at the head of the team is Tom Martin, the operator of another livery stable, then on the corner of Third and Oak streets, who was probably envious of Mr. Kelley's fortune in securing the K. of P. carriage business. In the rear seat are Grand Lodge officers from Baltimore.

Mr. Loughridge's daughter, Mrs. Nettie Thrasher, now occupies the building and operates a gift shop there. The picture was taken some time after 1901, since the Pritchard building, where the Maryland Theatre, or Pythian Building now stands, is not in evidence. The Pritchard building was destroyed by fire about 1904 and also caught the Lutheran church on the corner, on the site now occupied by Rolyan.

The building in the distance, to the right of the Loughridge building, facing Alder street, was the Townshend store building now occupied by Economy Market.

Three Cited To Appear

Three persons were cited to appear before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney for failure to obtain licenses for their dogs, in recent days.

They were Lucille Kyle, Luther Werdebaugh and Perry Sines, all of Oakland, and all with two dogs.

List No Violations In Fatal Bus Mishap

A special committee investigating the train-bus accident of September 10 which killed seven school pupils at the Mt. Lake Park crossing reported Saturday it had found no law violation.

But the committee set up by Gov. J. Millard Tawes made 18 recommendations which it said might help avert similar tragedies in the future.

Besides those killed, 11 other pupils were injured when the Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger train, running five minutes behind schedule crashed into the stalled school bus at the Park crossing.

The bus driver, Leroy Allen Campbell, 49, of Deer Park, and nine pupils escaped serious injury.

One of the recommendations of the committee, headed by Chairman John B. Funk, of the State Roads commission, was that school buses be equipped with revolving type flashing lights or "dome flashers" to be used in such emergencies. State police said the train engineer and firemen, when they rounded a curve and first spotted the bus, were not certain whether it was stalled or moving.

Another recommendation calls for a "sufficient number of bus drills to insure automatic evacuation on the part of pupils." Eyewitnesses said after the accident there had been some confusion among the pupils and a brief jam at the front bus door may have prevented some from escaping before the train hit.

Neither the special committee report nor a separate State Police probe incorporated into the committee report pinpointed the cause of the bus stall.

But the committee said school buses should "stay in starting gear until they are clear of the railroad crossing" and "steps should be taken to eliminate uneven road conditions over crossings."

"Unusually rough roads over railroad tracks increase the possibility of buses stalling," the report noted. It ruled out faulty equipment as a possible cause of the accident.

"Investigation revealed that bus, train and railroad equipment were in first class operating condition and that both the engineer and the bus operator had recently passed a physical examination indicating they were physically fit to perform the duties they were assigned," it said.

Other Recommendations

Investigations also were conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Garrett County grand jury and the county state's attorney, none of whom reported any violations by the driver or the train engineer, Otto Droege, 66, of Cumberland.

Other committee recommendations included the use of safety patrolmen in each bus, the possible use of "safety gasoline tanks" in buses, the possible elimination of railroad grade crossings, and the appointment of a state supervisor of transportation to administer pupil transportation programs.

The investigators said the train was proceeding at 50 miles per hour, the speed limit for that section of track, shortly before the accident and had slowed to 35 miles per hour when it hit the bus.

Interviews with the engineer and his fireman, Edgar L. Hellen, 39, of Cumberland, "indicated that when they came around a curve, 2,700 feet west of the crossing, did not at first notice the bus, but when they did notice the bus there was some discussion as to whether the bus was moving," the State Police report said.

When they realized that the bus had stopped, the engineer immediately threw his train into emergency, applying his air brakes, which also automatically shuts off the power to the motors of the diesel engines."

The investigators found that railroad lights and a warning bell at the crossing were not in operation when the bus stopped at the crossing, but were set off after it stalled on the track and the train approached with 2,250 feet. It is at this point that the train enters the electric circuit actuating the warning lights and bells.

Unable To Start Bus

After making several unsuccessful attempts to start the bus and the railroad warning apparatus went into operation, the State Police report said, the driver "immediately got off his bus and was heard to tell the 27 children to get off the bus as there was a possibility that it would be struck by the train."

"From 10 to 12 of the children were able to get off. Witnesses also indicate that the driver was on the ground and at one time ran to the rear of the bus, for what reason it is not clearly known.

"However, one young witness stated that he believed that the bus driver waved his hands in a stop motion to the engineer of the train.

"We do know that one of the young girls alighting from the bus fell in the tracks and the bus driver ran over, picked her up and carried her out of the way. About that time the train struck the left rear of the bus."

The police report said the train had been scheduled to make the crossing at 8:24 a. m. and the accident occurred at 8:29 a. m.

The master report by the governor's committee said 2,258 Maryland school buses travel 24 million miles a year to transport more than 215,000 school children daily.

"Motor transportation has been the practice in this State for nearly 50 years," the report said. "During this entire period, prior to the tragic experience in Garrett County, there is no record that any child ever lost his life while on a school bus on a regular run."

Centennial of Civil War Begins In 1962

The National Civil War Centennial Commission officials have expressed satisfaction that Maryland has become the first state to issue an invitation for the public at large to participate in its forthcoming Centennial program.

In a public announcement following a meeting of the Maryland Historical society in Baltimore on October 31, Governor J. Millard Tawes called the attention of the American people to the importance of the battle of Antietam and said he hoped the general public would make plans to attend when it was re-enacted in 1962.

In a little more than a year the first of the programs planned throughout the nation will be taking place. Maryland is planning a commemorative program that will begin September 6, 1962, and wind up with a re-enactment of the fighting in the Antietam battle that took place along Bloody Lane and around the Dunkard church.

Ellsworth R. Roulette is chairman of the Maryland commission and Dr. Walter H. Shealey is secretary. Mr. Roulette pointed out that the coming centennial is of concern to Marylanders in every section. Every Maryland county is represented on the 38-man centennial commission. Member from this county is Dennis T. Rasche, Oakland, one of the editors of the Glades Star, publication of the Garrett County Historical society.

It has been suggested that people of this county might plan one or two observances of episodes such as the big scale cavalry operation known as the General William E. Jones raid, or the spectacular but unsuccessful attempt of McNeill's Rangers to destroy the Baltimore and Ohio railroad bridge at Bloomington.

Thirty-seven states have organized civil war centennial commissions and others are expected to follow. President Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the national commission. The re-enactment of Fort Sumter and Bull Run will precede those of Maryland.

Recently the re-enactment of the John Brown raid at Harper's Ferry drew nation-wide attention.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend church regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Deuteronomy	4	1-6
Monday	Psalms	103	25-28
Tuesday	Isaiah	2	20-23
Wednesday	Hebrews	1	9-12
Thursday	Hebrews	12	6-7
Friday	Psalms	115	16-18
Saturday	Psalms	1	1-6

We go back to the old homestead, the old home town. Perhaps we have long anticipated that visit, but now we find that the changes are so disillusioning that we don't care whether we ever return. We meet a friend of years gone by and hardly recognize him. He too has changed. We compare the face reflected from our mirror with old photographs and realize that, without knowing it, we have changed. We try to use a map of yester-year only to discover that it is out of date.

We shudder a little as we wonder if there is anything that remains the same.

The Church tells us that there is. Through the centuries it is the one institution which points to the unchanging God, "the same yesterday, today, and forever." Worship customs may differ, but every Christian congregation seeks to lead men to the one great Certainty, which is God. That is why you will want to start attending church regularly. Here is peace. Here is assurance.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Acts 5:17-42.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 37:30-40.

God First

Lesson for November 8, 1959

"WE MUST OBEY God rather than men." So said the Apostles long ago. It is one of the famed quotations from the Bible. Is this just something from "Bible times" or does it mean something today?

"In God We Trust" is a motto everybody has seen on his money. But how many people do trust in God more than in money? They say that the difference between North and South America is that the Europeans who came to settle South America came to find gold, but those who came to North America came to find God. Is this true? And if it is, could you guess it from what North Americans spend their time running after?

Dr. Foreman

What Kind of God?

"Everybody talkin' about heaven ain't goin' there," an old "spiritual" sings. You might add, "Everybody talkin' about God ain't his real friend." With better grammar we might say that there is a lot of talk about God, in magazines and clubs and newspapers and even in the church, that is no more than talk. It does not go deep and it means very little. But even when it does go deep and mean something, does it mean the right thing? We don't want to be pessimistic about this. We don't mean to accuse the whole population of being hypocrites. Nevertheless there is an appalling lot of loose talk (set to music sometimes) about God. "GOD FIRST" is a noble motto. A God who is not first is no God. But "God first" is noble only if it means the right kind of God or in other words the true God, for the true God is the only right kind of God there is.

Therefore all wrong kinds of God are actually no gods at all, only make-believe images carved out in the minds of mistaken people. For instance if people sing about "the Man upstairs" they may think they are singing about God, but they are not God or at a man, not even an enormous, style-ulling man.

Rival Gods

It is not far wrong to say that whatever a person with all his heart puts first, he makes God for him. Religious people sing, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." But if we may judge people's true opinions by their actions we may have to conclude that some people, if they were absolutely frank about it, would prefer another doxology. They would have a revised version. It would be "Praise Wealth from which all blessings flow." Not only wealth, but public opinion, security, power, success (measured by height of tailfins and horsepower in the motor) may likewise be as God to those who expect all blessing from such things. Now a doll is perfectly harmless, indeed it may be a pretty toy, so long as it is only a doll. But if some one gets hold of a doll and sets it up as a god and prays to it, that is idolatry and it is bad. So wealth and success and security are good things; it is when they are set up as rivals to the true God that they become symbols of sin.

Loyalty Oath

We hear a good deal about loyalty oaths. The fact is, every one who is a professed Christian has made a public vow of loyalty to God, when he has taken his stand as a member of the church of God. Now, what? If that is the end of it, if he is seldom if ever seen in the church again, if he can never be counted on to share in any good work, if he cannot spare even a tenth of his income for the Kingdom of God, then what did his loyalty oath amount to? This is Temperance Sunday, and the essence of temperance, of the Christian sort, is living with consideration for others, not selfishly for your own comforts. A church "member" who habitually spends on luxuries (whether liquor or whatever) for himself, what he might be sharing for the help of the needy (in mind, body and spirit) through all the world, is a member in name only. If we really mean "God First," we mean we intend to obey God first. To live for oneself alone shows that God is, after all, a stranger.

REVIVAL

A Revival will begin at the Eagle Rock Church of God of Prophecy, November 8 through 22. Rev. Norman Taylor, of Salisbury, Md. will be the evangelist. Services each night beginning at 7:30. Everybody welcome.

On a charge of failing to obey a writter summons to appear he pleaded not guilty but was found guilty and fined $25 on this offense.

Hazel Idella Gatto, Gormania, failing to grant right of way, $10.

Research Center Planned by State

The Department of Research and Education is requesting $63,549 in next year's budget to set up a center in Western Maryland.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, department director, told the Board of Natural Resources Monday that the research agency would work toward improving timber quality and fish and game conditions in this section of the state.

It also would carry on an educational program in high schools and colleges and before the public in the area to better acquaint Western Marylanders with uses of their natural resources, he said. He said the center would operate in close cooperation with the Departments of Forests and Parks, Game and Inland Fish, Geology, Mines and Water Resources, and the Water Pollution Control commission.

Cronin said the Western Maryland center would serve Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties. He said no location had been picked for it, but it would probably be established on state land at some convenient location for the four counties. He is proposing a staff of three biologists, a conservation education specialist and a field assistant for the center in addition, to secretarial help.

He said the center's program would supplement and strengthen work of state conservation departments now in the area. Pointing out that Western Maryland is heavily forested, he said these forests are producing wood which is much lower in quality and quantity than their capabilities. Joseph F. Kaylor, director of Forests and Parks, said he didn't think the work would be a duplicate of his department. Cronin said the hunting and fishing industry now estimated as a 3 million dollar annual business, also could be made better through research and promotion in the area.

Navy Aids Typhoon Victims

By Bob Lambert, J02, USN

(This is a personal account of Navy aid to victims of the biggest flood in Japan in 20 years, written by Bob Lambert while on duty with the public information office of commander of naval forces in Japan. Lambert was sent to Nagoya to report on these events. Lambert's mother is Mrs. Madelyn Savedge Kemp, of Deer Park.)

NAGOYA, Japan, (CNFJ) Oct 5—Most men put in an eight-hour working day, occasionally with a little overtime. But when disaster strikes it's a different story.

I accompanied a 20-man medical team from the anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS KEARSARGE which left the ship at 6:00 in the morning on a mission of mercy to aid typhoon victims. The last of our team returned to the ship twenty-six hours later.

KEARSARGE arrived in Nagoya Sept. 30, four days after Typhoon Vera smashed her way through this Japanese city with a population of more than one million.

Immediately, the 41,000-ton carrier began operations. Among the first to go were medical teams. I joined KEARSARGE's first medical team, which consisted of one doctor, five U. S. hospital corpsmen, three communications men, and eleven Marines.

We embarked aboard a Japanese Maritime Self-Defense Force landing ship tank at 6:00 a. m. Under the command of Lieutenant (junior grade) Chujyo Kodo, of the Japanese Maritime Self-Defense Force, our landing boat rendezvoused with two JMSDF minesweepers and I learned that most of the damaged areas, with flooding up to two meters, were around the Kiso and Ibi Rivers, near the villages of Kuwana and Ana.

As we neared the channel, however, our craft went aground. Just then a small Japanese fishing boat happened to pass by. And, after hailing the grey, unpainted craft and explaining our situation, the fisherman offered to take part of our team up the river to the isolated areas.

We couldn't put our 20-man team into the 3-man boat but we did squeeze nine aboard. Captain John E. Donnan, USMC, of Detroit, Mich., commanding officer of KEARSARGE's Marine Detachment; Lt. (j. g.) Richard T. Takahashi, USN, of Honolulu, Hawaii, acting as interpreter for the group; Lt. Ronald P. Grunwald, Medical Corps, USN, of Queens, New York City, assistant medical officer aboard KEARSARGE, five corpsmen, and one communications man got into the small fishing boat, and headed towards the shore.

A short while later, I was able to hitch a ride on another small fishing boat which took me up the Kiso River. There I transferred to another JMSDF L-boat, carrying a group of Japanese newspapermen and TV cameramen.

We encountered body after body, bobbing up along the river's edge, and disembarking once, we viewed a grim scene. The people, on the verge of sickness themselves, were scurrying about trying to obtain enough wood, so that they could burn the bodies of their already-dead neighbors. The number was approaching 500, but this was necessary in order to stop the spread of diseases.

Later, I re-joined the medical team only to find that they were returning to the ship—their day's work finished.

From Dennis E. Archambeault, 21, Hospital Corpsman Third Class, USN, of Long Beach, Calif., I learned what the corpsmen had done during the day.

Manning their first aid station at the first landing, they treated the dozens of people who swarmed into the area. Later they moved farther up the river where the need for medical aid was even more critical.

Before they finished their work for the day, at 3:30 p. m., the doctor and five corpsmen had given inoculations to more than 1,000 people. Shots for typhoid, paratyphoid, typhus, cholera, and penicillin were administered, in addition to performing minor surgery, which consisted of incising abscesses and setting fractures. Several cases of dysentery were also treated.

KEARSARGE's medical team had combined forces with a Japanese medical team made up of three doctors and four nurses who took care of the more serious cases.

In return for their efforts, the Navymen were rewarded with the thanks of the people, typified by a 4-year-old boy who performed a local folk dance, complete with a colorful face mask. Admission for the dance was one candy bar.

Other tokens of gratitude were received—a one yen coin and a pair of chopsticks—the few remnants which the people possessed when the typhoon hit.

At 3:15 a Japanese Ground Self-Defense Force boat picked us up and we started for the KEARSARGE, lying approximately 10-miles out in the harbor of Ise-Wan. However, less than half-way across, they discovered that fuel was running low, and noticing an aground Japanese freighter, we asked permission to come aboard.

Utilizing the signal lights of the 2,700-ton Mikage Maru, owned by Osaka Shosen (Steamship Lines), we asked KEARSARGE for helicopter hlp. Darkness set in though and only two of our party were picked up, leaving eight of us remaining two landing craft to bring us back. But with the tide running out and darkness setting in, both boats ran aground.

Captain of the cargo ship, Kumakichi Kuchi, invited us to spend the night aboard—which we did.

Next morning, KEARSARGE once again sent out helos and this time they were successful.

Crewman of one of the helos, Chief Aviation Electronics Technician, lying approximately 10 San Diego, Calif., pulled myself and the four remaining corpsmen—Robert H. Jensen, Hospital Corpsman First Class, USN of Audubon, N. J.; Arthur L. Stout, Hospital Corpsman Second Class, USN of Salt Lake City, Utah; Saerman L. Gibson Hospital Corpsman Second Class, USN, of Ola, Ark., and Archambeault—all to safety.

At 8:00 a. m., we landed back on KEARSARGE, and an entry was made in the ships log: KEARSARGE's first medical team back aboard—mission accomplished."

To Take Inventory Of Services Available For Aging Citizens

During the next three weeks, members of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs and the American Association of University Women of Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties will be cooperating with the new State Commission on the Aging in taking an inventory of the services now available to aging citizens in Western Maryland.

Institutions, agencies, churches and all other organizations which may have some special services to render to senior citizens will be interviewed by representatives of the two women's organizations and requested to state what services they are rendering and how many are benefiting from their services. A brief questionnaire has been prepared which the interviewers will carry with them to guide them in obtaining the information from the institutions and agencies.

The purpose of the inventory is to ascertain just what services are now being rendered and what is needed to complete the necessary services in each county. The results of the survey will serve as a guide to the Governor's Commission in planning its work for the future. It will also serve as the basis for a Regional Conference planned for Western Maryland next Spring. The information collected will be tabulated and interpreted by Dr. Elinor Pancoast, consultant with the Commission. Dr. Pancoast was formerly head of the Department of Sociology of Goucher College.

Miss Edith Brock, member of American Association of University Women, has been named chairman of the group. On the committee are Mrs. William R. Browning, member of the Civic club of Oakland; Mrs. William Hesen, member of the AAUW and Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland; and Mrs. Fred Thayer III, member of the Junior Woman's Civic club.

Gerald Mousman, Executive Director of the new State Commission, pointed out that every effort is being made to call on all organizations and institutions which might be rendering some service to older citizens, roughly those 65 years and older, but that it is possible that the interviewers will not know of the organization or agency and will, therefore, fail to include it in their list of interviews. Accordingly, Mr. Mousman urged all who are making a contribution in this field to contact the office in their counties, to let them know of their services, or to communicate directly with the State Commission which has its offices in the State Office Building, Baltimore 1.

VOLUME 83. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., NOVEMBER 12, 1959 PER COPY, 8c NUMBER

Thru Highway - - - - - -

Along with many other persons we are very unhappy the turn of events that has apparently eliminated a per- of U. S. route 40 from the Federal interstate highway em that stretch from Hancock to the western edge of rrett county.

At a time when communications should be opening up, this latest activity has a trend of isolation in it. Elimination federal aid however, should not lessen the responsibility state has to administer it's road program wisely. Surely arrett county and Allegany county are entitled to one good meeting east-west highway.

The state builds beltways and tunnels and throughways all over the state. With the federal system breaking off at Hancock and moving over to the Pennsylvania turnpike, there will be a definite slackening of traffic to Deep Creek Lake unless improvements are made to the area, particularly between Cumberland and Hancock.

We are not forgetting that the county is receiving much improvement in the 12-year road program, but we are very much interested in our economy and Deep Creek Lake is a good part of our economy. That is something in which the state also should be interested. The more accessible Garrett county is the more people will be attracted here - and the more valuable the county will be to the state.

Right now we are at a loss as to what to do. But we hope people are aware of what has happened and to make every effort to keep the roads commission aware that we don't like it, and that we would appreciate some new thinking on the matter. A modern connecting road is essential and if improvements are delayed for 20 years—even ten years—it's going to be too late.

The western end of the state cannot be neglected. If it cannot be included in a federal highway system, it certainly should be in the state's immediate program and well up on the list for positive action.

Guard Is Indicted On Murder Count

Grand Jury In Special Session All Day Tuesday

Following a special meeting of the September Term of the Garrett County Grand Jury on Tuesday, an indictment for murder was returned against Ronald W. Guard, of Friendsville. The vote for the indictment took place after the Grand jurors heard testimony of a day's witnesses.

Guard, 24, boy, confined in the county jail since October 25, who is she and killed George Raymond Schriver, Jr., a tavern operator, at Friendsville. Guard confessed the shot was fired while he was trying to break up a fight between Schriver and Raymond Coddington.

The murder charge was placed against the man by Sheriff James L. Prantz. At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Mooney, Friendsville, Guard was charged by R. Jones had entered a plea of no guilty. Jones that same day filed a writ of habeas corpus, in an effort to be released on bond.

The motion was denied Novem- 2 and Wednesday Judge Avery Fraley ordered the grand jury to reconvene and hear the testimony and to determine whether or not an indictment was justified.

Mr. Guard probably will be brought into the court for arraignment early next week and Judge Fraley will probably then set a date for the trial. Guard has the right of trial by jury or by the court. He elects to be tried by jury, Judge Fraley will order recall on his panel. Judge Fraley said that as yet he had not determined the date. He had remarked earlier that he felt that Guard was entitled to trial without waiting for the regular March Term grand jury to convene which would have been nine-five months here.

Before adjourning, the special session of the grand jury also returned two indictments against Melvin Gene Custer, Lonaconing.

One indictment is for larceny of a pick-up truck owned by Harvey Bender and the second indictment for burglary of the Deep Creek Lake dwelling of Jesse Miller, Jr., and taking from the residence a quantity of furniture valued at some $25.00.

Miller arrived at his cabin on the night of October 25 and found a car in front of his place, completely loaded with furniture and ready to depart. Two persons fled into the wood. State Attorney William Shaver and Custer apparently had walked some distance through the woods before donning Bender's truck.

Sheriff James Prantz said that the following day the Lake State police barracks were notified by Mr. Custer that his automobile had been stolen. When he went to establish proof of ownership police arrested the man and he has been in the Oakland jail since that time.

To Give Aptitude Tests at Schools

The Department in Employment Security will administer the general aptitude test battery to seniors of both Northern and Southern High schools next week, it was announced by C. L. Briner, manager. Mr. Mary Browning and Mr. Briner are scheduled to start at Northern High school on Monday and expect to finish there Tuesday. The tests will begin at Southern on Wednesday.

Students chosen for testing are those from graduating seniors who intend to enter the labor market and are not exceptionally, set Briner explained that these occupational tests were standardized objective measures which measure potential ability to learn a job. The general aptitude test battery used with other information about an applicant, is helpful in pointing out the applicant's potentialities for success in a wide range of occupational fields, Briner said.

He said several local business establishments had found the tests helpful in selecting employees. The Employment office personnel have been administering a battery of tests for sewing machine operator trainees for the Flushing Shirt Manufacturing company in Grantsville. Applicants who scored high in the test reached 96 percent of standard production figures within three weeks, it was stated.

Restrictions Lifted In Use of City Water

With an okay by State health officials to turn in the new well, the Water committee of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland lifted restrictions on the use of city water yesterday.

Henry McComas, chairman of the Water committee, said the well at present was furnishing 200 gallons per minute and was being pumped directly into the water mains.

McComas said it would be possible now to use water for washing as automobiles and other activities. People could even sprinkle lawns now, he said, but intimated it would be rather foolish.

He added that the danger of shortage was not completely over, as the other wells in use and the springs were not furnishing too much of the load at the present time. But if production remains constant in the new well it would furnish 288,000 gallons per day alone, working on a 24-hour basis.

McComas said it probably would be possible also to furnish sterling Processing Co. with a limited amount of water for their additional needs.

Mt. Lake Approves New City Charter

The Mayor and Town Council of Mt. Lake Park officially approved a new town charter at a regular meeting on Tuesday night in the council chamber.

Voting unanimously for its passage were Mayor C. C. Mason, and councilmen E. Schell, Raymond Welch, Alfred Calhoun and Orval Kitzmiller.

Fred A. Thayer, city attorney, explained that the old charter had been sketchy and left in doubt a number of items. The new charter provides for a definite budget and specific taxation and allows special assessments.

It indicates definitely the duties of the Mayor and the members of council. There had been some confusion in recent weeks on the duties of the town officials, as the result of which Stanley Wood resigned as one of the councilmen.

Students elected for testing are those from graduating seniors who intend to enter the labor market and are not exceptionally, set Briner explained that these occupational tests were standardized objective measures which measure potential ability to learn a job. Protest Over Road Trade Is Lodged With Commissioners

A protest meeting developed yesterday in the court room in Oakland over a decision made recently by the County Commissioners with the State Roads commission over a trade of highways which the former felt was advantageous to the county's overall program.

Some seventy-five people from the Friendsville and Accident sections met with the Commissioners and county legislators and brought with them a petition opposing the move.

The "trade" was explained by Senator Bernard J. Conner, Delegate Leslie Savage and County Commissioner Fred R. Glotfelty last evening which included the following information.

The narrow-gauge highway program of the State Roads Commission was behind schedule and it was estimated it would take another year to complete the first four years of the plan. In the second four-year plan was the improvement of route 42 west, from Friendsville to Markleysburg. In the third four-year plan was completion of route 42 east, from Friendsville to the route 219 intersection at Bear Creek. It was estimated it would be at least eight or ten years before the state would get to this latter improvement or before any work would be done on this highway.

The county arranged with the State Roads commission to trade route 33, from Selbold's Turn near McHenry, to Friendsville, for this route 42 east. Route 36 is now controlled by the county. Route 42 is controlled by the state.

In this way Mr Glotfelty pointed out that it would be possible for

Firemen Answer Alarm

Oakland firemen answered a fire alarm to the summer cabin of Edward K. Kemp, of Dravesburg, Pa., located north of the Deep Creek Lake bridge on route 219, Saturday morning about 11:20.

It was termed a false fire and was said to have been caused by a lack of a flue liner. There was no damage to the building or its content.

Firemen made the 12-mile run in fifteen minutes.

The firemen were called again last evening about 6 o'clock as the result of a flue fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Browning, Oak street, formerly the A. G. Ross property. There was no damage.

11 School Buses Now Eliminate Rail Crossings

Eleven of the fifteen school buses which crossed the B&O tracks at one point or another at the beginning of the school year have now been rerouted so as to make the crossing of the B&O tracks at any point unnecessary it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, County Superintendent of Schools. This change was made possible largely by the completion of an overhead bridge at Weber's Crossing. Five buses that crossed at this dangerous point now use the overhead bridge at present open only to school busses, three buses have been rerouted from the Loch Lynn Crossing to Route 219 and the overhead bridge, 2 buses that crossed the B&O tracks on Second Street have been rerouted around the block to make this crossing unnecessary, and the original Campbell bus route no longer crosses the tracks at Loch Lynn.

The parents of children on all buses crossing the tracks at Loch Lynn were given the choice of rerouting to Route 219, which involves a ten minute extra drive morning and evening or to continue to cross the tracks at Loch Lynn as usual. Of the six buses involved the majority of parents of children on three of them voted to reroute to 219, while the majority of the parents of the other three voted to continue to cross the B&O tracks.

The only school buses now crossing dangerous railroad tracks in the county are the three at Loch Lynn, one at Deer Park, and one over the Western Maryland for children going to Elk Garden from Kitzmiller. Mr Hawkins said the school board feels that these changes have greatly reduced the hazards of railroad crossings that formerly existed

Fire Chief Suggests Check Of Heating Appliances

Now is the time to make sure heating appliances are in good condition for use in cold weather, fire chief Harold L. Schell, Oakland, reminded householders here today.

"Ordinary precautions and common sense will prevent almost all home accidents involving heating appliances", Chief Schell said. He suggested that furnaces, water heaters, incinerators and room heaters be checked for adequate ventilation, proper adjustment and safe connections.

For any heating appliance to operate safely and at full capacity, it must have ventilation, Chief Schell explained. Burning any fuel without a good fresh air supply can produce carbon monoxide. Vents carry away the products of combustion and should be inspected regularly, he pointed out.

"Truth Is Always Stranger Than Fiction"

— Author's Name Below) —

Stories have been written about magic potions that could cure disease. But no fiction is as true as the present fact that five or ten dollars' worth of antibiotic capsules can now, almost overnight, cure a pneumonia.

The truth is almost unbelievable. Vitamins and Hormones are the fabled "Elixir of Life." They help add years to your living. The greatest miracle of all is that despite the tremendous research expense needed to discover and perfect new medicines, more than half the prescriptions we compound still cost less than $3, which is about the average charge for all prescriptions.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

No Fast Rule for Blood Pressure

- Normal Youngsters
- Gout
- Penicillin Sensitivity

Q. Is "100 plus your age" a good way to tell what your blood pressure should be?

A. No. There is no set rule about what the blood pressure "should" be. What is satisfactory for one person may not be suitable for another, just as some automobiles run better with high octane gasoline; others do best with low octane fuel. People, like cars, are not all alike. Some folks in later life may have a pressure of upwards of 200, yet for them, all things considered, it is a level at which the body functions satisfactorily. Others of the same age may have a pressure of 120 or 130 and for these individuals it is just right. Blood pressure does tend to rise as we get older. However, other things have a bearing on blood pressure. Emotions, tensions, diseases of the kidneys or arteries, and diet — all influence blood pressure. If it is clearly too high, doctors have ways of bringing it down. If it is too low the doctor will do things to bring it up a bit.

Q. What should be done for an 11-month-old baby girl who is a little bowlegged and falls so much? She puts everything in her mouth. Does she lack something in her system?—M.

A. On the face of it, the description would fit any 11-month-old. The year-old is characteristically bowlegged, falls easily and often, and is prone to put anything and everything in the mouth. The legs straighten after awhile, the toddling gait becomes a sure walk, and the hand-to-mouth stage is passed. Even though a baby is seemingly healthy, a physical checkup now and then is always advisable if for no other reason than to put your own mind at ease.

Q. Is gout a form of arthritis?

A. Yes, although the condition differs greatly from the more common rheumatoid arthritis. Chronic gouty arthritis is due to excess uric acid in the blood. Treatment is directed toward reducing the excess uric acid through regulation of the diet and by use of drugs. Through medical treatment it is now possible to prevent development of chronic gouty arthritis in persons who are prone to develop the disease and to greatly help sufferers who have an established case of gout.

Does polio vaccine contain penicillin? My youngster is sensitive to the antibiotic. Should I mention this to the doctor?

A. Tell him, by all means. A California doctor says that there is enough penicillin in most polio vaccines to cause reactions in exceptional patients who are highly sensitive to penicillin. Your doctor will have suggestions as to how the problem can be solved.

Dispensing prescribed medicine is what we do best . . . do promptly . . . and do at reasonable cost. Trust your health to your doctor—trust his prescriptions to us.

Southern Highlanders closed its season strongly last Friday afternoon on the local field by downing the Petersburg High Vikings 25 to 7. It was their first season under Coach Earl Adolfson which ended with a 5-4 record.

Southern lost its first three games of the season to Moorefield, West Virginia School for the Deaf and Beall High of Frostburg, but came back strong to win its next three games against St. Francis of Morgantown, Northern High Huskies and Kingwood. It dropped its next game to Keyser but came back strong again to down Terra Alta and defeat Petersburg.

It was the fifth game of the series between Petersburg and Southern and Southern's first victory. Petersburg had won three times and one game was tied.

Last Friday's game also was the first victory of the season in a Potomac Valley conference game.

Forward passes accounted for three of the touchdowns credited to the Highlanders. Petersburg registered its only TD on a 15-yard pass from Boor to Nelson in the final period with Boor kicking the extra point.

Bill Duling registered the Highlanders first score on a 15-yard end run in the opening period.

In the third period Dick Stuck passed 40 yards to John Prince for the second score and later in the same period Terry Colaw grabbed Stuck's aerial for a 45-yard touchdown play.

A Stuck to Prince play was good for 40 yards and Oakland's final score early in the fourth quarter. Ron Colaw ran the extra point.

Southern had an advantage of fifteen first downs compared to six for Petersburg and outrushed the Vikings throughout the contest.

Playing for Southern were Prince, Bergner, Propst, Cerne, Terrant, Bolyard and Haines on the line with Stuck, Duling, T. Colaw and R. Colaw in the backfield. Substituting for Southern were Butler, Beckman and DiSimone.

Play By Play

Petersburg went 11 yards on its first play but failed to gain on its next series and punted. Southern reeled off 12 yards in three plays. They drove 14 and 18 yards for consecutive first downs. Duling went 15 yards to score. Shortly after kickoff Petersburg again surrendered ball to Southern. A run of 11 yards by Terry Colaw and a pass from Stuck to Colaw put the ball on the Petersburg 23. After two ground plays Stuck passed to Prince for the score. R. Colaw plunged the extra point.

Neither team scored in the second quarter. Southern gained 50 and Petersburg 40. Each team fumbled twice and each had a pass interception.

Opening the second half Stuck ran back the kickoff 17 yards. Stuck passed to T. Colaw who ran 45 yards to score. Late in the third quarter Southern intercepted a pass. Three plays later Stuck hit Prince with a 40-yard pass and the TD.

In the final quarter Petersburg took to the air completing passes of 15, 9, 35 and 15 yards. The last was good for Petersburg's only TD.

Other Items Approved

Among other business transacted the Board:

Approved adding a small library unit to Kitzmiller school, since the school, with enrollment of 275 was only school of this size without adequate library facilities. The work is to be done by the maintenance department and would be completed by the time school opens next September.

Approved completion to excavate portion on ground floor of route 40 school, a space adequate to provide two classrooms. For the present, additional windows, concrete floor and an inside stairway would be added, work to be done by county maintenance staff.

Approved placing of additional spouting around all-purpose room at route 40 school.

Approved final payment of bill submitted by Lawrence Hardesty, contractor for Loch Lynn addition. Total cost of addition was $43,130.65.

Approved sale of old furniture in abandoned Corunna school to a church group.

Mr. Hawkins told the board members that the school budget for the year 1960 was being prepared. He said no additional requests were contemplated over those made last year other than those necessitated by emergencies such as the gym floor and the need for a more competitive teacher salary scale.

He announced the date of the second annual lay conference on education for Monday, December 7, at Dennett road school.

The board members visited a number of schools following adjournment.

the county to begin improvements next year on route 42 east, putting a four-foot shoulder, eliminating a number of curves, and in this way improve the route for school buses and other traffic heading east. Matching funds from the Federal government would be available on this project, it was understood.

There is very little difference in the distance of the two roads involved. The route 53 stretch is 7.35 miles. The 42-east stretch is 7.2 miles. Mr. Glotfelty said maintenance on 42-east particularly in winter, would be much less, and all in all, the Commissioners considered the move favorable to the economy of the county.

The 75 or more petitioners disagreed. Attending the session were Senator Gonder, Delegates Savage and Elza Bray, Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor; and County Commissioners, Carl Schell, Elra Garletts and Glotfelty, and Clifford Friend, former state senator.

There was no decision. The Commissioners and the Roads Commission already have agreed to the trade and the majority of legislators also seemed to favor the move. Glotfelty felt that after the switch had been explained that a number of the petitioners were also satisfied.

Mr. Gonder also stated that when the Roads Commission was in Oakland recently that there was a discussion of U. S. Route 219, from the Bear Creek intersection to Keyser Ridge and that John B. Funk, chairman of the SRC agreed that something should be done about this road right away. He said a survey would be started immediately and improvements made as soon as possible, giving an improved road to Northern High school from two directions.

Roads Commission to Dispose of Excess Parcels Real Estate

The State Roads commission has decided to dispose of real estate its owns in excess of its needs.

John B. Funk, Chairman of the SRC said that during the course of acquiring real estate for development of the state highway system, it frequently became necessary to purchase property in excess of that actually needed.

Under the new policy the real estate bureau of the Right of Way division will maintain the inventory of all real estate considered excess. A listing of the properties would be furnished to the Maryland State Planning commission and local political sub-divisions throughout the state. If no interest in the property is indicated by a state agency or political sub-division within 90 days, properties will be available for sale through real estate boards.

The commission now owns about 1,500 such parcels.

To Receive Award For Achievement In Steel Industry

Charles M. White Will Get A.I.M.E.'s Award On Thursday

Another outstanding honor has come to Charles M White Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Republic Steel Corp. with the announcement by the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineers that he has been named for its Benjamin F. Fairless Award.

To be presented to Mr. White at the Annual Meeting of AIME in New York City, February 14-18, 1960, the Award is in recognition of the fact that "his ability, energy and determination in starting the top-pressure blast furnace and foresight in providing it with prepared burdens have created the world's dominant metal producer."

The Benjamin F. Fairless Award was established in 1954 through a fund provided by the U. S. Steel Corp. It recognizes distinguished achievement in iron and steel production and ferrous metallurgy. It is designed to honor Mr. Fairless for his intense interest in the technology and development of the iron and steel industry.

Born in Oakland, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. White, Mr. White was graduated from the University of Maryland as a mechanical engineer. In 1913, he began his career in steel as a machinist helper with the American Bridge Company at Ambridge, Pennsylvania. Joining Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. as a millwright helper in a sintering plant he became plant superintendent in two years. Extensive experience in blast furnace operation developed with his work as master mechanic in charge of construction, maintenance and power. He served, also, as general superintendent of an interplant railway.

In 1927, Mr. White was appointed Assistant General Superintendent of the J & L Aliquippa Works. Two years later he was made General Superintendent. In 1930, Mr. White joined the newly organized Republic Steel Corp. as Assistant Vice President, Operations. He became operating Vice President in 1935.

In World War II, Mr. White directed the extensive military production of Republic and supervised the large increase of facilities added by Republic in that period.

Mr. White became President of Republic in 1945 and Chairman in 1956. He is Chairman, President or Director of seventeen enterprises in which Republic has an interest. He has been President of Reserve Mining Company, and alternates as its Chairman. This Company is owned, half and half, by Republic and Armo Steel Corp.

Mr. White is active in many civic programs in Cleveland, headquarters city of Republic Steel Corp. He is also a Director of The Cleveland Trust Co. and The Sherwin-Williams Co. He is a member of the Executive Committee and is a Director of the American Iron and Steel Institute. He has been a member of AIME since 1939.

Mr. White is a brother to Mrs. Virginia Hart, of Liberty Street, Oakland, and Miss Rebecca White, of Pittsburgh.

GOP Organizes For 6th District Race

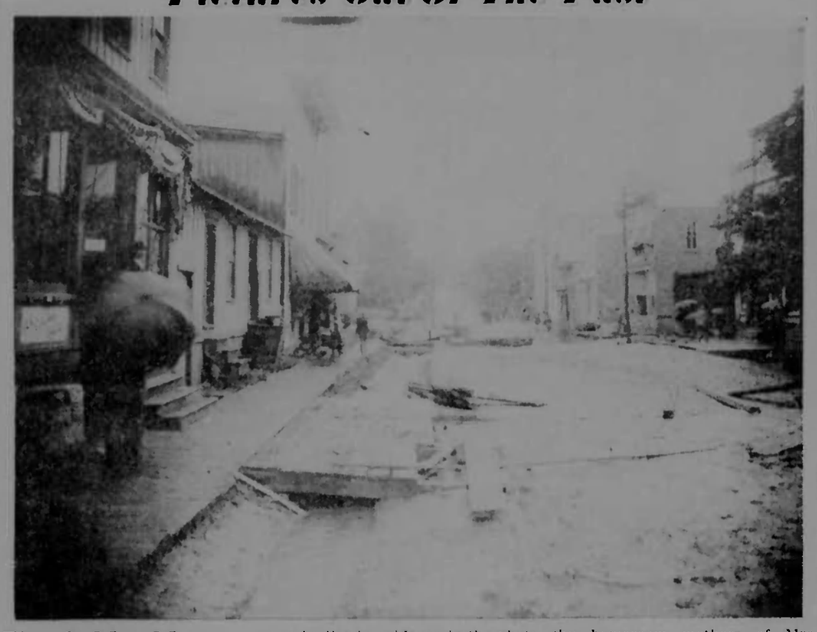
A group of Western Maryland Republicans organized for the coming Sixth Congressional district race next year, at a meeting in Hagerstown on Tuesday. Twenty-four party leaders attended the session representing the five counties in the district. Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties. Attending from this county were William D. Casteel, Oakland, and Harry P. Cother, Accident, members of the Republican State Central committee; Allen S. Paugh, Deer Park; and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, Oakland.

The group released a list of seven men who had expressed an interest in the party's nomination. They include J. Glenn Beall, Jr., of Frostburg, James A. Buchanan IV, of Rockville, a building contractor who has already filed; John Derr, former mayor of Frederick and candidate for state comptroller last year; Gilbert Haun, Montgomery county; J. Paul Marshall, Montgomery county, former member House of Delegates; Charles McC Mathias, Frederick county, member House of Delegates; and D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central committee.

It was emphasized that the committee was not endorsing any particular candidate and that its only purpose was to encourage capable Republicans to "make themselves available for the candidacy."

Present Congressman is John R. Foley, a Montgomery county Democrat.

Pictures Out Of The Past



Floods Not New In City's History

Most people who live off the mountain top find it hard to believe that Oakland has been plagued with floods. This picture taken in 1897, shows what was probably the aftermath of one of the first, if not the first.

The scene, looking north on Second street from the middle of the block between Green and Alder, depicts the rubble and debris left after the waters had subsided.

To the left is shown the pharmacy operated by the late Joseph E. Harned, now the Oakland Pharmacy and situated on the opposite side of the street adjoining The Republican building. Several years after this picture was taken, the entire block on the west side of Second street was destroyed by fire.

Judging from the number of umbrellas in evidence in the photo, the rain must still have been coming down. Note the open gutters and boardwalks. Identifiable as standing at that time, on the right hand side, are the building now occupied by the F. A. Smouse store and Hinebaugh's restaurant, the building on the corner of Second and Green razed a few years ago to erect the new H-P Store building, the Oakland Pharmacy building, since remodeled, and the present Republican building. The picture is through the courtesy of Wilbur Davis.

LOCH LYNN

The Loch Lynn Parent-Teacher association met Monday night at the school. Seventy-three were present. The association has seventy-nine paid members. Generous donations were made to the County Clothing fund and the cafeteria of the school.

Refreshments were served by the homeroom mothers of Mrs. Elizabeth McComas' room. They were Mesdames Grace Bolyard, Phyllis Simms, Erma Kemphfer, Bryan Blair, Wilbur Upperman and Arva Baker.

The P-TA will hold a fall social Thursday evening, November 19. The public is invited. There will be a movie for the children. Various baked goods and fancy work will be sold. A food basket will be given away. Cake walks, fish ponds, guess cakes and other attractions will add to the evening's program.

FIRST NIGHT AT REFORM SCHOOL

What do you think of that first night at Reform School?

. . . of the world outside, dark and crisp, and the guys who hang around the drug store!

. . . of kids and cops, laws and judges, courtrooms and cells . . . the morbid adventures of the last lagging month.

And you think of God . . . of days when church bells rang . . . and other kids went to Sunday School . . . and you had to be quiet so you didn't wake your parents!

. . . of times when you might have prayed . . . but you didn't know how . . . and no one around you seemed to care!

. . . of questions you once asked about God . . . but Dad was busy, and Mom hadn't time to explain.

The first night in Reform School — what a tragic place for a boy to be confronted with those vital spiritual issues which wise parents should have faced in their children's infancy.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Bible Material: Acts 6 through 7.
Devotional Reading: I Peter 1 3-9.

Unto Death

Lesson for November 15, 1959

IT HAS OFTEN been dangerous to be a Christian. This should not be a surprise to any one who knows the story of Jesus. He himself said that if a man wanted to be his follower he would have to take up a cross every day. Christians nowadays often wear crosses as jewelry, but what Jesus meant was no trinket.

Dr. Foreman

Indeed, in his time nobody would have dreamed of making an ornament in the shape of a cross. (Did you ever see a necklace or watch-chain with a tiny electric chair attached?) A cross always meant one thing: a horrible death. Not a death by accident, not a suicide, but a death by court order or mob violence, a form of death inflicted only on the worst criminals, enemies of society. You will have to be considered a criminal, Jesus said in effect, you will have to be prepared literally to be executed as a criminal, if you are going to follow in my footsteps.

People Don't Die for Opinions

Most Christians throughout the centuries have not been called on to be actually killed for their faith. Jesus did not mean that only those who die a martyr's death can be considered Christians. Still, in almost every age of Christianity, there have been martyrs. First, in the long list is a man named Stephen, whose story is told in Acts. A brilliant scholar, a convincing debater, he proved to be so good at showing how right Christian faith is, that his enemies decided the only way to stop him was to arrest him. Perhaps they did not mean to kill him; but kill him they did, in what is surely one of the strangest lynchings in history. For the men who stoned Stephen to death were not a mob acting without the knowledge of the court. They were members of the court itself.

Now, some one might ask why Stephen was stubborn. Why couldn't he agree with the majority? On that court he was a minority of One! Why couldn't he at least keep his opinions to himself? If Christianity were a matter of opinions, of course Stephen could have kept his to himself. But people don't die for opinions. They die for convictions. And a conviction does not go down to the uttermost depths of a man's mind and soul unless he is willing to die for it.

Christianity is not a matter of opinions that can easily be changed. It is a matter of people who have convictions which change their whole lives, so that their lives are expressions of their convictions. They will lose life rather than surrender.

Martyrs In Our Time

The roll of those who have died for their Christian faith is a long one. It is not finished, and it has grown much longer in our time. The writer of these lines has worshipped in a "refugee" congregation in Korea, a martyr church. Every member of it is a native of north Korea, who left home to come to south Korea, a strange land to him and not too hospitable either — to begin life again in poverty but in Christian freedom. Not only that, but almost every member of that congregation has lost some relative, murdered by communist orders.

Centuries ago the church had to distinguish between "red" and "white" martyrs. The first kind sealed their testimony in blood. The second kind were not killed but, being always ready to die, suffered for their faith in other ways, perhaps long continued. All honor to martyrs of both kinds. Most of the foreign missionaries, or "fraternal workers" as they are often called, live as white martyrs. Beyond our ordinary comforts of home, away from most of their families, exposed daily to contagion, surrounded by a world so depressing that many missionaries' minds have given way under the strain, overworked and too seldom reinforced, they nevertheless live rejoicing. Every one has heard of the young missionaries who were murdered by those Amazon Indians. Their widows are carrying on their unfinished work today. The wives have not been killed; but who shall say they are not equally martyrs?
